Republican National Ticket.

For President,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
Of Indiana.

For Vice President:
LEVI P. MORTON,
Of New York.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.
Robert McLean, of Klamath County.
Wm. Kapus, of Multnomah County.
C. W. Fulton, of Clatsop County.

THE NOMINATIONS.

The strain that has kept the popular mind in tension the past week is at last relieved. The national convention has done its work in good shape, and will now take its place in history. Benjamin Harrison for president and Levi P. Morton for vice president, is the ticket put up for republican support. The delegates understood the delicacy of the task imposed on them, with half score unexceptionable candidates to choose from, and the friends of all these statesmen to please. In the convention the deliberations were harmonious, but considerable heat was displayed in the delegates' rooms and on the hotel corridors. The man from Maine had many ardent friends in the convention, and there was a wide spread feeling through the country that he deserved the presidency and would make a successful run for the white house. But his positive and reiterated declination stood in the way, and after several days' dalliance with his name by a little company of admirers, it was withdrawn at that statesman's request.

The choice made is a good one and receives hearty commendation from republicans. Harrison comes from good revolutionary stock, and has sterling merit and distinguished services to sustain his lineage. When the nomination was made on the eighth ballot, it was received with enthusiastic acclaim, and the verdict, "he's all right" was heard above the din. Beside the merit of the candidate his influence with his state is to be counted, and this is confirmatory of the wisdom of the choice. Mr. Morton is a man of large business interests and ripe experience in public affairs. He served two terms in congress with success and approval, and for four years filled the position of minister to France. Being a New Yorker he will bring strength to the ticket in that pivotal state. Two such candidates supported on a platform composed of sound republican principles, stand before the country as a tower of strength, and their election may be regarded as a moral certainty.

REPORTS from the east tell of intense heat, and in New York and Brooklyn several deaths from prostration are reported. These cities situated on that noble bay, with the Hudson river flowing into it from the cool north, should be refreshing in midsummer while inland places are sultry. But those immense masses of brick and stone that line their streets prevent all circulation of air, and absorb so much heat during the day that night brings no relief. On this western coast with the summer fevers mitigated by the mountain range, and frequent showers keeping the earth moist and the vegetation luxuriant, we are blessed with exemption from this prostrating heat, and can sympathize with those whose lives are not cast in such pleasant places.

THE Albany Democrat is treating its readers to correspondence from Calcutta. The editor finds the political situation at home so unsatisfactory that he removes his thoughts as far as possible from the contemplation of it.

TOO JOLLY BY HALF.

The California delegation to the Chicago convention are receiving hard knocks from the press of their state and severe censure generally. They seem to have been a jolly set of boys, and their intention was to carry things with a hurrah and have a good time. They laid in an ample supply of refreshments and carried their barkeep along. Two hundred and fifty cases of California wine, stronger drinks to mix in and cigars for all who asked, were spread along a box car in charge of an accomplished mixologist, and these good fellows from the Pacific slope kept open house during the entire trip. "Blame or bust" was their motto, and they supposed it would require a good head of steam to push her through. In the convention proceedings these members from the Golden state made a good share of noise, but they did not gain much weight in the deliberations, and they finally quieted down. Their hilarious advocacy harmed the cause they espoused, and their discomfiture will be a lesson to future delegations from that state to trust less to noise and revelry and more to correct business methods. The American people would prefer more seriousness in the selection of a presidential candidate.

ANOTHER of the chosen sons of the covenant is in trouble with the law authorities in Salt Lake. He is son to Angus Cannon, president of that state of Zion, and nephew to Geo. Q. Cannon, who sat as delegate from Utah for five successive terms. Young Angus bears a hard name for lawlessness, and when he offered himself as bail for a boon companion, and swore he was worth $8,000, when the truth is he is perfectly irresponsible, the prosecuting attorney held his hands on him for perjury, and he is now awaiting the action of the grand jury. These sons of the holy priesthood were brought up in contempt of fleshly government and now they are a hard crowd to restrain.

THE democrats in Washington territory are so well satisfied with delegate Voorhees' labors in congress in their behalf, that they desire his candidacy for a second term.
