YOUTH NO BAR TO GREATNESS.

Charles James Fox was in parliament at 19. The great Cromwell left the University of Cambridge at 18. John Bright never was at any school a day for he was 15 years old.

Madison was in parliament at 23, and at 24 was lord of the treasury. Lord Bacon graduated at Cambridge when 6, and was called to the bar at 21.

Washington was a distinguished colonel in the army at 22, early in public affairs, commander of the forces at 42 and president at 57.

William H. Seward commenced the practice of law at 21, at 31 was president of a state convention, and at 57 governor of New York.

Napoleon at 25 commanded the army of Italy. At 30 he was not only one of the most illustrious generals of all time, but one of the great law givers of the world.

The great Leo X was pope at 38; having finished his academic training, he took the office of cardinal at 18—only twelve months younger than was Charles James Fox when he entered parliament.

RUSSIAN PROVERBS.

A bad peace is better than a good quarrel. An untimely guest is worse than a Tartar. The heart has ears. In a still pool swarm devils.

The Pretty Girl.

The little child is almost always pretty; the girl of 15 is often pretty in spite of her inevitable awkwardness; the girl from 16 to 20 is obliged to be pretty, for she has the fresh charm of youth sometimes called in langue de diable, her eyes are clear and bright, and her skin fresh and pearly.

Servants and Employers.

Between servants and their employers there is a great gulf fixed. The former are a plain and agree to do certain things, and scrupulously avoid doing anything else, except in a case they are not of it.

Hot to Tea Drinkers.

Tea means, literally, self-boiler; it is a hot water machine only, and the tea is brewed as in America, in tea pots. Ladies continue to use not only their china tea sets, but their dainty china cups.

Mutual Tolerance.

It implies a want of mutual forbearance and reciprocal consideration on the part of young married people. It means that they are not reasonably tolerant of each other's defects and weaknesses.
