TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Proceedings of To-Day's Convention.
Attempted Adjournment.

CHICAGO, June 23, 4:30 p. m.— The convention adjourned till Monday at 11 a. m., by a vote of 492 to 320.

CHICAGO, June 23.—The convention was called to order at 10:08. The roll call on the fourth ballot of states began at 10:20, with Warner Miller of New York presiding.

The vote resulted as follows: Alger 135, Harrison 217, Allison 88, Blaine 42, Sherman 236, Gresham 98, McKinley 11, Lincoln 1, Douglass 1, Foraker 1.

The fifth ballot followed immediately, and gave the following result: Blaine 46, a gain of 4; Alger 142, a gain of 7; Allison 90, a gain of 11; Harrison 213, lost 4; Gresham 87, lost 11; Sherman 224, lost 12; McKinley 14, a gain of 3.

The convention then took another adjournment until 4 o'clock.

AFTERNOON.

CHICAGO June 23.—Gov. Foraker said, at 3:25 p. m., that Ohio would not vote solid for Sherman this afternoon. Said he thought Blaine a very strong man, when asked about the contemplated stampede to him. There is some talk of combining the Blaine men on Allison.

CHICAGO, June 23, 4:12.—After convention called to order, motion was made to adjourn till Monday.

The roll is being called with prospects against adjournment.

ADJOURNED TILL MONDAY.

Opinions of the Morning Press.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The Tribune this morning says that anti-Harrison forces have combined to prevent his nomination, and after a ballot or two will adjourn to unite on some other candidate.

The News says the ticket still looks like Blaine and Harrison or Blaine and Alger.

The Times says Alger and Allison gained strength during the night.

The Herald says Alger and Allison are very hopeful, and says that at least part of the Pennsylvania delegation will go to Allison, after Sherman. The papers agree that Harrison is the most prominent candidate at present.

Sale of the Dent Homestead.

St. Louis, June 22.—The homestead of Gen. Grant, better known as the Dent property, consisting of 750 acres, lying twelve miles west of this city, has been sold at private sale, under a mortgage given to W. H.
Vanderbilt in 1884, during the Grant & Ward troubles. The sale was authorized by Chauncey M. Depew for Vanderbilt, and the property passed into the possession of Luther H.
Conn, a millionaire and ex-Confederate. He paid $60,000 for the Dent farm, and will use it for a breeding place for breeding fancy stock. He has christened the place "Grant-wood." The homestead was in the possession of the Dent family for more than half a century.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Tex., says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with malarial fever and jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony; says: "He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters."

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all malarial diseases, and for all kidney, liver and stomach disorders stand unequalled. Price 50c. and $1 at Dr. H. W. Cox's.

GREELEY TO PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

A Wretched Letter by the Journalist After the Bull Run Disaster.

The following letter was written by Horace Greeley to President Lincoln after the battle of Bull Run, and is printed for the first time in the Hay-Nicolay "Life of Lincoln" in the June Century:

New York, Monday, }
June 29, '61. Midnight.

DEAR SIR:—This is my seventh sleepless night—yours, too, doubtless—yet I think I shall not die, because I have no right to die. I must struggle to live, however bitterly.
But to business. You are not considered a great man, and I am a hopelessly broken one. You are now undergoing a terrible ordeal, and God has thrown the gravest responsibilities upon you. Do not fear to meet them. Can the rebels be beaten after all that has occurred, and in view of the actual state of feeling caused by our late awful disaster? If they can,—and it is your business to ascertain and decide,— write me that such is your judgment, so that I may know and do my duty. And if they cannot be beaten,—if our recent disaster is fatal,—do not fear to sacrifice yourself to your country. If the rebels are not to be beaten,—if this is your judgment in view of all the light you could get,—then every drop of blood henceforth shed in this quarrel will be wantonly, wickedly shed, and the guilt will rest heavily on the soul of every promoter of the crime. I pray you to decide quickly and let me know my duty.

If the Union is irrevocably gone, an armistice for 30, 60, 90, 120 days —better still for a year—ought at once to be proposed, with a view to a peaceful adjustment. Then congress should call a national convention, to meet at the earliest possible day. And there should be an immediate and mutual exchange or release of prisoners and a disbandment of forces. I do not consider myself at present a judge of anything but the public sentiment. That seems to me everywhere gathering and deepening against a prosecution of the war.
The gloom in the city is funeral,— for our dead at Bull Run were many, and they lie unburied yet. On every brow sits sullen, scorching, black despair. It would be easy to have Mr. Crittenden move any proposition that ought to be adopted, or to have it come from any proper quarter. The first point is to ascertain what can be done—which is the measure of our duty, and to do that very thing at the earliest moment.

This letter is written in the strictest confidence, and is for your eye alone. But you are at liberty to say to members of your Cabinet that you know I will second any move you may see fit to make. But do nothing timidly nor by halves.
Send me word what to do. I will live till I can hear it at all events.
If it is best for the country and for mankind that we make peace with the rebels at once and on their own terms, do not shrink even from that.
But bear in mind the greatest truth: "Whoso would lose his life for my sake shall save it." Do the thing that is the highest right, and tell me how I am to second you.

Yours in the depth of bitterness, HORACE GREELEY.

NOT IN HIS RIGHT MIND.

Horace Greeley's letter to Lincoln just after the battle of Bull Run, recently published, has called out Mr.
Samuel Sinclair, an old time business associate of Mr. Greeley, who says: "When that letter was written Mr. Greeley had been, and was still, suffering from brain fever; the entire letter, in my judgment, revealed that he was on the verge of insanity when he wrote it, and Lincoln must have estimated it at its proper value. As appears on its face, the letter was written to Lincoln in the strictest confidence, for his eye alone, and is it not doubtful whether Messrs. Hays and Nicolay are justified in now bringing it before the world, with all the internal evidence that the writer of it was of unsound mind when he wrote it?"

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems at first only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr.
King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all throat, lung and chest affections.
Trial bottles free at Dr. H. W. Cox's drug store. Large bottles $1.

To read all these advertisements of medicines upon medicines—when they enumerate with such particularity and minuteness of detail, all the diseases mankind, womankind, and even "babykind," are heir to.
How cheap one feels to commence what she supposes to be a fragile or
