A SMALL BARN BURNED.

Tigers and Capitals Have an Exciting Race and the Former win the Fox Tail.

About 11 o'clock this morning a small barn near the corner of Union and Cottage streets, occupied by Mr. Edwards, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was promptly given and the fire department responded with its usual alacrity. The Capitals' hose cut got about two blocks ahead of Tigers at the start, but the distance between the two teams was cut down by the hard work of the latter, and for the last three blocks it was a neck-and-neck race for the hydrant. Tigers got there first, however, and won the fox tail by a scratch. The barn, which was nothing but a shell, was burned almost to the ground before the team arrived. The loss will not amount to over $150. The cause of the fire is unknown. Mr. Edwards had taken his team out of the barn to drive down town about two hours before the fire occurred. He thinks that some one must have fired the barn purposely; but this could hardly be the case, as no one would dare to run the risk of touching a match to a building in such a public place in broad-day light.

Mrs. Cornell's Funeral.

The remains of Mrs. Emily Cornell, wife of William Cornell of this city, were brought up on this morning's train from Portland, where she died on Tuesday at the residence of her son, H. A. Cornell, with whom she was visiting. Immediately after the arrival of the train the remains were taken to the M. E. church where Rev. W. Rollins preached a very impressive and appropriate funeral discourse. The interment took place at Lee Mission cemetery. Mrs. Cornell was 67 years 8 months old, and came to Oregon with her husband about thirty years ago. She leaves a husband and six children as follows: H. A. Cornell, Wilbur Cornell, Portland; Mrs. J. H. B. Royal, South Salem; Mrs. W. Gardner, Salem; Mrs. Dr. McAlister, Albany; E. W. Cornell, Portland.

AN INDIAN'S LETTER.

The following letter is one written by a Puute Indian, who has been attending school at the Warm Springs Indian Agency, and was sent by Dave Holmes, teacher at the reservation, to his brother, Dr. W. R. Holmes, as a specimen of the proficiency of the "noble red" in conquering the difficulties of the English idiom. The letter, which is given verbatim, et literatim, et spelatim, is as follows:

MR. DR. HOLMES-DEAR SIR: as you was give to me something to eat and now I am all fat out. I was eat very well. I eat in the morning & even and evening. But I would like have some more & I want Meat & Sugar & Flour & Beans & Bacon & Soap. I want that Bacon to Boll Beans with and I want soap to wash clean my Pillow & my dirty shirt & socks. I was eat just Rice, apples, tea & sugar that's all. But now is out. You will please give me all that what I want, and I am feel better in my stomach just same all over my body just hurt me little. But I am very sorry to hear that my Brother Gies, Puute is very Sick at agency I wish I see. Please let me know how he is and ask what he is feel and write down. Send it by Henry. I never see that my Brother Gies, for a long time. Yours truly CHARLES JOHNSON.

Escaped From Chienawa.

A Nez Perce Indian boy ran away from the Indian school at Chienawa on Monday and has not been heard of since. Parties are looking for him in Portland and other places, and he will probably be recaptured and brought back to the school in a few days.

MR. YODER AND THE WHISKYITES.

A Jefferson Correspondent Asks a Number of Questions.

ED. CAPITAL JOURNAL.—I am, indeed, very much obliged to you for your stricture on the "editorial squirt," by Bro. Guild, in your issue of the 3rd inst., not that I approve your remarks, but that they clearly reveal the character of Mr. Yoder, the republican candidate for school superintendent. You say: "The fight at the primary (at Silverton) was not on Mr. Yoder, it was upon the saloon interest which was in the habit of setting up a ticket to suit itself. It was known that the saloon interest was putting forth Mr. Yoder, and the whiskyites, if he had been successful, would have worked for his election, while their ulterior object would have been to subvert the saloon interest." And further on you say, "Against Mr. Yoder as a man there are no valid charges, and if elected we look to him to reflect credit on the republican party."

Now, Sir, I am not only obliged for this information, but will be further obliged if you will allow me space to analyze your statements with a few comments.

"The fight was not on Mr. Yoder, it was upon the saloon interest." Then the "whiskyites" cared nothing for Mr. Yoder only so far as he represented the saloon-interest. Then it follows that Mr. Yoder represents the saloon interest. "If he had been successful," the "whiskyites" would have worked for his election. Now, Sir, Mr. Yoder was successful, although defeated as a delegate at Silverton. He found the climate at the convention more congenial to his interests where he was endorsed. Is it fair to presume that Mr. Yoder is such a turncoat that one day he represented the saloon interest at Silverton, and the next day he represents the better element of the republican party in Marion county? And is it fair to presume that the liquor interest would warmly support Mr. Yoder at the primary and desert him after he succeeded at the convention? No, Sir, this would be a violation of personal support not expected from any interest or party. It is beyond doubt fair to presume and expect that the "whiskyites" will earnestly work for the election of Mr. Yoder, their "ulterior object" being "to subvert the saloon interest." Now what benefit can the office of school superintendent be to the saloon interest? Just this. The greatest harm the saloon interest is now receiving is in the education of the rising generation. Our text book authors, our school superintendents, our teachers, each and all, or at least with only a few exceptions like Mr. Yoder, are righteously endeavoring to build up the characters of the young in such a way that the saloon interest would be materially affected thereby. And now that their labors are beginning to materialize, the saloon folks with their usual sagacity are striking where they can do the most good. Is it possible that the republican party of Marion County is so wedded to the liquor interest as to suffer this seeming dictation? Or, is it possible that the rank and file of the party will swallow such a nomination when the true character of the nominee is so clearly shown up by the admission of their party organ? I think not. Neither do I believe that the republicans will agree with you, Mr. Editor, that there are no charges against Mr. Yoder as a (representative) man, and if elected will "reflect credit on the republican party." No Sir, if men-steeped in liquor and harmoniously working with and for the whisky interest are the kind of men our republican leaders wish to place before us for our suffrages for our most responsible offices, it is high time we were no longer following their leadership, and if such nominations are consummated by some legerdemain, we are justified in repudiating them at the polls.

W. T. RIGDON, Jefferson, Or., April 5, 1888.

Bureka.

The motto of California means, I have found it. Only in that land of sunshine, where the orange, lemon, olive, fig and grape bloom and ripen, and attain their highest perfection in mid-winter, are the herbs and gum found, that are used in that pleasant remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Santa Able the ruler of coughs, asthma and consumption. Messrs. D. W. Matthews & Co., 106 State street, Salem, have been appointed agents for this valuable California remedy, and sell it under a guarantee at $1 a bottle. Three for $2.50. The Whole Vital Machinery.

Depends for the fuel, which is the origin of its propulsive force, upon the stomach. In that hidden alambique the food undergoes the chemical changes which transmute it into blood, from which the system draws the material that reimburses it for its daily losses of tissue. These, of course, are greatly augmented in disease. If the stomach, therefore, is weakened or disordered, the system is deprived of sustenance. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters can be relied upon to facilitate and renew digestion when that function has been interrupted by weakness of the stomach. Biliousness, or a diversion of the bile from its proper channel, which causes constipation, is also remedied by it. Heartburn, wind on the stomach, sick headache, fur upon the tongue, and other symptoms of stomach and liver disorder, it speedily removes. Malarial complaints of every sort, kidney and bladder troubles, constipation, rheumatism and neuralgia yield when it is used regularly and persistently.

Scott Bozarth returned this morning from San Francisco, where he has been for several days laying in a stock of goods for the new firm of Bridges & Bozarth, who will open their store in the new bank block about the first of next week.

Oregon Peach Bitters

About eighteen years ago I received a hurt in my back from a pile of lumber falling on me, and ever since had been troubled with weak kidneys more or less and the last year very much. Through the recommendation of Dr. Henry Keesee, I bought a bottle of H. Kiss's Oregon Peach Bitters and before I had taken half the bottle I found a great relief from it. I believe it to be a splendid remedy for the kidneys, and heartily recommend it for the same. J. H. PORTER, Aumsville, January 12, 1888.
