KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1914

SHOULD WRITE A BOOK

IF JUDGE WORDEN must unburden his mind on the long suffering public of all his personal troubles,

The fact is the people of Klamath county are beginning to get tired of the troubles of the county court.

We are of the opinion that Judge Worden would not be permitted to manage the business of the Klamath Development company,

Scattered Shots

PUZZLE—Those fans who "knew" after the score board told of a second Boston victory;

WE ALL have our troubles—even Judge Worden has, according to his wall of woe in the morning paper.

BUT THOSE who do not register have no kick coming if things don't go to suit them.

WITH ANTWERP added to her other ruined cities, and all the territory leading up to it devastated,

TRADE AT HOME with merchants that advertise.

SOME MEN acquire knowledge—others fake it.

AND STILL no governor or militia.

LET IT RAIN—We can't stop it.

THIS MUST BE SOLD Six-room house, on lot 52x110;

If it's worth having, it's worth insuring. See Chilcote.

When baby suffers with eczema or some itching skin trouble, use Doan's Ointment.

"Rabbit" Moranville, Star of the Boston Braves

"Rabbit" Moranville, otherwise Walter Moranville, has not been in big league baseball very long, but he is one of the stars of the game. His work at short in the latter part of last season and during this season has been a revelation to the Boston fans in speed. He is expected to show flashes of speed during the world's series with the Athletics which will startle the enormous crowds that will see the games.

The heating contract for the new building at the University of Oregon was awarded to a Portland firm at a price $200 higher than a contractor from outside the state, in order to favor Oregon material and construction.

Dr. H. E. Morris, secretary of the McMinnville Commercial Club, has assurances that a cannery will be built next year.

For any itching skin trouble, piles, eczema, salt rheum, hives, itch, scald head, herpes, scabies, Doan's Ointment is highly recommended. 50c a box at all stores.

Simply on account of some slight eye trouble. Don't jeopardize their future. Have their eyes examined. If there is anything wrong, properly fitted glasses will remedy the evil before it is too late.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Though Susan and Sally Are not of the ballet, Their new skirts are all short but sweet;

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—I saw an exhibition of imported garments at a big department store this week that had run the gamut from Paris to Havre packed in huge oyster baskets and lashed on the back of a touring car.

Among the suits and afternoon frocks fur is all and everywhere. Fitch slank and our old friend, the beaver, are the favorites.

The most striking feature of the whole collection was the fact that each and every skirt was cut off short to the tops of high shoes.

Next to the shortness of the skirts, the most startling note is the almost total lack of anything tangible in the bodices.

Naturally this is only true of the evening gowns. One of the prettiest of these is of pale pink velvet, with a high girde and a tunic that is long on one hip and short on the other.

The bodies of course consist merely of the velvet girde supplemented by a slight drapery of the gold net and white tulle caught up on each shoulder with a small gold embroidered ornament.

A charming model for a debutante is of palest pink taffeta with a skirt of four corded flounces flaring out quietly like a veritable ermine.

Another striking evening gown of black lace over white satin has a wide piece of the black chantilly caught at each shoulder that falls behind straight to the floor like a train.

Another novel use of black chantilly on a black velvet gown precludes the wearer from any wild postures. The lace is caught up on each side of the girde in front, passed over the shoulders like a cape the width of the lace being the whole length of the arms. It is sewed up into long tight sleeves, through which the arms are slipped, and then the lace keeps on its way around into the circular cape effect, and is caught in the middle of the girde below.

On the gowns and waistlines are perfectly long and either tight fitting or showing the loose straight line. The separate waists and blouses to the coat suits all show the high waist line. In the whole collection there isn't a frock or a suit that doesn't have some glint of a gold ornament, a shimmer of sequins, a gleam of jet or the shine of a button or bead.
