THIS SPACE BELONGS TO THE

OREGON LAND COMPANY!

It was Occupied Yesterday and will be Again To-morrow by Their

LIST OF PROPERTY FOR SALE!

Comprising more than 100 Pieces of Farm and City Property.

THE OREGON LAND COMPANY

Keep an efficient agent in Portland who devotes his entire time to securing purchases. A full description of each piece of property is furnished him, and much of the property on their list has been personally inspected by him, so that he is able to fully describe to purchasers. This agent, by daily visiting the steamer landings and hotels, comes in contact with hundreds of land seekers; he is supplied with the Oregon Land Company's pamphlet and property lists and has an arrangement by which he can secure reduced fare from Portland to Salem. In this way many persons have been sent to Salem during the past month, and the managers of the Oregon Land Company have been kept busy in showing them the property they have for sale. Some of these visitors came to Oregon to remain, and being pleased with Salem and the surrounding country have bought property; others are only on a tour of inspection, and if pleased with the country will sell out in the east and come to Oregon to remain; still others are only traveling for pleasure, but all have been shown around the city and country and given an opportunity to form an opinion by actual observation. The Oregon Land Company will not only continue to thus bring to Salem large numbers of immigrants and tourists, but they have now employed Col. J. M. Wright, a railroad man of extensive experience from Illinois, to act as their agent in the east in getting up excursions to come direct to Salem. This undertaking will be facilitated by the fact that the Oregon Land Company have now on file in their office many hundreds of letters which they have received from eastern people in response to advertising done by them in eastern papers. Post cards are now being sent to over six hundred of these persons, containing the following:

Oregon Land Company's

EXCURSIONS!

The Oregon Land Company is now engaged in organizing excursion parties to leave Danville, Illinois, for Salem, Oregon. Parties desiring to do so can join the excursions at any point enroute. For information as to date of starting, route, expense, etc., Address.

J. M. WRIGHT,

Eastern Agent Oregon Land Co., Vermillion, Vermillion Co., Ill.

This agent is furnished with ten thousand cards for mailing to all points of destination.

OREGON--WILLAMETTE VALLEY,

Fifty by one hundred and fifty miles. U. S. census reports show Oregon to be the healthiest state in the Union. Grass always green; no cold winters; no hot summers; rich prairie and timber lands cheap. Ten acre fruit farms, worth a section in whole, now selling for $1000 to Oregon Land Company at Salem. Excursions will leave Danville, Ill., for Salem, Oregon. Parties wishing to join at Danville, or enroute, address J. M. WRIGHT, Vermillion, Vermillion Co., Ill.

The same will also be advertised in numerous eastern papers.

We hope in this way to largely increase the number of buyers in and about Salem, and thus increase the demand for small property as we have for sale. We are highly gratified by the fact that in such a short time we have such a large list of property in our hands from which our customers may select. We desire to still further increase this list and correspondingly expand these buying property to sell it on us at our office in the tank block on Commercial street, Salem, Oregon.

We wish to say to persons having property for sale that the Oregon Land Company is in the business of buying and selling property. It is a home institution, being owned and controlled by men of integrity and to whom have been identified with the business interests of Salem. It is possessed of the best agents and has already expended one thousand dollars in advertising Salem. It is not an organization, but is steadily pursuing well-tried methods that are well known to produce certain results, viz., to keep the advantages of our section prominently before the public. It is thus the almost upon a self-sacrifice to labor and earnest efforts to subserve the interests of its patrons. It is not here to take any one's business, but proposes to let its own customers. It proposes to largely extend its operations in the future as opportunity offers.

LANDS AND HOMES.

Marion county is situated in the heart of the magnificent Willamette valley, the central gem in the cluster of rich counties that form that princely domain, and is the banner commonwealth of the great northwest in all the essentials that go towards making it a profitable abiding place, and a home for the thrifty farmer, the cunning artisan and the industrious mechanic.

Rich in its agricultural resources in its cultivated and uncultivated lands, in its water powers, and minerals; rich in its colleges and schools of learning, and with a climate unsurpassed for its salubrity, it presents to the immigrant from the overcrowded states, where cold winters and hot summers, with terrible cyclones prevail, who comes to the coast with some means, advantages that no other county in Oregon possesses.

Much has been written of this western country that requires a stretch of the imagination to comprehend, and numerous complaints are heard from the class who have been misled by them, so in this brief sketch the writer desires to avoid exaggeration as to its present and prospective advantages, asking those in the east into whose hands this may fall—particularly those who have their eyes directed towards this coast—to peruse it carefully, feeling that it is not written to lure immigrants within its borders, but only as a truthful description of a land which, if it does not "flow milk and honey," contains within its bosom wealth and resources equal to any other country on the Pacific side of the Rocky mountains.

BOUNDARIES.

Marion county is bounded on the north by the Willamette river and Cut Creek which separates it from Clackamas county; on the east by Clackamas county and the Cascade mountains, which separate it from Wasco county; on the south by the Santiam river and the north fork of the Santiam, separating it from Linn county, and on the west by the Willamette river.

PHYSICAL FORMATION.

The county contains, including the mountain and the valley. The latter extends from the Willamette river to the foot of the Cascade mountains, a distance of about fifteen miles.

The mountainous portion contains some fourteen townships of mostly disused land; lying in a strip twelve miles north and south by forty miles east and west, and comprises all classes of land, from rich narrow valleys in the passes, through all the grades of rolling, hilly and broken, to that of rock-bound canyons and inaccessible craggy peaks. It is generally heavily timbered, and in the near future will be valuable for its lumber supplies. These hills and mountains afford a wonderful summer range for stock, and many of the more enterprising farmers are availing themselves of this opportunity, and when the cold frosts of autumn approach, the stock are brought out to fresh pastures, thus enabling them to survive the winter storms with little care.

GREAT ADVANTAGES.

A decided advantage Marion county has over many others is the diversified farming interest that can be carried on throughout the entire year; notwithstanding this is a wet climate during the winter months, the uplands are seldom too wet to work, and long before the prairie farmers are through with their seed, the hill farmer is preparing for his summer work. And yet the low lands are much preferred by many; the yield per acre is generally greater, and perhaps less labor is required to place the soil in proper condition for crops; and then should the season prove dry, the bottom lands are sure to bring the best crops. No better farming land can be found in the United States than that on the noted Howell prairie, French prairie, Santiam prairie and Salem prairie. The soil of these are wonderfully productive. With good cultivation, forty bushels of wheat and sixty of oats per acre can be easily secured.

FACILITIES FOR MARKET.

The Willamette river, with two lines of railroad running the entire length of the county from north to south, with the Oregon Pacific road crossing the southeast corner of the county, affords ample facilities to reach a market in any direction.

SALEM

Is the capital of the state and county seat of Marion county, situated on the Willamette river—and on the O. & C. railroad. Costly buildings have been erected, among which the state capitol building, county courthouse, Chemeketa hotel, opera house, new public school building, Catholic school building, Methodist church, Willamette University, and many private residences and business blocks, which will compare favorably with older and larger cities.

GENERAL.

All things considered, the Willamette valley has the best country in the world, and Marion county is about centrally located therein. To those seeking homes in the west, no better opportunities can be offered, than are found here. Persons desiring information regarding Marion county or the Willamette valley, those wanting farming lands, stock farms, business property or city residences, will be promptly and reliably informed by addressing the well known firm of Willis & Chamberlin, real estate agents, over house block, Salem, Oregon.
