

PERSONALS.

Geo. Townsend is removing to Spokane.
 Ex-Gov. Moody took the north bound train to-day.
 Recorder J. B. Starr went to Portland this morning.
 Mr. Fred Mascher, of Silverton, is again in quite poor health.
 Will Byars is home, brown as a berry, the result of harvesting.
 Miss Grace Scriber has returned from several days' visit to friends in Portland.
 J. H. Howell and wife, of the State house, have returned from the soda springs.
 Luther Myers is in from his farm near Silver Creek Falls with a sprained knee.
 Mrs. Alt. Coolidge is in the city from Colfax, W. T., on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Scriber, and family, and to relatives at Silverton.
 Prof. Price, the well known assayer of San Francisco, and Mr. Davis, a leading mining expert, of Virginia City, Nevada, were on the overland train this morning.

G. W. Richardson, of McCoy, came in yesterday to speak his appreciation of the JOURNAL. He did it by paying last year's subscription and a year in advance.
 John B. Kelly has gone to Pleasant Home, Multnomah county, his father's residence, to be present at the marriage of his sister, Miss Rosa, to Mr. Wm. Calvin, which happy event will take place on Sunday.

Fred Lockley, Will Torrey and Charley Gillingham are no longer tramp printers with no visible means of support, but have returned from Nestucca to steady work at the JOURNAL and state printing offices.

Mrs. String and two daughters have moved from Junction, Lane county, into the house previously occupied by Mr. Bush. They come to take advantage of Salem schools. Others of their neighbors contemplate coming for a like purpose.

Dr. J. H. Wood, of Portland, member of the firm of Wood & Fitzgerald, general agents of the Home Library Association, of Chicago, came up yesterday to visit Mr. O. N. Nelson, who has proved a very successful canvasser for the company.

M. D. Childers, sheriff of Klamath county, came in yesterday with a patient for the insane asylum. He reports a good deal of travel by tourists and others to Crater Lake. And men of means are purchasing heavily of lands especially of that that is well timbered.

Among the many eastern people in Salem this summer was Mrs. Jas. Brown, of Massachusetts, who has been making an extended visit with the family of A. Bush. She has gone to the Sound, on her way to her Eastern home. She was accompanied by Mr. Bush.

Dr. H. K. Hines a year ago gave notice that at the close of this year he should resign his position as editor of the Advocate. Hence his retirement. He is giving attention to more permanent literary work, probably a history of Methodism on the Pacific coast.

The New Dentist.

Dropping into the well equipped dental rooms formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. Byrd, a JOURNAL representative made the pleasant acquaintance of his successor, Dr. I. T. Maron. One patient was just departing and another soon came in, denoting that he is kept busy, and shortening the interview. The doctor is a very pleasant gentleman and makes a favorable impression. He has been practicing dentistry for the last six years at Dallas and leaves only that he may be in a larger town and build up a bigger practice. He has been here only a couple of weeks and is well pleased with the business prospects and the social spirit of the community. He will bring his wife and child over about the first of October and make a permanent residence. The family is of the kind that sustain churches and all good institutions.

Twelfth Anniversary.

The German Reform church in this city will celebrate its twelfth anniversary next Sunday. Preaching at 11 o'clock by Rev. J. Lange; in the afternoon at 3 o'clock the annual childrens festival will take place.

UNIVERSITY ADDITION.

Salem Steadily Expanding—Attractive, Cozy Houses, Fine Fruit and Gardens.

A Good Place for Pleasant Homes—Well Worth Seeing.

"Will you take a ride?" said Mr. J. H. Albert, cashier of the Capital National bank, as he drove up to the JOURNAL office, on his way home, last evening. As the writer had for some time intended to go and see the many improvements in the University addition to Salem, the offer was accepted without parley. Sufficient that escapes the personal observation of many of our readers is deemed worthy of a place in this paper that is designed to keep the public posted on the progress of the city and its surroundings.

The addition is 40 acres in extent, on the southeast of town, reaching from Summer street, where the long bridge crosses the creek on the west, to 12th street, almost to the railroad depot, on the east, and from Mill street on the north to the county road that runs from the railroad past the deaf mute school on the south. On account of the creek and the trees it looks like a retired suburb, while it is really a part of town, though so situated as to be virtually rural. A year ago there was not a house upon it with the exception of some of those fronting on Mill street. Now there are a number. Mr. Albert's fine house was moved from the corner of Court and Summer, where Mr. Krause's handsome villa is now being built. He has raised it, put a basement with a heater under it, with a register and ventilator in each room, rearranged and improved the interior and tastefully repainted the exterior. His garden and orchard are going to be very choice. In various portions he has put out 600 fruit trees.

In a finely sheltered spot near the house can be seen growing a number of trees from California. One is an orange tree of the Mediterranean sweet, a thornless variety that the writer has seen bearing ripe fruit in California when only two years old from the bud. If this weathers the winter it will probably have oranges on it next year. Then there are English walnut, fig, olive, Japan persimmon, nectarine, almond, apricot, pomegranate, peach, plum and prune trees making a wonderfully vigorous growth, notwithstanding that most were planted in the gravel without even ploughing the land. The fruit on such land is sure to be very sweet. One of the Bradshaw yearling plum trees, this first season, bore two well developed specimens of fruit.

A large collection of roses in full bloom were in Indiana a few months ago. Watermelons and muskmelons have been plentiful all the season and still abound. Corn stands higher than you can reach, furnishing "roasting ears" from early summer till frost shall come. The ground being gravely and naturally well drained is free from mud and dust, and garden comes very early. Peas were gathered on the 9th of May, and, where irrigated by the creek, others are now in bloom. Blackberries are still ripening. As water from the city works is carried to each lot, lawns and gardens are kept fresh all through the summer. White clover, sown on the gravel very late without any fertilizer, has set well. The creek at this driest time of the year shows a steady flow being fed by never failing springs of pure, cold water. Mr. Albert is clearing the creek of all brush and debris, and bringing water from one of the springs to his house for domestic purposes.

Among the residences noted were those of Rev. J. W. Harris, A. C. Roberts, architect, (who will sell his neat, tasty home and build on his other lots), A. M. Patrick, Chas. D. Purdy, J. G. Evans, Joseph Benoit, H. A. Thomas, A. Olinger, Mr. Olinger, Jr., Geo. Goodhue, Mr. Burke, Silas Howard, Geo. Howe, E. F. Hutchins, Bert Hatch and possibly others.

Mr. T. G. Albert has replaced his residence that was burned some time ago, by a very cozy cottage. He has already gathered peaches from his young trees.

Talking about peaches, Mr. Benoit was desirous of planting some so late last spring that the conscientious nurseryman would not take his money for some already leaving out, but made him a present of a number, saying that he would be lucky if half of them grew. These very trees are thrifty, and still growing rapidly. The University large boarding house is on this tract. From Mr. Albert's front porch it looks but a stone's throw from the fine residences of Hon. A. Bush and John Hughes in one direction, the Willamette University, after which the addition is named, the state house, the court house, from the tower of which the time of day can be seen on a clear day, the churches and the handsome residences of Ex-Gov. Moody, Mrs. E. N. Cook, the Breyman brothers, and other conspicuous buildings. The attractive new depot on the Oregon and California railroad, from which trains start for Portland and the east, and for California or Southern points, twice a day in each direction, is very accessible to all this property.

As others are contemplating building in this addition it might be well to mention that the lots are large, averaging about 80x160 feet. That some of them are particularly eligible for homes, containing knolls, splendid shade trees and occasionally the waters of the creek or a spring. Good streets are laid out through the property in various directions.

Mr. Albert's prices are reasonable and he gives exceedingly liberal terms to purchasers who build on his lots, making installments as easy as paying rent. He even assists some of them in the matter of building the house, if desired. This is sure to be a very desirable and popular portion of our state capital city. Go and see it.

Thrown From His Horse.

Mr. Ben Critchelow, the gentleman who has charge of the Statesman and Oregonian city route, is off duty to-day, having been thrown from his horse, Charley Henderson has taken his place for the few days that he will be laid up. It appears that Mr. Critchelow's horse became frightened at an old stove, and became unmanageable, near Dr. Port's residence where the accident occurred. The injury consists of a painful, but not necessarily dangerous flesh wound on the forehead, made by a kick from the horse. It will confine him to the house for several days and will almost unavoidably leave an ugly scar. Ben is very popular as a worthy young man and many regrets are expressed over his mishap. The accident occurred at 4 o'clock this morning. Dr. Port happened to see it and hastened to his assistance, caring for him until his physician Dr. L. Henderson could be obtained. Under his care he is resting easy. Dr. Port says the horse kicked viciously as though to kill. Had it struck an inch on either side of the wound it would probably have been fatal.

A Wider Field.

Rev. W. S. Harrington, D. D., at present presiding elder in the Methodist church of this district, has been elected editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate, the official organ of the denomination on this northwest coast. It is a responsible position of wide range, but the doctor, both by education and experience, is well able to fill it. The Advocate is one of our valued exchanges. Although he has been much of his time away from home on his arduous duties, the good people of Salem will regret to have him lose his residence here. He will go to his new duties next week. His daughters will probably remain and prosecute their studies at the university. The church, the temperance and other good causes will lose an able worker in Mrs. Harrington. May prosperity attend the doctor and his family.

Sorry he Came.

Some more mammoth plums have found their way to this office from the trees of W. B. Simpson. One egg plum measured 8 1/2 inches longitudinally, and the others are not far behind it in size.

It is truly said that some men would grumble at anything, even if going to be hung. One new comer on seeing this immense fruit began to complain that ever he had come to Oregon. On being asked if that style of fruit was not good enough for him, he heaved a deep sigh and lamented that he had not stopped in Chicago and made his fortune by selling Webfoot plums at ten to fifteen cents a piece. But he declared he had no idea that such fruit was raised here and so he was not to blame.

Eye, Ear and Deafness.

Dr. J. W. Culbertson, Principal Physician and Surgeon of the Central Surgical Infirmary, of Indianapolis, Indiana, will visit professionally, Saken, at the Chenekete Hotel Saturday to Monday, Sept. 8, 9, and 10. Portland Esmond House Sept. 1st to 6th. All afflicted with any disease of the Eye or Ear, Catarrh, Cross Eyes, Club foot, Spinal Curvature, Piles, Rupture or Chronic Diseases, etc., can consult him free of charge. Artificial eyes inserted. Remember the dates. 161-165.

LOCAL NOTES.

"I scream?" No; ice cream party to-night.
 Call on Winters & Thomas for the best groceries in town.
 Painless dental operations at Dr. T. C. Smith's, 92 State street.

Cream soda, ice cream soda, milk shakes, lemonades, at Strong & Co.'s
 Willamette Assembly, K. of L. meets to-night in Good Templar hall.
 The sheriff of Josephine county brought in a very violent lunatic yesterday.

Who said the 2nd regimental band was dead? Hear it toot to-night on Wilson avenue.
 W. M. Sargent and wife are very anxious over the illness of their child that has had an attack of cholera infantum.

When out of machine oil use kerosene and fresh lard, equal parts. This is a good substitute.
 The Sisters' school opened on the 27th of this month. Some understood that it would commence on the 27th of next month.

The sky is cloudy. Such a rain as comes at this time of year would clear and purify the atmosphere, lay the dust and do no particular damage.
 For good candies, ice cold lemonade and fruit, call at Frank O'Donald's, late J. H. McCormick's, next door to the armory, on Commercial, near High. 8-28-1-w.

The Billputian paper carrier ran, barefooted, through a pile of ashes carelessly left burning all night and part of the next day, and he is temporarily laid up for repairs.
 The children of the Orphans Home are thanked for a bountiful supply of as large blackberries as we ever saw. Such is testimony of all in the office who freely sampled them.

The Monroe House is having a big run of custom these days. They have a quiet house, no bar, and no Chinamen in the kitchen. It is home like in its style and cooking.
 Nora Froman, 14-year-old daughter of Thomas Eroman, living three miles east of Albany, died yesterday of diphtheria. This is the second child lost recently in this family from this disease.

The Oregon Railroad and Navigation company evidently realize that there will be a large river trade this fall and winter, and are extending their warehouse and shipping facilities on their Willamette wharf at this place.
 The first lawn party of the fall season will be held to-night at the residence of Prof. McElroy, Court street, opposite the State house. A cordial invitation is given to all to be present to enjoy a social time, ice cream, cake, fruit and music. Be sure and go.

Ben Critchelow's horse ran nearly to the pen before it was caught. Probably it knew its assault with intent to commit murder was a criminal offence and was willing to surrender to the authorities without putting the community to the expense of a trial. Pity some bipeds have not that much horse sense.

Private advices say that the bottom has fallen out of the Los Angeles boom. And now we learn that a firm of enterprising merchant tailors of San Francisco and Los Angeles, is in Portland. A store has been rented and the firm will open up there between the 5th and 10th of November with a fine stock of goods. Portland is coming to the front.

Strong & Co. are smart. They hang a thermometer outside their restaurant and ice cream parlors. A fellow goes by on these hot days almost persuaded that it is justifiable to indulge in the cool luxury. Seeing the mercury going up towards 90 he is convinced. If his best girl is with him she has but to glance at the figures, and he takes the hint and leads her in.

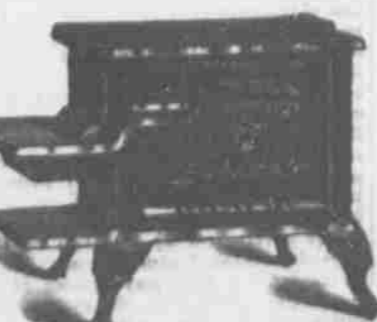

Will Remain Another Week.
 Mrs. DePrens will remain another week in Salem, and can be consulted during the day at Mrs. Riely's, High street. All persons desirous of entering the class next Monday will make early application. Private instructions, if desired. Consultation free. All interested in what Christian Science teaches are invited to a "parlor talk" on Sunday, at 5 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. Asa McCully. 8-25-1-w.

Paying up lively.
 It is very gratifying to see the way that the former friends of the JOURNAL are coming in and paying up for their paper without solicitation. And with wheat at 70 cents and still climbing, why should they not?
