KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON TUESDAY, AUGUST 17, 1915

AND STOP AT KLAMATH FALLS

FOR KLAMATH FALLS

A PROBLEM staring this city in the face today is one of providing for the immense tourist travel that is passing through here daily. It is too late in the season to provide a municipal camp ground this summer, but a parking place for automobiles could be secured with little trouble or expense, and the matter has already been taken up by the Commercial Club and Will Lee. It was brought before the city council last night, but no action taken.

Mr. Lee states that tourists come into the garages of the city every day, inquire where our camp ground is or where there is a place to leave their machines. They are told that the nearest camp ground is at Bartlett Springs or Rock Creek, both ten or 15 miles from the city.

What is the use of having attractions for the tourist if we do not cultivate the tourist trade? Mr. Lee states that without a doubt, if some place was supplied where they could put their machines without expense, money would be spent here for other things rather than the necessities they need to keep them going.

A site has been secured for the location of a parking place, which it is believed can be used without expense. Water connections must be made, and several other bits of work done to make the place an accommodation to the tourist. The expense would be slight, and it is believed that the city will furnish the water.

It is such things as these that we expect the various departments of the Commercial Club to take hold of and push through to completion. This matter could be arranged for this year with small expense, and would mean much to the city yet this summer. This problem would come under the department that is supposed to handle tourists, and should be looked after without delay.

There are too many problems for one man to handle, and it is for this reason that the Commercial Club was reorganized, with its various departments and heads to direct their work. Only by working together, co-operating one with another, by unselfishness and a willingness to give our time and money, are we ever going to make Klamath Falls the true gateway to Crater Lake, a mecca for the tourist, the hunter, the homeseeker and the capitalist. These are the things that advertise a city, and to advertise our city we advertise our country. Some hard work and deep thinking are the main things that we must go after now.

GOOD WORK on the part of the wardens and rangers at the right time have saved thousands of dollars.

RUMORS OF "knocking" and "a dirty deal" continually come from Crater Lake.

IT MIGHT BE well that a close investigation be made and a report sent to headquarters.

IF WE ARE NOT getting a square deal we can see that we do get one.

TODAY'S ODDDEST STORY

What the War Moves Mean

By J. W. T. MASON (Staff Correspondent United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Serbia's refusal to cede Macedonia has made the allies pessimistic about the possibility of Bulgaria entering the war. Despite the fact that the allied nations are sorely in need of Bulgaria's help, no attempt is being made to coerce Serbia.

The allies have treated Serbia as an equal. No advantage has been taken as yet because she is a small country. How long such an attitude will last the future alone will decide, but if Bulgaria remains neutral it will be only because the allies refrain from rough-shodding Serbia. She could be compelled to do whatever is necessary for the success of the allies.

If the reports of the Turks are correct that 50,000 additional British soldiers have been landed on the Gallipoli peninsula on the Saros coast, it is apparent that the allies are planning to capture Constantinople, regardless of Bulgaria, who considers herself indispensable if the campaign is to be successful. Of course this is not correct, because the allies can open a campaign in Thrace, west of Constantinople, and take the route that Bulgaria would follow. They are holding back from such a campaign, however, because of the heavy losses sustained in the assault upon the famous Tehaldja defenses. It is preferred that Bulgaria enter the campaign and send her armies against Constantinople. The fact is not inappropiate that part of the losses which must accompany the subduing of Constantinople be borne by the Slavs, since the fall of the Turkish stronghold would benefit the Slav empire more than any one other nation.

If the Balkans do not enter the conflict, Constantinople will probably fall just the same, even though it is necessary for the allies to make this campaign the principal offensive.

"Woman With the Serpent's Tongue" to Wed Secretary

Miss Violet Asquith

Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the premier of Great Britain, "The Woman With the Serpent's Tongue," has just announced her engagement to Maurice Bonham Carter, secretary to her father. And it is believed, despite the war, that the wedding will be an important function.

When William Watson wrote his poem, "The Woman With the Serpent's Tongue," six years ago, it did not take persons familiar with London society long to determine he had in mind Mrs. Asquith and her stepdaughter, Violet. The poem is a portrait of the physical characteristics of Miss Asquith and the mentality of Violet Asquith. The latter is the voice of the family, and rules them all. Violet is the real official voice speaking with authority.

The first stanza of the poem is as follows: "She is not old, she is not young. The woman with the serpent's tongue. The haggard cheek, the hungering eye. The poisoned words that wildly fly. The famished face, the fevered hand—Who slights the worthless in the land, Sneers at the just, condemns the brave. And blackens goodness in its grave."

Many explanations of the poet's purpose in writing this have been offered. None were wholly acceptable to those he shocked.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

HOW OLD ARE YOU MENTALLY?

United Press Service BERKELEY, Aug. 17.—Never question a woman's age.

Dr. Henry H. Goddard, professor of psychology at the University of California summer session, says we all have two ages, a chronological age and a mental age. They are not always the same. One may be from two to five years older mentally than in actuality. In such a case one may be known as abnormally bright. Or, on the other hand, if one is backward in school, it is probable that he is younger in mentally than actually. An imbecile who has passed twenty years in this vale of tears may be only two years old mentally.

Dr. Goddard recently described the Binet tests for mental defectives. According to these tests, children are asked certain questions and on the basis of their answers, grade as to mental age. Questions are asked which do not depend on instruction, but come within the common knowledge of every child. For instance, a normal child of five should be able to copy a square. If the child under observation cannot do this it is an indication that he is under five years, mentally. Of course, the result of one question asked would not be taken as final evidence of defect. A long list of questions are asked, tests of touch, sight and other senses are made before the child is definitely classed as defective or feeble-minded.

Years of study by Binet, De Santis and other scientists were necessary to compile the test. Many hundreds of normal children had to be examined before it could be determined what knowledge a child of any given age should have. The system as now perfected is in use in most of the modern schools of the country.

In From Ely Country Mr. and Mrs. Tom Garrett and little girl arrived from the Ely country last night, after a trip through Poe Valley and the Merrill country. They were accompanied by Mrs. Jack Horton and son of the Hildebrand country. After transacting business in this city today, the party will probably leave this afternoon for home.
