MAYOR TO LOOK OVER PROJECT

SECOND STREET BOULEVARDING IS CALLED TO THE ATTENTION OF CITY COUNCIL—COUNTY COURT CONCURS

G. W. White appeared at the council meeting last night to ask the council's co-operation in facilitating the boulevarding of second street, which is eventually expected to reclaim all the land north of that thoroughfare.

He said that the committee had met yesterday with the county court and gave over the city subscription list, which has nearly reached the necessary amount. As a result the county court promised that within thirty days of the time the committee can show that it is able to and will make the improvement the county will start on the continuation of the work to the county line.

City Attorney Thomas Drake expressed the fear that unless an absolute understanding was reached with some of the property owners affected the improvement might cause some objection to land the city in the circuit court. Mr. White said an endeavor had been made to get options on all the property, and that he was assured of no trouble unless it be from one owner, a Long Beach, Calif., man named Widney, who owns thirteen acres and claims he will be greatly damaged.

The committee wants to fill the canals at Oak and Willis streets, and Mr. White said that pools were bound to stand in the cutoff portion, even in the hottest part of the year. He said that the fill would be made complete or that boxed openings could be left between to permit the inflow and outflow of water. It was decided that Mayor Nicholas, Police Judge A. L. Lovitt and the city council should meet with the committee at 9 o'clock this afternoon and go over the ground affected.

MONEY RAISED FOR COURT COST

It was decided to have the police judge handle the money.

Mayor Nicholas, speaking of the charter suit, said he thought it was purely an individual proposition, as the city of Klamath Falls as a corporation was not mentioned in the bill, and as he was referred to as "acting mayor." Councilman Savidge said he thought it was up to the city to defend it at city expense. City Attorney Thomas Drake did not give an opinion, but he had a copy of the bill, almost as big as a stick of firewood, which would help him to write away some happy hours today. After he gets the document digested he expects to be in a position to say what the city may do.

Suit was filed in the circuit court this morning by J. A. Cook against W. F. Rhodes, Mattie E. Rhodes and A. W. Southard to foreclose a mortgage for $750. John Irwin appears as attorney for the plaintiff.

LYCEUM BEREAU TO INCORPORATE

SUCCESS OF THE VENTURE DURING PAST SEASONS ENCOURAGES THE PROMOTERS TO FURTHER ACTION—OFFICERS ARE PROMINENT

Incorporation of the Klamath Lyceum bureau is contemplated and steps to this end will probably be taken at a meeting of members shortly. The work of getting and giving entertainments in the past has been done without any permanent organization of the stability that incorporation would insure, and the interest shown in the past, especially during the season of 1911-12, is believed to warrant a new deal under the method indicated.

The officers now are: President, Judge Henry L. Benson; vice president, Ronell E. Dunbar; secretary, E. L. Elliott; treasurer, Frank Ira White. The coming meeting, the date for which has not yet been fixed, officers will probably be elected for the coming season and something done toward securing attractions.

Today Secretary Elliott was busy rounding up members, of which it is expected to enroll a total of 100 in a short time. When the membership list is in good shape a meeting will be called.

POLICE CHIEF GETS SALARY

NO OUT IS MADE BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE WAGE ORIGINALLY AGREED UPON—OUT SUGGESTED IS DISAPPROVED

No change has been made by the city council in the salaries of the police chief, who draws $115 per month, and the patrolmen, who get $100 per month each. Some time ago a motion was put in the council to make the chief's pay $100 and the patrolmen's $75 per month, but the matter was referred to a committee, which has as yet never made a report on the proposition. Many people believed that the salaries had been cut, and one policeman believed that his salary had been lowered, complaining about it publicly.

WOMEN ASK FOR ENTIRE CHANGE

nance. He said any valid substantiating ordinance should be enforced.

"The inconsistency of Dr. Leonard is particularly striking," he declared. "For he signed this petition, and at the same time attacks the law in court. Before the city is plunged into other litigation which may result from the action asked here we had better find out whether this document is really in existence and has any force. Why not lay this over and find out whether the Sanderson charter or the commission form of government is the one for acting under, and then enforce it. I am not raising this as a captious objection."

Mrs. Grigby said she understood the council was working under the Sanderson charter, and Mrs. Byrd said she was not aware that there was more than one ordinance under which the council might act, as that was a question she did not know.

"Where is there a bawdy house?" asked Councilman McGowan, which brought up a spell of silence of the sidewalk bus.

"Who'll tell me where there is a bawdy house?" he again asked. Mrs. Grigby said if he would see the Herald of August 30th he would see a statement by one of the councilmen that he had got a permit to move one.

"I got no permit for the reason that the mayor said it was not necessary," Councilman Doty quickly declared. "The council had set apart a place for those people. It was generally known that certain houses were being taken to Oak street. The W. C. T. U. knew it and held an indignation meeting, yet never raised an objection to the council until now. After those people were driven out of there they used my wagon shop as a brothel."

"The committee from the W. C. T. U. has never presented a petition to the county committee, asking them to do away with licensed brothel within three miles of the city, which carries away married women and girls from their homes. I wish you had heard what a man who had been there told me on my wagon as he rode with me, then you'd get up a petition. How about the house back of the water works tank? If that place had walls that could talk and we could hear it, we would hear some tales of horrors that have gone on there.

Agriculture Will be Popular Study

With the opening of the new year Klamath County High School will offer for the first time a complete four-year course in agriculture. Other schools in the state have been giving such work for a longer time, but none have taken it up in the thoroughly complete manner of the local high school.

The course as planned calls for four years of agriculture in addition to the regular required branches, and graduates will be eligible for college or university entrance.

The subjects offered by years are as follows: Freshman Year—Soils, Stock Judging, Garden Practice. Sophomore Year—Agricultural Botany, Dairying, Crops, Orchard Problems. Junior Year—Animal Breeding and Feeding, Irrigation and Drainage, Landscape Gardening. Senior Year—Farm Management, Soil Fertility.

Additional electives will also be given as opportunity offers. Limited space precludes the outlining in detail of the above courses, but the name given indicates of what each treats. All problems will be covered from a practical standpoint, and application to local conditions will be made in every way possible. Where possible actual demonstration will be given.

The course outline was made with the idea that specialization in high school agriculture is not feasible, and while certain subjects of particular local importance may be given emphasis, the aim will be to give a good general understanding of the subject as a whole.

In addition to the high school work proper it is planned, if possible, to offer a winter course for farmers. This will cover the problems of most importance in farming operations, and if given will come at a time when the farmer will be in a position to attend. Institutes or talks will also be given in different communities from time to time.
