ROCKAWAY HAS SOCIETY CIRCUS

The Society Circus at Rockaway Beach last Saturday and Sunday was well attended.

The parade was led by Floyd Wilkins, the marshal of the day, and was followed by Mayor George Jones and queen Miss Gladys Buck, on a large float, accompanied by attendants.

The Banks Band came next in the parade with flower girls and fife and drum corps last.

A society show was held after the parade. On Sunday the baby show was held, being the main feature of the day. The winners were Dawson Johnson, 1st prize, Mary Walling, 2nd prize, in the 1 to 16 months class; and Iroces Welsh 1st prize, and Thomas Connell 2nd prize in the 2 to 3 year old class.

Everyone was well pleased with the circus and it is hoped it will be repeated next year.

O. A. LOMMEN DROWNED

O. A. Lommen, a pioneer of the Nehalem valley and well known in all parts of the county, was accidentally drowned in the Nehalem river on Monday morning.

Mr. Lommen had driven one of his horses hitched to a buggy into the river for some reason, when the horse became mired and the buggy was caught in a deep current. Mr. Lommen tried to swim ashore but went down just before reaching the bank.

The horse was also drowned. In the death of Mr. Lommen Tillamook county loses one of its most influential and useful citizens.

AUTO ACCIDENT INJURES TWO

Friday evening as Jesse Irvine and Dr. Cummins, of McMinnville, were motoring to Netarts where they were camping, the front wheels of the machine broke and they were thrown out. Dr. Cummins was hurled some 40 feet and stunned for a time. When he came to Cummins heard the motor running and ran back to see about his companion. Irvine was pinned under the overturned machine and the doctor had a hard time getting his friend out.

Help was summoned and Irvine was taken to Boals' hospital. He was cut in numerous places on the head and body and severely shaken up, but no bones were broken. He will be out in a few days. Cummins escaped with a jolting and some scratches. Both gentlemen were fortunate in getting off so easily.

Soil Needs Of Tillamook County

County Agriculturalist Jones Makes Extensive Investigations In Regard To Needs of Our Soils.

Since April last some twenty samples of soil have been taken in the county and sent to the Agricultural College for analysis. These samples are from river bottoms, prairies, and uplands and are, I believe, fairly representative of the different soils of the county. In these soils the one universal lack is shown to be lime. A sample may not have been taken from your individual farm but there are several plain indications that a soil needs lime which you can no doubt notice on your own farms. Among these are: 1st, soils that will not grow clover. 2nd, soils that formerly grew good crops of clover but do not do so any more. 3rd, soils that are overrun with sorrel and plantain. 4th, soils that grew better alfalfa than red clover.

Some bottom land farms are having fair success with red clover and vetch but many are having difficulty and lime offers a solution of that difficulty if used intelligently. Nearly all the prairie and hill lands need it very badly. Some excess over and above that actually needed to correct the acid now present in the soil should be applied so that the effects will be more permanent. An application of from one to two tons per acre is needed on most of the bottom lands and from two to three tons on the prairie and hill lands. One sample of hill soil sent in would actually require 5400 lbs. of ground limestone per acre to correct the acid already in the soil and should have about three and a half tons applied to give results that will last 6 to 8 years.

There are several forms of lime that may be applied to the soil but the most lasting form is ground lime rock. That which has been burnt and slaked will have the same immediate effect but results will not be so permanent and it can not be obtained so cheaply as the ground limestone. To get good results with lime it should be put on the ground after plowing and it should be thoroughly mixed with the surface soil. One of the cheapest ways of applying it is with a manure spreader. If the spreader is set to deliver four loads to the acre and you wish to apply two tons to the acre you should put a few inches of manure in the bottom to make it tight and then put in 1000 lbs. of lime distributing it evenly over the bed. Four loads would then cover an acre and you would have the required application. After spreading the lime it should then be immediately mixed with the soil before it has a chance to cake together with the soil moisture. This can best be done by a thorough double cross disking and should be done a sufficient time before seeding so that the soil will have time to become sweetened before germination.

Try this on that piece you are going to sow to rye and vetch or oats and vetch this fall for early summer feeding or for the silo. Plow the piece this fall that you are going to seed to clover next spring and get it sweetened up and ready for the clover. Give it a thorough tillage throughout the winter to kill out the weeds or put in a cover crop of hairy vetch to be plowed under for fertilizer in the spring.

Our Tillamook limestone is a very good grade and is by far the cheapest source of lime to the farmers of this county. It is just what the farms of this county need the most and no farmer should hesitate one minute in liming every foot of his land that he can plow. This is not a new thing to be leary of and sit back to see how it affects someone else for liming was practiced by the good farmers of ancient times. It has been used for a great many years with excellent results in European countries and the United States is now awakening to the possibilities of its intelligent use. All through the East and Middle West farmers clubs are being organized for buying crushers for use on local ledges thus assuring themselves cheap lime. Up to the present the price has been almost prohibitive in this county but now the promoters of our local deposit say they will put it out for five dollars per ton if there is enough demand to pay for going into the ledge at all. The former price of lime here was fifteen dollars. Farmers should grasp this opportunity of putting their land in shape to grow fifty to one hundred per cent
