LIFE ABROAD PROVES VERY INTERESTING

I will spend all my time, I guess, telling about my travels and trials and troubles. I know now why the "old war veterans" always want to talk about the war. I will continue with my little experiences until I get a reputation.

"Any you want to start cooking as soon as you hear I am in New York, because I am going to hit that some-cooked food with an awful bang."

"I just missed seeing a big bunch of Klamath boys, who were in the aviation service, by a day and a half when I was in France. They left the camp for _____ just before I arrived. Joe Shelton was with them. Fred Dunbar is in France somewhere, and is now in the hospital corps. Bob Adams is safe over there, too."

WOLVES TAKE THREE GAMES

Won Lost Pct.
Moose Wolves 13 5 .704
Palm Tigers 5 13 .394
By taking three straight games last night, the Moose Wolves pushed well in the lead over the Palm Tigers. Joe Eric rolled 300 for high score and led in averages with 176. Lavank replaced Lee in the third game.

AT THE ORPHEUS

A perplexing problem is worked out in a six reel play at the Orpheus Sunday night, when Virginia Pearson is scheduled to appear in a play entitled "Thou Shalt Not Steal." This highly interesting film drama deals with the modern views of the Seventh Commandment.

PATRIOTIC RALLY TONIGHT

The general public is cordially invited to attend the big patriotic rally which will be held at the Miller Hill school house tonight. A fine program and interesting addresses are scheduled.

RETIRING PASTOR IS REMEMBERED

MINISTER WHO LEAVES FOR NEW FIELD AT BAKER NEXT WEEK IN GIVEN FAREWELL PARTY LAST NIGHT

A large number of friends gathered at the First Christian church last night to bid farewell to Rev. W. E. Rambo, who leaves next week for Baker, after a pastorate of eighteen months in this city. Pastors of a number of other churches were present, and made short talks.

Mr. Rambo was made a parting gift of a roll of bills by the men of the church to help defray the expense of moving, and the ladies of the church presented Mrs. Rambo with a silk dress.

Mr. Rambo preaches his farewell sermon at the Houston opera house tomorrow night at a union meeting on the subject, "Some of My Relations."

Official War Pictures

Special Sunday Matinee

At the Star Theater

Owing to the extra demand for seats for the "Official War Pictures," a special matinee will be given at the Star theater Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Patrons are requested to take advantage of same, in order to avoid standing at the evening performance. 33-1t

FEDERATED UNION MEETS TOMORROW EVENING

Proceeding the union service at the Houston opera house tomorrow night, there will be a meeting of the Federated Union of the young people's societies of the city held there at 8:30. The subject of the evening will be "Co-operation." I. D. Whitmore will have charge of the devotional exercises and M. S. Taylor will have charge of the Round Table discussion. It is requested that those who have copies of the song books used in the Mathis-Vessey meetings last year bring them tomorrow night.

WAR BRIDE FEATURES TO BE REPEATED

Owing to the big crowd which packed the opera house at the entertainment recently given by the War Brides for the benefit of the Red Cross, many who wished to see this performance were unable to do so. In answer to a popular request therefore, J. V. Houston has prevailed upon some of the participants of the vaudeville to appear on different nights with their special number at the Star theater.

Miss Verda Conad, whose monologues were exceptionally well received, will repeat them next Tuesday and Wednesday, according to the schedule. Others will be announced later.

There will be no extra charge for these features.

DRAWING TONIGHT AT ORPHEUS THEATER

The drawing for the quilts and rugs made from scraps at the Red Cross rooms by the Ladies of the Maccabees is to be held this evening at the Orpheus theater. Members of the organization announce that 600 tickets have been sold thus far.

Naval Boys Subjected To Various Climates

A letter just received by Harry Telford from Otis Osborne, formerly employed in the Telford garage, and now in the United States navy, tells of his return from the Mediterranean Sea, where the air was warm and balmy, to one of the harbors on the Atlantic coast, where there was several inches of ice, making headway of the vessel very difficult, and where it was necessary to turn a spray of steam on the anchor cable in order to thaw it out for use.

THRIFT and Prosperity

The mole was not always blind. Once upon a time he had a pair of perfectly good eyes, but he burrowed down into the dark earth and, being content to stay there, eventually lost his sight.

Don't stay like the mole in the dark of daily drudgery, but come up into the sunshine of prosperity. There is room at the top for all.
