

BLACK CLOUD OF WAR SCARES EVEN ROUMANIA

Carmen Sylva's Little Domain Decides to Protect Itself, and Places Large Order for Munitions of War to Guard Frontiers.

United Press Service

BERLIN, April 12.—Just how strong the "fear of war" hangs like a black cloud over Europe, is shown by the decision of Roumania to arm itself better. The little kingdom over which Carmen Sylva, the noted authoress, reigns with her husband, has just placed a large order for cannon and munitions of war with the Krupp in Essen. Roumania is following the action of Switzerland, which recently voted a large increase for its army for the purpose of guarding its frontiers in the event of war.

PARIS DETECTIVE HUNTS PAIR OF IRISH PLOTTERS

British Columbia Visited by Bourbon Sleuths, Who Are in Search of Two Men Accused of Treason Against Republic's President.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 12.—M. Chauvelin of the Gare du Nord detective agency in Paris, is in the city on the lookout for two men, Arthur Newell and Harold Dove, who are believed to be concerned in a plot to assassinate the president of the French republic. Both men are Irish, and have lived in France for a number of years, and were well known members of an anarchist club in Rouen.

A warrant was issued for their arrest three months ago, following the arrest of seven notorious criminal leaders in Paris, who were eventually discharged, after being arrested on a charge of treason against the president. Newell and Dove were traced as far as Seattle, and there all signs of them were lost. M. Chauvelin spent two weeks in Washington state, and in the belief that they entered Canada, crossed the border in pursuit of the men.

SWORD CRIMPED BY PEN WHEN SCRIBES ARE MAD

General Caneva's Order Against Correspondents Visiting Trenches Results in Curtailment of War News, Then Victory for Them

United Press Service

TRIPOLI, April 12.—The pen has again proved its proverbial ability to put a crimp in the sword. General Caneva, commander of the Italian expedition in Tripoli, issued an order recently forbidding the correspondents to visit the trenches. The correspondents held a meeting, declared a strike, and notified the general that not another line of war news would be sent as long as his order continued in force. Naturally there was very little use of brave generals shedding their blood and doing deeds of valor if the king, the queen, the ministers, wives, sisters, sweethearts and the public generally were not to read glowing descriptions of it in the papers.

As a consequence the strike of the war correspondents lasted just twenty-four hours. Then they gave a banquet to the defeated generals and war was resumed in Tripoli.

PREACHERS VULGARITY MAKES HIM LEAVE CITY

Young Man Offended by Thought of Departing Dominie's Character, Hurts Oval-Shaped Misave at Pillar—Is Locked Up

REDDING, Calif., April 12.—Glen MacWilliams, the evangelist, charged with using vulgar language during revival services last Sunday night, has left Redding, under a sixty-days suspended sentence. MacWilliams pleaded guilty last night, and left town shortly afterward.

At the depot Francis T. McNeil, a young man of this city, threw an egg at the departing preacher. He was arrested and locked up in jail for the night. McNeil demands a trial by a jury of women. The indignation against the young man equals that against MacWilliams.

Circuit Court Decision in Oregon Capital Will Mean Recovery of Large Amount of Money Over Railroad Work Contract

PORTLAND, April 12.—Judge Morrow of the circuit court gave his decision in the case of W. S. Fortner and G. A. Kyle against the Pacific Railway and Navigation company, holding that the plaintiffs are entitled to recover a large amount from the company on contract work. The amount recovered was not definitely determined, but it has been estimated to be in the neighborhood of $25,000. The action was over the refusal of the company to pay certain subcontractors for their work on the new line to Tillamook bay. It required forty-two days to try the case, during which many hundred pages of testimony were taken and more than 100 exhibits introduced. Fortner & Kyle are engineers, who purchased the claims of the subcontractors.

OLD PEOPLES PENSION PLAN OF CALIFORNIAN

Los Angeles Legislator Who Believes Public Owes Aged Humanity Rebate on Some of the Wealth They Have Created for Society

United Press Service
SACRAMENTO, April 12.—Old age pensions for "worthy but helpless and poverty stricken citizens of California over 70 years of age," within many strict limitations, are proposed by Lyman Farwell, assemblyman from the old Seventy-first district in Los Angeles. He has been working for some months past on the bill which he hopes to introduce in the next legislature, to carry out this idea.

Farwell believes that the public owes some of the old people a rebate on the wealth they have created for society during a lifetime of toil. His bill would pension such persons past 70 years of age as had lived in the state continuously for the last twenty-five years, and been good, industrious and honorable citizens, but had lost means of livelihood. For all such he would have the state provide $15 monthly.
