SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

WHEN MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT BRINGS BACK ITS BEAUTIFUL LUSTRE AT ONCE

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur Compound restores its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of “Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound,” which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You washen a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By moving the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1916

A SERIOUS PROBLEM

FOR many years our country has received and assimilated quite one million of foreigners annually. Most of them have been poor in purse, and included in the great mass have been a great host of criminals and weak minded wretches, for there is not one country in Europe that has any scruples against evading our immigration laws, and unloading upon us their undesirable citizens. This has been so from the first. This has begun to have so sinister an effect upon our country as to alarm many steady brained men.

Within the present week a perfectly peaceable, quiet, blameless citizen, sitting with his family on the veranda of his home, was shot and instantly killed by an Italian. When arrested all the murderer could urge was that he was angry. It would be interesting to know the antecedents of this creature. Was he sent us when he should have been sent to an asylum? Was he transported to us when he should have been turned over to a firing squad, or the swift surgery of the guillotine?

Why not compel every immigrant to bring with him such a certificate of character as would make sure that he or she would not be a menace to us?

But what to do is the real question. The first thing is to find work for the needy; the next is a rigid enforcement of the laws; the third should be more little red school houses for those children so that while gleaming new ideas, they would gradually grow away from the influences of vicious parents and learn to comprehend the genius of American institutions. To emphasize this so soon as the boys reach 12 or 13 years of age, an hour each day should be devoted to military exercises in the schools, that not only the needed instruction would be obtained, but that a comprehension of the duties of citizenship in this country might likewise be installed in their brains.

Then the difference between the plan of our government and that of all other governments should be taught, and a text book should be supplied the teachers to enable them to fully explain this difference. As fast as possible this class of immigrants should be directed to other shores. This involves our having a merchant marine and closer trade relations with countries that possess large areas of cheap lands.

It is a nasty problem to be solved, but it can be solved.

And the time for extra study to solve it is close at hand, for when the present European war closes, the hordes will begin to move this way, and they will represent every form of wretchedness.

And they will come into direct competition with our own working hosts; ours who want to educate their children and give them a chance to forge out for themselves a more generous existence than their parents have ever enjoyed.—Goodman's Weekly.

THE FOURTH OF JULY crowd was the biggest assembled this year at the ball grounds—but wait till Sunday!

KLAMATH FALLS is destined to become a big city some of these days—but before that time the street lighting must be modernized, the cemetery must be improved and beautified, there must be a slightly city park and the houses must all be numbered to make possible free delivery of mail.

PERHAPS 'TWOULD be well to lay off this expensive pussy-footing for a while, and let the other officers catch some liquor law violators, so their fines can help pay off the claims now on file.

Activities by Hoey's Employes Indicate Revival of R. R. Work

Camp is Established at Salt Creek and Eugene Advances Are That Re-Survey May be Made Over the Cascades

EUGENE, July 7.—That a re-survey of the route of the proposed extension of the Southern Pacific railway from Oakridge across the summit of the Cascade mountains is to be made soon is the belief of those posted in railroad affairs. Word from Oakridge is to the effect that the railway company is establishing a camp near Salt Creek Falls, above that town, and that a number of men left Monday with camp equipage.

In addition to this report is the fact that H. P. Hoey, assistant chief engineer of the Southern Pacific company, who has had charge of the construction of the Willamette Pacific between Eugene and Coos Bay, which line is about completed, expects to leave one day this week in company with a number of subordinates in the local office and others for Oakridge, and from that place will travel on horseback over the mountains. It is known that they have engaged fifteen or sixteen pack horses and saddle horses for the trip from Oakridge to their destination, wherever it is. It was stated at the office of the Willamette Pacific engineering corps that Mr. Hoey is making the trip to visit his ranch over the mountains. This may be true, but reports from various sources, some of them reliable, indicate that something in the way of new construction is in the wind.

A number of business men of Springfield who have been in close touch with D. W. Campbell, until a few days ago assistant general manager of the S. P. company, in charge of the division, gave out the information that a re-survey of a portion of the route over the mountains is intended, in order to reduce, if possible, the maximum grade of 1 1/2 per cent to 1 per cent or lower.

Campers from the upper Willamette country say that there are surveyors already in camp above Oakridge, and that it is reported that Engineer Rankin, who was one of the principal engineers in charge of the original survey, is expected to arrive at once to join the party. He is said to have been sent under direction of Wm. Hood, chief engineer of the company, located at San Francisco.

This supposed activity on the part of the company engineers, together with the seemingly unusual haste in prosecuting the construction of the new road from the eastern border of the state toward the west, is taken by men who are close to railroad affairs as being insignificant. It is believed that the intention is to push the new road across the mountains to connect with the Klamath Falls-Natron cutoff, thereby making a direct route from Eugene to the East. It has been stated that this line will be 120 miles shorter between the East and the Coast than by way of the O. W. R. & N to Portland.

The company officials have always said that the shops in Springfield will not be built until the new line across the mountains is built, and when construction is begun it is possible that work on the shops there will start simultaneously. Eugene will be the western terminus for such a road if it is built.

While there are rumors of a cross-state road, the fact that the company's original intention was to complete the line to Klamath Falls is not lost sight of, and this move on the part of the engineers may be in this connection.

Whatever the purpose of the trip of Engineer Hoey, it will be watched with a great deal of interest by Eugene and the whole state.

OAKRIDGE, July 7.—The Southern Pacific company is setting up a camp in the vicinity of Salt Creek Falls. Two men went out yesterday with four pack horses loaded with camp equipage, and it is reported that Engineer H. P. Hoey will be here in a day or two with a surveying party to resume work on the line across the mountains located by Weir.

Oregon consumes 217 cubic feet of wood per capita annually, compared with 100 cubic feet per capita for the whole United States. This high per capita in Oregon is due to the fact that $2 per cent of the consumption is for fuel purposes.
