WASHINGTON A STATE.

THE PRESIDENT SIGNS THE ADMISSION PROCLAMATION

The Legislature Receive the News With Cheers—Election of Senators Next Week. Scenes of Excitement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Secretary Blaine on Monday telegraphed the territorial and state governors of Washington that the president had signed the proclamation declaring the territory to be a state at 5:27 p. m. After a long preamble reciting the act providing for the constitution and admission of Washington as a state, and the measures taken by the people to carry out its provisions, the proclamation is as follows:

"Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America, do, in accordance with the provisions of the acts of congress aforesaid, declare and proclaim the fact that the conditions imposed by congress on the state of Washington to entitle the state to admission to the Union have been ratified and accepted, and that the admission of said state into the Union is now complete."

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 13. The Senate and House met Monday afternoon and proceeded to elect minor officers. Later, while the House was debating a joint resolution to hold a night session and proceed with the election of United States senators, a message was received from Governor Moore, announcing the receipt of a dispatch from Secretary Blaine stating that the President had signed the admission proclamation.

Instantly every member sprang to his feet, and after some minutes, when order was restored, Tucker, an old pioneer, rose and in a brief speech, his voice trembling with emotion, congratulated the legislature and the people on the admission.

In the Senate the proclamation was also received with continued cheering and the wildest enthusiasm. A telegram was received from Congressman Wilson announcing that he was present when the message was signed.

In view of the proclamation the resolution to elect senators to-night was laid on the table and it is generally understood no election will take place until November 19th. If the election had taken place this evening, ex-Delegate John Allen and ex-Governor Watson C. Squire would certainly have been chosen on the first ballot. From present appearances they will be chosen whenever the election occurs. The inauguration of the new state officers will be held next Monday. Elaborate preparations for the event are being made.

THE PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

Opening of the Convention of the National Grange at Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 13.—The national grange of the Patrons of Husbandry was called to order at 11 a. m. to-day in the assembly chamber of the capital building by Worthy Master F. H. Brigham, of Ohio, Worthy Master Russell and wife, of Washington, were inaugurated and duly welcomed as representatives of the new state grange of Washington. The delegates from the Eastern states were presented with souvenirs by the state grange of California. At the afternoon session, Worthy Master Brigham delivered the annual address. He strongly favored further legislation against food adulteration, and recommends greater unity on the part of those opposed to intemperance, and says that the liquor influence cannot be broken until there is such a combination. There should be, he said, more stringent laws against blackmail, and to protect innocent purchasers of patented articles, and the consequent annoyance of litigation. The speaker also referred to the evils arising from the abuse of the ballot box. He favored the Australian system of voting. The reports from the different officers were received and filed. To-morrow afternoon an address of welcome will be made by E. W. Davis, master of the California state grange. The response will be made by Worthy Master Brigham.

Storms in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, November 13.—Dispatches from southern and western Kansas state that a blizzard is sweeping over that country. The wind turned to the north early in the evening and brought with it snow, which in some localities is drifting badly. At Arkansas City, near the Indian territory line, a regular norther is reported. At Syracuse the blizzard is at its height. Abilene reports severe wind and thick snow.

MORE SNOW.

The Terrible Suffering in Northeastern New Mexico

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 13.—It is again storming to-day along the line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road east of the Santa Fe spur of the Rockies, and the situation on the thickly settled stock ranges in the extreme northeastern corner of New Mexico, had enough for ten days past, continues to grow worse. The snow continues to fall and now it is little less than three feet deep. It has drifted and crusted, and thousands of head of stock have perished.

Fifteen or twenty stockmen and shepherds are missing. The bodies of six men have been recovered, they having crawled into snow drifts and died, and it is believed that many more have perished. No estimate of the loss of life and property damaged can now be made.

The affected district comprises a region east of Springer, N. M., and bordering on Colorado and Texas and the Panhandle, about seventy-five miles wide and twice as long. There is no general suffering among the stock of New Mexico, owing to these storms east of the Gloria range.

All coast-bound trains are from six to ten hours late to-day.

JIMMY HOPE.

The Bank Burglar Asks to be Released From Prison.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—An application was made to the General Sessions this afternoon for the release of the bank burglar, Jimmy Hope, who is under indictment for the Manhattan bank robbery in 1878, and who was recently arrested just after his discharge from the State prison, where he had completed his sentence for the crime which caused his arrest in California and the somewhat famous habens corpus proceedings in the California courts. District Attorney Fellows said, opposing the motion, that although the witnesses against Hope in the Manhattan bank case are dead, and the testimony against him comparatively valueless, still he held the proceedings irregular. The decision was postponed.

THE REWARD OF HONESTY.

A Young Man Finds $1040 and Gets $20 of It.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11.—On Saturday last a young man engaged in plowing on a piece of unused ground belonging to Dave Hudson twelve miles east of Galt, discovered something gleaming in the furrow at his feet. Investigation showed that the shining substances were $20 pieces. The young man was of course highly elated, and instead of doing as most men would have done he left his team in the field and reported his find at Hudson's house.

The farmer went with the young man to the spot, and a little search revealed a rich find. An old can almost disintegrated with rust was found and within it was found $1040 in gold. Hudson took the coin home, and the plowman plowed his weary way.

When the latter reached the house after his day's labor, Hudson handed him $29 as a reward for his honesty.

A Dye-in-the-Wool Republican.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—In an interview with a number of the leading postmasters of the country here recently, Postmaster-General Wanamaker is reported to have said: "I am not a mugwump in any sense of the word, gentleman, but a dyed-in-the-wool republican, and I propose to benefit the postal service by every means that lies in my power. Still, politics will have no effect in determining my course, but I want to say to you, democrats and republicans alike, that there is a necessity for radical reform in the railway mail service, it matters not to me if a man can talk all day about cube and square root, theorems in geometry and climatic effects in Africa or Asia, so long as he does not thoroughly know the section of country through which his postal car is running. I would sooner have a postal clerk who knows every nook and corner in his district than some theorist who can tell about zones and geographical centers remote from his own country, and I shall recommend to congress that the civil service examiners be modified to this extent."
