LATEST DISPATCHES.

Rooseve Conkling's Condition Still Considered Very Critical.

THE BLOOD AND IRON CHANCELLOR.

He is Condemned for Heartless Treatment of the Stek Kaiser.

LONDON, April 10.—The Vienna papers condemn Bismarck for his rough and heartless recourse to newspaper publicity in order to bully the ill and wearied Kaiser into wearing the Bismarckian collar even in his family affairs. There have been conflicting rumors to-day as to the Queen's intentions to abandon her Berlin visit, but the best advicees are that she will go.

A Raid on Indians. KANSAS CITY, April 10.—Advices from the Indian territory say that 40 farmers from Ashland and other southern Kansas points, organized a vigilance committee last week and made a raid on a band of Indians. Four of the band were caught and strung up to the nearest trees; nine more were chased into the sand hills of the Cherokee strip and are now surrounded in a dug out. They refuse to surrender and the farmers propose to starve them out and hang them.

A Domestic Tragedy. OMAHA, April 10.—Peter Bergo, a mechanic aged 47, last night cut his wife's throat from ear to ear with a razor, and then attempted suicide with the same weapon. Mrs. Bergo's wound is thought to be fatal, but the husband will probably recover. Jealousy is said to be the cause of the deed.

Two Trainmen Killed. CHICAGO, April 9.—A special to the Inter-Ocean from Cariboo, Arizona, says: Last evening at 8:20 o'clock, as the west bound freight train on the Atlantic & Pacific railroad was nearing this place the engine was derailed, and it plunged down a steep embankment. Frank Ashton, the fireman, and John Bell, brakeman, were killed. The engineer jumped and escaped without injury. Ten cars were badly wrecked.

Death of Another Victim. SAN BERNARDINO, April 9.—Cadori, the special policeman concerned in the quadruple shooting in the Club saloon some days ago, whereby two men were killed, died this morning.

New York Politics. NEW YORK, April 9.—The State Assembly has at last awakened to the fact that the public demands an investigation of the lobby and of the charges of the New York World that the lobby king, E. R. Phelps, said he could buy up almost any legislator. To-day the Assembly ordered an inquiry into the World's charges and the evidence secured by Nellie Bly, and called the attention of the District Attorney of Albany to the matter. The investigation begins on Wednesday. The members, who fear the lobby's power, however, had passed amendments depriving the committee of inquiry of most of its power, so the investigation may prove a farce. Phelps has skipped and cannot be found. The inquiry without him will be like "Hamlet" without a Prince.

The Carson Mint. WASHINGTON, April 9.—Representative Woodburn, of Nevada, and Director Kimball of the Mint, appeared before the House Appropriation Committee last night in relation to the Carson mint. Kimball wishes the Carson mint to be reduced to an assay office simply. Mr. Woodburn opposed the proposition in a long and effective argument. He contended that as the mint had been established by law it was not within the power of the Secretary of the Treasury to abrogate the Act of Congress, as was proposed in reducing the mint to an assay office. Woodburn made an appeal for increased appropriations for the mint. Advicees from Valparaiso state that the cholera in the infected districts of Chili is rapidly dying out.

Blaine's Bad Health.

BOSTON, April 9.—Dr. Winthrop F. Heywood, who has been absent three years in Vienna studying medicine, returned to Boston last Saturday. Since completing his studies, Heywood has been traveling on the continent, and passed the larger portion of the winter at Florence where he frequently saw and talked with Blaine, who is now living there. "How about Blaine?" asked a reporter of Dr. Heywood to-day. "Is he ill, as reported, or is the story simply a campaign lie?"

"Blaine is not sick in the sense requiring constant medical care," replied Dr. Heywood, "but is far from well. I believe he has a progressive malady which will cause death in a short time, unless he gets relief, of which there is little prospect."

"What ails him?" "Though I was not called to attend him professionally, from what he said to me and from the general observation I have no hesitation in saying that he has diabetes, which will progress to a fatal termination. Why, he lost twenty pounds of flesh in two months. When he went across the Atlantic last June he was a plump man, weighing about 200 pounds. Now he is a shriveled, bandy-legged old man, who will not scale 160 pounds. His face is thin and blue and his shoulders are stooping. Those big full eyes are hollow and underscored with blue bands. That big under lip is as pale as a piece of marble. No one can form any idea how he has fared this winter.

"Is he able to be up and about?" "Yes, but takes extra good care of himself. He cannot endure much exercise. He told me that about all he lived on was the bluest kind of skim milk. He assured me that his reason for declining the nomination was that he felt a presentiment that he was going to die and did not wish to undertake the arduous labors of a campaign, fearing that he would not hold up under the strain."

"Do you think there is any probability of his dying in a short time?" "No, not in six months or a year, though I think he cannot, with the best of care, survive over two years."

A Crank's Delusion.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Considerable excitement was caused to-day by the statement that one Dr. Mark Rame attempted to kidnap Florence Blythe, heiress to the great Blythe estate. It appears that in 1883 a child named Annie Mooney was lost at Belmont during a picnic, and although a large reward was offered, she never has been found. Rame became possessed of the idea that Florence Blythe was the missing child, and in 1885, it is said, attempted to carry her off. On Saturday last he induced the Mooneys to go with him to Berkeley, where Florence was residing with her guardian, James Perry, and claim their child. At the same time he confided his plot to a boy, who visited at Perry's. The latter told an officer, and when the parties put in an appearance Rame was arrested. The Mooney family, of course, failed to recognize their daughter in Florence Blythe. Rame, in the opinion of Chief Crowley, is a crank who ought to spend a few months in the house of correction. He is held on a charge of attempt to steal a child, and the case comes up in two weeks.

Hill and Cleveland Hunting Together.

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—The Washington correspondent of the Press sends this ingenious story. It says: "Hill never entertained presidential aspirations, but made a demonstration so that Cleveland would be warned to keep out of the way and permit him to become governor. He showed in the state committee that he had strength enough to make trouble, and as a result an arrangement has been effected between Hill and Cleveland's managers, whereby Cleveland shall support Hill fully in the gubernatorial hunt, Hill to reciprocate by giving Cleveland assistance in securing the presidential nomination."

FARMER'S DAUGHTER SUICIDES.

The Fatal Effects of Loving not Wisely but too Well.

PARSONS (Kan.) April 9.—Miss Jennie Brooks, daughter of Martin M. Brooks, living nine miles southeast of the city, committed suicide Friday, by shooting herself through the heart with a 32-caliber revolver. Yesterday morning her parents and O. P. Fultz and wife, who make their home with Brooks, came here to do some trading, leaving the daughter, Jennie, and a young boy named Ed Dodson, employed on the farm, at home. Shortly after their departure Dodson went to the back part of the farm to look after some stock, leaving the young lady in the house alone. When he returned two or three hours later he called to her, but getting no answer went up stairs to her room, and was horrified to find her lying in bed in a great pool of blood, dead.

He immediately notified the neighbors and started for this city to inform her parents. He arrived here about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, just as Brooks and Fultz were getting ready to start home. The coroner was notified and he will hold an inquest this morning.

The deceased had proceeded with great deliberation to carry out her purpose. She had retired to her room, and, removing her clothes, carefully hung them up, then donning a nightgown she lay down in her bed, and placing the muzzle of the revolver directly over her heart, she fired, the revolver dropping out of her hand by her side. She was about 20 years of age and remarkably bright.

About a year and a half ago she was seduced by a neighbor's son, under a promise of marriage, and the matter so preyed upon her mind that she became demented, and in a fit of despondency ended her life by her own hand.

Bou langer's Popularity.

PARIS, April 9.—Bou langer is becoming more and more popular. Last evening as he was driving down Rue Montmartre, his brougham, with Comte Dillon, was recognized by the crowd. The enthusiasm of the people knew no bounds. With shouts of "Vive Bou langer!" they followed the vehicle. Some of them opened the doors of the carriage but these were at once closed by the occupants.

Still the crowd rushed on, and as the driver had to pause for a moment on arriving at the Boulevard des Italiennes the vehicle was speedily surrounded by several hundreds of persons, all in the highest state of excitement.

It so happened that Gen. Ferron, Gen. Bou langer's immediate successor at the war office, was passing at the time. He asked what the fuss was about. "It is Gen. Bou langer," was the brief exclamation. "Ah!" exclaimed Gen. Ferron, and he strolled on in a thoughtful mood.

St. John in Oregon.

MEDFORD, Or., April 9.—Ex-Gov. St. John, of Kansas, arrived at Ashland at 5 o'clock. The train made a stop of thirty minutes, and an immense crowd was on the platform. He shook hands with a large number, and engaged in a friendly conversation with them, but declined to address the crowd. G. M. Miller, prohibition nominee for congress, who has opened the campaign in this valley, accompanies him to Roseburg and Eugene, where the governor speaks the 10th and 11th.

Thousand Dollars Reward.

GREENVILLE, March 9.—At a citizens' meeting last night it was resolved to offer a reward of $1000 for the conviction of the murderer of James Tennant, a miner, whose body was found in a prospect hole, with a bullet hole through the head.
