Note—Owing to lack of space the society section was crowded out of Saturday's issue. The fact that the items were written for publication Saturday should be taken into consideration if the reader discovers an apparent discrepancy in dates.

Thanksgiving without entertaining would be a dismal affair. The very name of Thanksgiving suggests merry parties that meet about the dinner table, family reunions, vacations, dances, a cordial welcome to friends and relatives, and the real spirit of hospitality.

One of the most interesting affairs of the week was the Thanksgiving dance at the Elk's Temple Wednesday night. A large crowd of Elks and their wives and sweethearts attended this most successful dance. Every one had a splendid time, and enjoyed themselves especially, in swinging their partners in the circle two-steps, which were greatly applauded. The best of music and a lively crowd made the dance successful. Punch was served throughout the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Watt entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner Thanksgiving Day. Those seated at the table were: Miss Twyla Head, Miss Alice McCourt, Mr. and Mrs. George Watt and children, Geraldine, Roland, and Tom.

Miss Josephine Low entertained at dinner Thanksgiving Day. The invited guests were: Rex McMillan, W. W. Potter, Irene Santamau and Meta Chastain.

A musical was held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Vove Tuesday night. Miss Letha Driscoll being the honored guest. The guests were favored with six selections by Miss Leotta Noud, and a selection by Miss Driscoll.

coll. Miss Noud is to sing, "White Blossom's" from D. W. Griffith's wonderful production "Broken Blossoms", which is to be shown at the Liberty Theatre on the 21st. and 22nd of December.

Miss Driscoll is leaving Monday morning for San Francisco, where she will study vocal music under Fuella Wagar Coplin, dramatics of Miss Joseph Kincald.

The regular meeting of the P. E. O. Society was held at the home of Mrs. Verle Brewbaker Monday night. Mrs. McCow of Portland, state inspector of the society was here at this meeting. She just returned from a convention which was held at Denver, and told at the meeting about the convention. Mrs. Fred Fleet was initiated into the society. Those present were, Mrs. R. G. Groesbeck, Mrs. Orva Earnest, Mrs. Verle Brewbaker, Mrs. Arthur Wilson, Mrs. Sid Evans, Mrs. Frances Beatty, Mrs. A. M. Collier, Mrs. McCaw and Mrs. Fred Fleet.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Hill Hunter entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner Thursday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lamm of the Lamm Lumber Company and daughters, Ethel and Edith, son Wilford and Mrs. Hunter's brother, Seawood Fulquartz.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Weeden entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Weeden and daughter at dinner Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Thomas Hampton entertained the Leisure Hour Club Saturday. Bridge was played. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Robert E. Smith and Miss Marie McMillan gave a dinner at the home of the latter Thanksgiving Day. The appointments were in yellow and red, the center piece, a large basket of yellow chrysanthemums and red carnations, with red and yellow ribbons extending to each cover. The favors given to each guest were unique.

Those seated at the table were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Smith, Miss McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Mortensen, Mr. and Mrs. Don Zumwalt, Mrs. E. Estelle Carrier, Mr. William Bray and Mr. James Milne.

The Parent-Teachers Association gave a dancing party for the High School girls and boys and the Alumni at the White Pelican Friday evening. The dance was a success and everyone present had a splendid time.

After running two periods Wednesday, high school closed with a short program given by the pupils of the Public Speaking and Music department.

The regular issue of "The Tatler" read on this occasion was pronounced an unusually good edition with Pearl Lundy, Editor-in-Chief and read by Forrest Cooper. Florence Dillard gave an unusually good recitation on "What an old maid has to be thankful for." The "Wedding Chorus" was rendered by the Girls Glee Club.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robertson had as their guests at their home in the Hot Springs Addition, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Reynolds, Thanksgiving day. The Reynolds' reside at the White Pelican Hotel.

The ladies of Sacred Heart Church have been busy themselves with the annual important event of the Parish—the bazaar to be held December 11, 12, 13 at the Moose Hall. Extensive arrangements have already been made by the committees in charge and besides the booths for different fancy articles for xmas gifts, a cafeteria supper will be served each evening.

Mrs. W. H. McPherron entertained friends at a four course Thanksgiving dinner, Thursday. Those present were the Misses Helen and Lena Guest, Miss Eunice Vandenberg, Carl Schubert, Dr. Fred Westfeld and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. McPherron.

One of the most enjoyable afternoons that the music lovers of Klamath Falls have spent for a long time, was given at the assembly room of Sacred Heart Church Saturday afternoon, when sister Angellica presented her pupils in a song recital in honor of St. Cecilia, the patron Saint of music. It would be impossible to mention especially each pupil's good points—suffice it to say that they all show great promise as the coming musicians of the city. We must mention however, the Boys Chorus, recently organized, consisting of eight boys, accompanied by Charles Reilly, piano, and Walter Hannon and Richard Bogue, violins. One could scarcely realize that these boys had not been singing always and Charles Reilly's accompaniments were really those of a musician of several years practice. Walter Hannon surprised everyone as his lessons are only of a few months duration, and he takes to the violin as though he received keen enjoyment from the very handling of it. Richard Bogue plays exceptionally well and we hope Sister Angellica will let us hear the Boy's Chorus often in the future. We must also mention the closing number, "Veni Caecilia," vocal, by Florence Elliott and Chlorene Ryan, Sopranos, Elizabeth Ramsby, second part, Waive Withrow, third and Violet

Gale, fourth part, accompanied by Geneva Glenn, Piano. There is, indeed, great promise of a musical future for these young girls and those who were present urged the sister to present her pupils in larger quarters soon that everyone may have an opportunity of hearing them to better advantage. Following is the program: The Thrush Rich Class St. Cecilia Reading Fay Slack Sonata Op. 79 Beethoven Elizabeth Ramsby Nevin Mighty Lak' a Rose Ulrich Chlorine Ryan, Catherine Ulrich Valse Bleue Margis Margaret Hargus My Heart is Singing Sans Souci Elizabeth Ramsby, Opal Cardwell Vesper Bells Krogman Anita Lawrence, Romana Ball Where Blossoms Grow Sans Souci Florence and Clarice Elliott Shepherd's Song Kern
