We Hold, Head of Water Users Say Allies Defends Congressman

United Press Service
PARIS, Nov. 2.—The Germans desperately assaulted along the Ypres last night, but were repulsed heavily, according to headquarters. The German offensive thus far has failed, as far as capturing strategic positions is concerned.
The allies have extended their lines through Neuport and Ostend to Middelkerk. The cutting of dykes is materially hampering the Germans.

TWENTY-ONE ARE INDICTED TODAY

NEW HAVEN PROBE BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY RESULTS IN ACCUSATIONS AGAINST PROMINENT FINANCIERS

United Press Service
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The federal grand jury today returned twenty-one indictments against the directors of the New Haven road. The list includes some of the nation's best known financiers. They are charged with having violated the Sherman law by "combining and conspiring together with numerous other persons to monopolize commerce, consisting of transportation business."
The indicted are William Rockefeller, George Macculloch Miller, Charles F. Brooker, William Skinner, D. Newton Barney, Robert Taft, James E. Egan, James Hemingway, Lewis Cass Ledyard, Charles Pratt, Heaton Robertson, Fred Brewster, Henry McHart, Edward D. Robbins, Alex Cochrane, John Billiard, George F. Baker, Thos. DeWitt Cuyler, Theo. N. Vail, Edward Milligan, Francis T. Maxwell.

Klamath Falls, November 1, 1914. The Evening Herald:

An article in the Klamath Falls Northwestern of this morning signed by a fellow by the name of "Sam," contains so many misrepresentations that a reply seems appropriate.
Sam says "a vote for Sinnott is a vote against national prohibition."
Mr. Sinnott is a total abstainer from the use of intoxicants of all sorts, and has announced his determination to follow the wishes of the majority of the voters of his district, relative to prohibition measures, which, to my mind, is a fair attitude.
Sam says Mr. Sinnott voted against the federal reserve act, which statement is absolutely false, I being personally present when Mr. Sinnott cast his vote in favor of the federal reserve act at its final passage by the house.

Sam asks about a score of insinuating questions inferring that Mr. Sinnott opposed all the administration measures before the last congress. The fact is that Mr. Sinnott voted favorably upon every administration measure that had the appearance of benefiting the West, but did oppose certain provisions devoted to boosting middlemen and belittling those who in good faith urged the co-operation of farmers.
Sam's various claims remind me of the boy who explained his relationship to his playmate by saying: "Both my father and my mother had another brother nor sister, but my playmate is my cousin." The explanation of the relationship between the boy and his playmate is due to the fact that the boy lied.

afternoon of the last named two days the ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton, donated by the management, will be peopled with fascinating and charming manikins all dolled up in the latest creations of all the smartest and most exclusive—to say nothing of the most expensive—milliners, dressmakers and tailors in New York. They will undulate slowly in that form of locomotion peculiar to the genus manikin before the admiring gaze of the smart set, the stage favorites, the general public and those of the hot pool who have had the $3 price of a ticket of admission. They will promenade to the sweet and strident strains of the smartest and best orchestras in town. Other advertisements in the way of entertainments are promised, but the manikins in all their glory and the American made sartorial creations are the big show.
The fete will be copied after the famous Paris openings and the models selected for exhibition will be chosen by a jury of the patronesses. No exhibitor will be allowed more than two models in each class of garments which are divided into five classes. These include tailored suits and gowns, hats, furs and blouses, top coats, afternoon toilettes, hats and furs, evening gowns and wraps and negligees.
This is the first time in America that anything of the sort on such an elaborate scale has been attempted. Of course, the several department stores have had their season fashion shows, where manikins walked and money talked but these were to display the "dernier cri" of the couturiers and modistes of that dear (meaning anything but cheap) Paris while this coming event in the fashionable world will bear the stamp of American approval, the seal of the United States and the labels of New York firms only.
Best of all, the proceeds are to go to the committee of mercy, which is organized for the relief of all those poor women and little children of every nation left destitute by the European war—not only of fashion but of everything else that makes life worth living or even possible. It isn't often that the foibles and frailties of fashion result in such ultimate good. With the two laudable and humane intentions of benefiting the destitute of war and encouraging our own tradespeople, the fate of the fashion fete should be assured.

FORDS MAKE RUN TO "ICE CAVES"

LOCAL CARS ARE FIRST TO MAKE THE TRIP INTO THAT PORTION OF THE LAVA BEDS—TEACHERS VISIT REGION

A new local record was established by a Ford touring car Saturday, when Pat Sanderson drove his car through the Lava Beds to the Ice Caves, a feat never heretofore accomplished by any car. Right behind Sanderson was Ernel Stearns, in another Ford, and he also made the difficult trip in first class shape.

Sanderson and Stearns conveyed a party of local school teachers to the Lava Beds Saturday, there being in the party Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Hawley, Miss Milam, Miss Pearl Talley, Miss Clara Elmer, Miss Blackford, Miss Ethel Gross, Miss Paxson, D. C. Morris and Earl Chandler. They were joined by a car containing Misses Evelyn, Bessie and Elsie Applegate and Elmer and Fred Applegate.

All day Saturday and part of Sunday was spent in exploring the wonderful volcanic country. Another record established was a women's hiking record, claimed for Miss Gross, Miss Talley and Miss Paxson. Accompanied by Mr. Morris, they traversed the rugged, jagged, cragged country from the Ice Caves to the Lava Crater, the Battle Ground, the Stronghold, Canby's Cross and Pheonoy's ranch, a distance of over twenty miles over the roughest country imaginable.

THE TRUTH ABOUT SALEM

SALEM, Oregon, October 29, 1914
Mr. L. J. Fulton, Klamath Falls, Oregon:
Dear Sir—Replying to yours of the 27th, I would say that the statement that Prohibition has been injurious to Salem is absolutely incorrect. Apart from the general depression in business which prevails all over the country, business in Salem is better than ever. As a matter of fact, bank deposits at this time amount to more than $100,000.00 more than at the same time last year.
The city is infinitely better off without saloons, and there are many who voted to retain them who would not now vote to bring them back.
Yours very truly,
B. L. STEVENS, Mayor.

MOVING PICTURES

"The Crime of the Camorra," the four-reel feature shown at the Orpheus last night, proved to be all that was claimed for it. The story deals with the plotting of the famous Camorra and the subsequent bank robbery. This is an Italian production, and some magnificent scenery in Sunny Italy is shown. In addition a split-reel comedy, "Speedy, the Messenger Boy," and "The Mysterious Matchbox," is shown. The latter subject demonstrates to what a high degree of perfection motion pictures have been developed, and is of unusual interest. This program will be repeated this evening.

Today's Star program consists of a mixture of comedy and drama. The headline attraction, "The Marriage of Cupid," in two parts, aside from the clever piece, is noted for its scenic beauty and excellent photography. A Lubin comedy and a Kalem single-reeler make up the program, which will be exhibited tonight only.
A mid-week feature is announced for Tuesday and Wednesday. Nearly everyone has witnessed the comedy play, "My Friend From India," and now it comes to the Star in pictures, with the original star in the leading role. "My Friend From India" is in three parts, in addition a two-part comedy, "The Songs of Solomon," will be exhibited. This story is woven around the famous writer of popular songs, Irving Berlin.

Another Fort Goes to Hindus and Japs

United Press Service
TOKIO, Oct. 31.—The Jap-British Indian troops report capture of another outlying fort near Taing Tau. They are now assaulting the entire position.
The Japanese fleet is inshore bombarding, and the land forces are fiercely trying to take the city. Advances say part of Taing Tau is already burned.

To Go Over Project.
F. F. Hinshaw, district engineer of the United States Geological Survey, will be in this evening from investigations over the Modoc Point project. He will be taken over the local project by Hydrographer Leland Mosier.
