Breat Up.

You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with headache, you are fidgetty, nervous, and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up.

SUCCESS THAT DOES NOT PAY.

A Lesson Drawn From the Life and Experiences of Jacob Sharp.

Two years ago Mr. Jacob Sharp, whose death has given occasion for so many moral reflections, appeared to have attained the great object of his life.

With a man constituted as Jacob Sharp was, apparently without scruple or moral sensibility, experience and conscience brought no sufficient penalty for a life devoted to material success regardless of the means by which it was attained.

There have been other successes within the memory of those still young which convey much the same lesson. The case of Tweed and his associates is ever freshly remembered.

Soothes and Heals.

Santa Abie soothes and heals the membranes of the throat and lungs, when poisoned and inflamed by disease.

SHALL WE MACADAMIZE?

Our Property Holders Anxious to Improve our Streets--They Also Want Sewers.

Believing that our property holders should be heard as to the advisability of improving our main streets by macadamizing as we have heretofore suggested, a reporter called on a large number this morning and ascertained that there is a universal desire on their part to improve our streets and not our streets only, but also our sewerage system.

Mr. Martin, the jeweler, believes sewers should have the first attention. He says without sewers, we cannot have good streets.

Mr. Bush believes that both sewers and streets should be looked after. He thinks abutters on the streets improved should bear the expense incurred, as this is the only practical way of getting at it.

John Wright says we must have sewers as soon as possible, and macadamize the streets next.

W. H. Ladue would prefer paving, but allows it to be more expensive. He thinks we should have sewers with receiving basins at each corner.

Warner Brynman says we must have a sewer down Ferry street. He favors graveling the streets, as we have such an abundance of excellent material.

Charles B. Moores, of the Oregon Land Co., wants to see an era of improvement and enterprise dawn. He believes we should put our streets in such a condition that they will be good summer and winter, cost what it may.

Thos. Holman says we never can have good streets till we macadamize. When he was in the city council he agitated the purchase of a rock crusher. He says the large stones in Mill creek bed, among the gravel, can be crushed and will make excellent material.

J. H. Albert says we need both improved streets and increased sewerage. Last fall an effort was made to put a sewer through Ferry street and a majority of property holders favored it, but the mayor and council refused.

S. Farrar wants improvements made, but believes it well to look before we leap. To macadamize will cost a great deal, and a better and cheaper way may be found.

Mr. Crawford gave us this diagram of the only sewer we have and its lateral. It will be found elsewhere. He has long worked for a more extensive sewerage system, and believes it will go far toward solving the street question.

"Willie," said the good pastor, who was taking dinner with the family, "I suppose you will be a literary man like your father when you grow up?"

Short Cuts to Erudition.

Not wholly without grudging does a worker in the fields of literature see the manner in which labor is lightened for his successor.

The quotations are scarcely ever taken from original works, and are not seldom garbled or wrongly given. In scarcely any instance is the source advanced so that a man can refer to it; and not seldom, on mere hearsay report, a phrase to which he has no right is assigned to a celebrity.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a revival of trade at H. W. Cox's drug store as their giving away to their customers so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's new medical discovery for consumption.

Always in a Scrape.

Constantly in a scrape--The tonsorial artist.--Rahway Advertiser. There is a twelve-year-old barber back of the Yards; he is only a little shaver now.--Goodall's Sun.

The leading Worcester barber is in a scrape again because he shaved customers Sunday.--Lowell Courier. A Chinaman in New York is named Tahk Tahk. It is not stated, but we suppose he is a barber.--Norristown Herald.

An Absolute Cure.

The ORIGINAL ABIETINE OINTMENT is only put up in large two-ounce tin boxes, and is an absolute cure for old sores, burns, wounds, chapped hands, and all skin eruptions.
