

HUSON STANDS FOR ECONOMY

THE FIFTH WARD COUNCILMAN TAKES POSITIVE STAND WHEN MILITARY BAND'S CONCERT PETITION COMES UP

Councilman W. O. Huson of the Fifth ward, is likely to become known as the "watchdog" of the city treasury, if one can judge from the positive stand he took on the city expenditures at last night's meeting of the council.

The matter came up when a petition was presented asking for an appropriation of $100 a month to enable the band to give weekly concerts during the summer. Mr. Huson stated that he would like to see the city do something for the band, but it was not a question as to what they would like to do, but what the city could afford to do.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Huson, "from the amount of bills allowed to-night and the expense that we know that the city will have to meet, that we could dispense with the music. We have voted bonds to take up the outstanding warrants and enable the city to get on a cash basis."

"We cannot issue warrants unless there is money in the treasury to pay the same, and if we are not careful we will get into as bad a shape as we were before the bonds were voted."

"It's very easy to sit around the table here and vote money, but it is like buying groceries on credit, you never know how much the bills are going to amount to until you are forced to pay."

Mr. Huson was supported in his plea for economy by the mayor and Councilmen Doty and Owens.

Councilman Savidge moved that the band be allowed $25 per concert for four months, the concerts not to exceed four in any month. The motion was carried, Huson, Doty and Owens voting against it. The attorney informed the members that an amount greater than $200 could not be voted except by ordinance, so the action of the council was rescinded and the city attorney was ordered to draw up an ordinance covering the appropriation for the band.

RAISE TROUT FOR THE MARKETS

Hosley is here looking up a desirable site. One place, Barclay Springs, near Naylox, he believes is ideal. He is also looking up other good sites for a "fish farm."

For the past year Hosley has been a close student of piscatorial culture, and has given especial attention to the Rainbow and Mountain trout. He will be able to put his experimental work to practical advantage when he commences operations here.

In addition to raising fish for the markets, Hosley has another source of income from the "fish farm." This is supplying trout fry to the government bureau of fisheries, for distribution throughout the West. It is said that he has already promised all the excess fry to United States Fish Commissioner O'Malley, in charge of Western operations.

JACK FERGUSON PREPARING FOR A DAREDEVIL DIVE

NEW YORK, June 3.—In sight of thousands in Central Park, Jack Ferguson, professional diver, risked his life three times to open up a water gate in one of the big reservoirs which supply the city of New York. Billions of gallons of water rush through heavy screens at the bottom of the reservoir into six cement pits. The gate of one has been out of order for two years, and Ferguson took the job of repairing it.

He went down once weighted with 500 pounds of lead. Suddenly there came a heavy tug at the life line, and five gatehouse employes quickly dragged Ferguson to the surface.

"I'm too light," Ferguson panted. "That water dragged on me like a thousand tons. I got down only about twelve feet, and I thought I was done for. There must be a frightful suction at the bottom. Give me some more weight and I'll try it once more."

An additional 100 pounds was piled on in the form of lead weights, and Ferguson was assisted over the side of the pit to the ladder.

Suddenly the ladder began to sway from side to side, and was almost wrenched from the grasp of the two ably bodied men who were trying to steady it. Then came the frantic "pull up" signal on the life rope, and five men bent to the task of dragging Ferguson from the unseen powers which strained at the other end and sought to suck him below. For a few feet the pull was strenuous; then the rope paid in quickly until ready hands seized the diver by his upstretched arms and hauled him forth upon the bank.

"I won't risk it until I get a heavier suit and more lead," said Ferguson. "I'll be back to do that job, though."

SANE FOURTH CAUSES PARSIMONIOUSNESS

NEW YORKERS DO NOT TAKE KINDLY TO DOING OUT THE SHUCKELS FOR THE NOISELESS CELEBRATION

United Press Service.
NEW YORK, June 3.—New York is up against it for funds to provide a dangerless Fourth of July celebration. It was announced today that after the "safe and sane committee" had been soliciting funds for about ten days, it has in hand less than $10,000. Two thousand of this was left over from last year. The $10,000, said the committee in its announcement today, isn't a drop in the bucket, for it takes something like $50,000 to $60,000 for the Big Town to properly celebrate the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

New York, claiming the original patent on the Fourth safely celebrated, feels it is of nation-wide importance that Father Knickerbocker keeps up the good work. In the local committee's plea for funds some interesting figures regarding decreases in the Fourth death roll since safe and sane programs were instituted are given. In 1909, 215 were killed; 5,092 were injured. In 1910, 131 were killed; 2,792 injured. In 1911, 57 were killed and 1,546 were injured. In 1913, 41 were killed and 947 injured. Of the deaths throughout the country last year there were two in Chicago, two in Philadelphia and two in Detroit. New York City had only one fatality and 58 injured. In Philadelphia 127 were injured.

cord with the upbuilding of Klamath county by the permanent good roads method.

Never before in the history of Southern Oregon was so much interest taken by the people in any election. Never before was there so much rejoicing on the night of an election as in Klamath Falls, where pandemonium broke loose as soon as the returns indicating Worden's decisive victory came in.

Men threw their hats in the air, jumped, shouted and yelled as they have not done since boyhood days, and they slapped and hugged total strangers in their glee. The T. S.'s were just as gleeful, too, and they all joined in the parade of a thousand or more, who, headed by the Klamath Falls Military band, marched through the streets, proudly carrying Worden aloft, and cheering vociferously.

The yelling, cheering marchers and the band, playing popular marching airs, were followed by at least fifty automobiles, crowded with cheering Worden adherents. Included in the procession was one of the animals "what goes around" a buttin." Billy was swathed in a placard labelled "White's Goat," and his goatship was given to Worden.

After parading up and down Main street, a halt was made at the court house square, in answer to the clamor "speech," which had grown into a roar. Still on the shoulders of his admirers, Worden addressed the crowd, expressing his happiness that his efforts for the progress of the county were approved by the people, and that by their ballots they had completely vindicated him of the charges lodged against his official career.

"In less than ten days," said Worden in part, "work will be resumed on the new court house, and the plans of the county court for the completion of this structure will be carried out. It is to be completed as soon as possible at a cost of $165,000, as we have stated before."

"The vote you people have given me today is proof positive that you endorse the work the county court is carrying on. Therefore, it will be my utmost pleasure to proceed as I have begun, and help make Klamath Falls and Klamath county the great empire it should be."

Not even after his speech would the joy-mad throng let Worden retire. With even more jealous pride than a "prep" school lauds the athletic prowess of one of its students, did the Worden supporters by the hundreds keep up the celebration. Marching and counter marching was kept up until nearly midnight.

Even after Worden did get home, he was not allowed to go quietly to bed, for between 12 and 1 o'clock fifty or more admirers surrounded his house, and an impromptu serenade was rendered by a special orchestra, composed of some of the city's best known musicians.

SENATOR NORRIS READY FOR HIS FIGHT WITH THE COFFEE TRUST

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska declares that his recent activities against the coffee trust have caused a reduction of 4 cents a pound in the staple. He has just begun to fight, and has in preparation a resolution directing the attorney general to begin action against the "valorization" syndicate.

Herman Sielken, head of the trust, promised the government officials last year, when the department of justice took action to dispose of the coffee on hand as quickly as possible. On that the case was compromised. The "valorization" committee has an agreement with the largest coffee growing state of Brazil by which it markets the output, being most of the coffee of the world.

"The reduction of the price in face of threatened official action, although the present outlook is for a crop shortage, shows the artificial character of the high prices. The department of justice has been bamboozled by the 'valorization' syndicate, which is still victimizing the American people."
