A SEARCH FOR FACTS.
THE EVIDENCE IN THE CRONIN CASE.

Efforts to Connect the Accused Man With the Crime—Curious Evidence.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—At the opening of the Cronin trial, State's Attorney Longenecker offered the hair which the experts had examined, in evidence, but did not offer the other specimens, such as the blood stains and the pieces of wood.

Forrest, for the defense, demanded that the chips be put in also and that the hair be left in the custody of the witness chair.

This led to a bitter dispute between the opposing council, which was finally dropped and Salesman Hatfield, who sold the furniture to "J. S. Simons," was called to the witness chair.

He positively identified the frame of the satchel found in the sewer on Friday as corresponding in size to the one which he sold to "Simons," and stated that the material of the cover and of the handle were the same. The frame was then admitted in evidence.

Pauline Hortel, a washerwoman, testified that she passed the Carlson cottage between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock on the night of the murder. She saw a white horse drawing a buggy, in which there were three men, driven up to the cottage. The larger man got out of the buggy, and taking a satchel or box out of the buggy entered the cottage. The driver of the white horse at once turned around and drove back toward Chicago. The witness stated she then heard some one crying, "Oh God!" and the sound of a hard blow and of somebody falling.

McKinnon said that Burke's ticket to Liverpool bore the name of W. C. Caspar. After a time he admitted that his name was Burke and that he was sometimes called Delaney. Burke said that he came from Hancock, Mich., where he had been working.

Henry Plausie, a salesman in a shirt store at Chicago, testified that on the morning after the murder a man came into the store and bought a shirt. When he asked if the salesman thought the sleeves large enough Plausie suggested that he take his coat off and be measured. The man refused in a vehement manner to do this. Then he took the shirt and went across the street, returning soon after with another man, younger and smaller, who also bought a shirt. Plausie said his first customer was prisoner Burke and identified a photograph of "Cooney the Fox" as the other.

A MICHIGAN TRAGEDY.

Narrow Escape of a Murderer From Being Lynched.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 14.—At Matchwood last night John McDonald went to Duncan Beveridge to talk over some trouble they had had about a homestead claim. During the conversation the men got excited and McDonald pulled a revolver and shot Beveridge, wounding him fatally. He then shot Mrs. Beveridge in the hip, after which he emptied the remaining chambers into a guest of Mrs. Beveridge, inflicting a fatal wound. A posse later on captured McDonald and was going to lynch him, but better counsels prevailed, and he was turned over to the sheriff this afternoon.

Kills an Old Man.

VINCENNES, Ind., Nov. 14.—John Bullock was tried in the Sullivan Circuit court for the murder of Farmer, the restaurant man, who was found dead on the sidewalk one Sunday morning in October. The testimony showed that Bullock threw a turpin that struck the old man on the forehead, killing him instantly. Bullock is a baseball player and is an expert in throwing missiles with much force. The jury brought in a compromise verdict for manslaughter and sent Bullock to the Sullivan county jail for eight months.

An Unexpected Result.

BROWN SPRINGS WY. T., Nov. 14.—Michael Harvey met with disastrous results on Monday in trying an old plan of starting a balky team. The horses refused to haul and Harvey put a bunch of hay under them and lighted it up. The team started, but as the wagon passed over the fire the load ignited. The wagon and hay were consumed, the horses were burned to death and Harvey was seriously blistered.

WORKING FOR THE FAIR.

A Bill to be Offered to Congress to Make Chicago the Site.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—At a meeting of the committee on congressional action held yesterday, a bill submitted by Congressman Payson was indorsed as one to be presented to the coming session of congress to secure the location of the world's fair at Chicago. The title of the bill is, "A bill relative to the celebrating of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, by holding an exposition of the arts, industries, manufactures and products of the world in the city of Chicago and the state of Illinois in the year 1892."

The bill recites the reason for holding such an exposition in Chicago, and sets particular emphasis upon the fact that Chicago asks of the United States government no appropriations or loan for the specific purpose of such exposition. It provides that all articles and goods imported for the exhibit shall be admitted free of duty, and the only appropriation asked for is that of $50,000, which is to be expended under the direction of the secretary of the treasury for all purposes connected with the admission of foreign goods for the exposition. The bill also provides, "that there shall be admitted to said exhibition by the government from its executive department, the Smithsonian Institute and the National museum such articles and materials as illustrate function and administrative facilities of the government in time of peace and its resources as a war power tending to demonstrate the nature of our institutions and their adaptation to the wants of the people."

A NOVEL ADVERTISING SCHEME.
Willing to Pay $100,000 a Year for Backs of Postage Stamps.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—W. J. Arkell, the proprietor of Judge, has on foot rather a unique scheme for advertising. He thinks that he could afford to pay the government of the United States $100,000 a year for the privilege of using the backs of postage stamps for advertising purposes, having satisfied himself as to the safety of the offer by interviews with some of the best advertisers in this and the old country. The attorney for Arkell proceeded to Washington. "I consulted the postmaster general regarding the matter," but he feared that the statutes would stand in the way and prevent any such sale. He decided to examine into the matter and see what could be done, however. Arkell's idea is to print some one advertisement of a reputable house on a certain part of the stamp for a certain time, or on all during a limited period, and follow this up by printing another advertisement for another period. The advertisements will be printed in delicate colored ink before the stamps are gummed, and the result would be that every user of postage stamps would have the opportunity to read something on its back before he licked it. Arkell will leave for Washington to-morrow, and will make a formal offer of $100,000 a year for a year's contract.

Oregon City Notes.

OREGON CITY, Nov. 14.—A slight reduction in the price for weaving two lines of blankets in the Oregon City manufacturing company's woolen mill brought on a strike of the weavers yesterday at noon, and forty hands went out. During the afternoon the old rates were restored, and this morning the looms were again started.

Twenty Full-Grown Buffaloes.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14.—Buffalo Jones, of Garden City, Kas., has secured twenty full-grown buffaloes, which will be shipped to-morrow to Salt Lake City, U. T. They were secured on Stony mountain after very exciting chases. They are said to be exceptionally fine specimens.

Dan'l Sully, the actor, received word last evening at Kansas City, through his attorney at his home in Newport, R. I., that they had been advised of the death of his uncle in Dublin, Ireland, who leaves the bulk of an immense property to the actor.

Queen Victoria is said to feel very much hurt because her books have never taken a high place in the literary world. She forgets that the domain of letters is a republic.

Buffalo Bill, who is an expert in Indians, says that he admires the French son.
