A MESSAGE TO THE WOMEN OF KLAMATH FALLS AND VICINITY

This is a season when everyone is interested in every-day wearing apparel. Men and women alike are looking for something new to take the place of winter garments to be discarded.

Men's troubles are few, compared with women's, for men can go to almost any store and buy an every-day suit, all ready to wear, at almost any price they wish to pay. Usually women are compelled to visit the different stores, select the material they think most appropriate, then find trimming most suitable for this material, and last, but not least, the hardest task of all, make the garments themselves, or hire them made.

The buyers for the Golden Rule Associated Stores had this condition of affairs in mind last January, and made ample provisions to place the women on an equal buying basis with men.

While canvassing the New York market a manufacturer was located who specializes on what he calls "morning dresses." Dresses suitable for every-day wear, yet neat enough to wear on many occasions. A quantity price secured for our part more than ONE HUNDRED dresses made of Amoskeag Gingham, handsomely finished with dainty embroidery and self trimming, assorted light and dark colors, sizes 16 to 44, that we are now able to offer at a special price.

THESE DRESSES ARE ON SALE IN THE SECOND BALCONY AT THE LOW PRICE OF $1.29

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

United Press Service.
TAMAQUA, Pa., April 16.—While leaning against a radiator in a barroom, in which he is employed as a bartender, Frank Kershner was seized with a violent spasm of sneezing, which resulted in the dislocation of his right shoulder. Kershner has been the victim of these involuntary convulsions a number of times heretofore, and on each occasion the dislocation of his shoulder resulted.

Town Topics

To Swan Lake.

Browne Funeral Tomorrow.
The funeral of the late R. H. S. Browne will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m., from the home in Hot Springs Addition. Elder S. D. Harlan will conduct the services.

Jury Trial for Hughes.
Instead of a preliminary hearing, Joe Hughes, accused of stealing a tent from Charles Ross, at Lost River, is being tried by a jury before Justice of the Peace E. W. Gowen this afternoon. W. H. A. Renner is attorney for Hughes.

Fine Wheat Offered.
County Agriculturist Glaisyer has just received 100 pounds of choice bluestem wheat, acclimated to this altitude and location, which he will furnish at cost to farmers wishing to carry on demonstration work or purchase the entire lot for planting.

Big Strike.
Rooming house and hotel keepers, beware of having all your roomers look for a place to live where they can get a good bed plus a new, clean mattress. If you want to keep your roomers and get more, if you want to keep your house full all the time, take advantage of the mattress sale at the place where they give you $2.50 for your old one.

Moving Pictures

"The Marked Woman" the first of the Shubert and Brady features to be shown here, was the attraction at the Orpheus last night, and proved an entertainment of extraordinary merit. These features will be shown every Wednesday and Thursday, the next being "Mother," an offering well up to the world standard.

Tonight "When We Were Young," a three reel Western offering, will be the headliner. This production takes us back to the early days on the plains, when the red man and the settlers battled for possession. Two comedies complete the five reel program. Sunday and Monday Charles Dickens' "Old Curiosity Shop" comes to the Orpheus.

There is only one objection to the picture attraction at the Star theater, and that is the title. To anyone who is not familiar with the story, it is misleading. "The Lost Paradise" is a great labor problem play. We have never seen a production that portrays the great battles between capital and labor so vividly as does "The Lost Paradise." It is a masterpiece of its kind. The reviewer confronts many scenes that will strike deep, be he rich or poor. We see the many men and women employes in a great steel plant struggling in the intense heat for that which gains them their daily bread. In another scene, we see society, in the height of its glory. Such is every day life, but it takes a cast such as Mr. Frohman has selected for this piece to "bring it home" to us.

This is but one side of a most interesting story. There is a touch of romance from the very beginning that adds much to the offering, and again, there are bits of comedy that appear always at the opportune time. H. B. Warner is seen in the leading role. He does admirably well. The entire cast is seen to good advantage. The scenes in and about the great steel mills are the best we have ever had the pleasure of seeing. The picture, from every view point, is a superior offering. The program will be presented tonight for the last time.
