INTERESTING LECTURE.—Lecture at the Christian church, Tuesday evening, Dec. 17th, by Rev. Alphonzo LeRoy, pastor of the Baptist church of Brownsville, Or. Subject: "Character Illustrated." Following is a clipping from a Buffalo, N. Y., paper, where Mr. LeRoy was known for years: "The Rev. A. LeRoy, who took part in the celebrated 'Charge of the Light Brigade' at Balaklava, as an attached member of the 11th Hussars, lectured before a large and appreciative audience, giving interesting and personal experiences. He is still hale and hearty, though his hair and beard have seen the snows of 56 years. The tall, erect figure seems to have borne well the hardships of the Crimea, receiving both a sabre and bayonet wound, yet the evil effects are not perceptible. His father was a surgeon in the French army. Alphonzo was educated at Queen's college, Cambridge, at the age of 21, and joined his father as aide-de-camp in a surgical corps detailed for duty in the Crimea. Mr. LeRoy left the army in 1859, and came to this country, where he married and settled down. He is a graduate of the Hamilton Theological Seminary in connection with the Madison University, and has been chaplain of the Auburn, N. Y., state prison. Testimonials of the highest character come to us from the clergy and the press of New York. We bespeak for him the future he deserves. Admission 25 cents.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.—Sheriff E. M. Croisan received a telegram from the authorities at Vancouver, this morning, stating that Perry, the insane soldier, had returned to Vancouver and given himself up. Perry jumped from the passenger train near Pendleton on the 6th, while the train was moving at the rate of forty miles per hour. He was in charge of two fellow comrades who were taking Perry to the National Soldiers' Institute Asylum at Washington. He managed to make his way from Pendleton to Salem without a cent of money, and in a very short time. He will be started to Washington again soon, and more precautions used.

A SLIGHT CHANGE.—Saturday quite an amount of local reading matter was crowded out, as well as two columns of telegraph matter, and to hereafter avoid this trouble the managers of the JOURNAL have decided to run the society news on Friday evening. There is not so much local news on Friday, and on Saturday there is a general rush. The change will only be of a temporary nature however, as the CAPITAL JOURNAL will appear before its readers in a larger form as soon as arrangements can be completed. Our esteemed society contributors will please take due notice of this change, and have all copy reach the office not later if possible than ten a. m. on Friday evening of each week.

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.—1890 will be the most prosperous year Salem will ever know. The big passenger depot on Front street; the motor line clear around the city and to Silverton, unloading the golden grain and vast wealth of products from as rich a section as Oregon, or any other state has, into her (Salem's) lap. And two railroads to the ocean, with a transcontinental connection secured; street car lines on all her principal streets; an electric street car line to the Odd Fellows' cemetery; the principal streets paved; we will have a large creamery, a good woolen mill in operation and a half-dozen good water powers utilized for running machinery.

A VALUABLE PATENT.—A few days ago Mr. D. H. Sherwood, of North Salem, received a patent on his new improved washing machine. Mr. Sherwood has spent some fifteen years on this machine before completing it. It is one of the most complete and neatly operated machines ever made. He will soon have some of the machines made and placed on the market. Every family should have one, as it will save many a hard day's work for those who have washing to do.

The Eugene City Guard wants a new court house, and says: "It seems like thrashing over old straw to again call the attention of the citizens and taxpayers of Lane county to the fact that they are the owners of a court house and a jail that are a disgrace to the wealth and intelligence of the county."

GOOD ADVICE.—The Albany Democrat gives good advice when it says: "The papers of a city should pull together for their city; but this is a common-sense idea and there is no harm done in giving a neighbor a good word." This is what Salem wants and what the JOURNAL would like to bring about.

SPECIAL AGENT.—Hon. H. P. Farhart, secretary and manager of the Northwest Fire and Marine Insurance company, of Portland, Oregon, has appointed Isaac A. Manning, of the Willamette Investment Co., special agent for his company for Marion county, with office at Salem.

AT THE METROPOLIS.—Among those who viewed the attractions of Portland, yesterday, were: J. M. Rowland, Dr. Mark S. Skiff, I. Vandusen, J. L. Mitchell and W. A. Dunlap.

MAN SHOT NEAR SUBLIMITY.

Mr. Wm. Riggs' Shot Dead by Oran Hammond—Foul Play Suspected.

Yesterday afternoon about three o'clock, a terrible tragedy occurred near Sublimity, the details of which are of a most shocking character. The circumstances were about as follows: Mr. Thos. Hammond and his twelve year old son, Oran, who live at Stayton, went to the farm of Mr. Hammond's father two and one-half miles northeast of Sublimity. There they were joined by Mr. Wm. Riggs, whose farm joins the Hammond place. No particulars are known except the story of Mr. Hammond, which is as follows: A band of quail was started up and Mr. Hammond shot one bird. Then his son wished to have a shot at the rest. To this the father consented, and as he and Mr. Riggs were directing the boy how to shoot, the latter stood to the left of the boy, and almost at the end of the gun. As the boy raised the piece to fire the father says he was very nervous, not being used to shooting, and as the bird flew to the left the boy hastily and excitedly fired, lodging the entire charge in the right side of Mr. Riggs' head and jaw, blowing one side of his head entirely off, and causing instant death. Coroner D.C. Byland of Woodburn, was telegraphed for, but as he had not appeared last evening, an inquest was held before Cyrus Clark, justice of the peace. A jury was empaneled, composed of the following named gentlemen: James Taylor, Newt LeCroix, N. Lambert, Pat Lambert, Ves Lambert, and Geo. Carter. The examining physician was Dr. Hunter. The verdict of the jury was given as "deceased met death by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Oran Hammond."

Immediately after the inquest both Mr. Hammond and his son were arrested and held to await examination this afternoon at 2:30 on the charge of manslaughter. This action was brought about by the friends of Mr. Riggs declaring that he and Mr. Hammond had had an altercation at Sublimity Sunday morning, caused by Riggs' stock running on the Hammond farm without consent. The only witnesses to the terrible tragedy were Mr. Hammond and his son, hence any evidence or testimony against him must necessarily be of a circumstantial nature. Hammond denies that he and Riggs had ever had any trouble, and emphatically declares his innocence of the bloody deed.

In an interview with Mr. Hammond he insists that if he had intended to commit the tragedy he would not have been so careless as to take his young son with him. He feels perfectly easy as to the outcome of the matter in so far as fastening any blame to him or his son, except, perhaps that they may have been somewhat careless in the use of their gun.

It was discovered by those whom Mr. Hammond called to the scene where he had left his boy with the dead man, while he went to Mr. Riggs' home for help, that both barrels of the gun were still loaded. This fact led to the suspicions which caused Mr. Hammond's arrest. What could have been the motive for reloading the gun, or whether other weapons played a part in the tragedy is unknown. The whole thing is a terrible blow to the community in which it occurred, and all join in the hope that the verdict of the coroner's jury may not be reversed. Both the gentlemen seem to be highly respected by all their neighbors, and the outcome of the case will be looked for with intense interest. The JOURNAL can be looked to for a full account of the case.

BETTER MAIL FACILITIES IN OREGON.—The postmaster general, in response to recommendation of Representative Hermann, has re-established the postoffice at Dilley, in Washington county, Or., and appointed Wm. M. McLeod as postmaster. The department has now under consideration the proposition recently argued by Mr. Hermann and represented by him to be of great interest to the people of Washington county and also Columbia county, Or., and which is the establishment of a tri-weekly mail service between Buxton and Verona, a route now unrepresented, and then to increase the present mail service from St. Helens to Verona, in Columbia county, and from Greenville in Washington county to Verona, to a tri-weekly service, the mails to arrive at the town of Verona on one and the same day from each of these terminal offices. This change in the mail service, Mr. Hermann asserts, will not only afford better communication with the rapidly increasing settlement back from the Columbia river, but also expedite the whole service in that region. Oregon's representatives at the capital seem to be trying to get the mail service of the state in a laudible form, and they have the support of the whole people in their efforts.

Where are you going my pretty maid? I'm going to Wright's kind sit to trade. Why do you go there my pretty maid? His store is the biggest sir, she said. But how are his prices my pretty maid? They're lower than anyone else has made. Can I go with you my pretty maid? Pleased with your company sir she said. So then these two, the man and the maid, went hurrying off to J. G. Wright's to trade. And when the man went home, he said, I've the very best bargain, maid.

GRANGE NOTES.

Turner Grange, at the regular meeting, held Saturday, December 14th, adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That Turner Grange opposes the building of an armory at the expense of the tax-payers of Marion county.

Resolved, That we oppose advertising town or county at public expense.

Resolved, That Turner Grange favors the improvement of public roads at public expense, and that it is short-sighted policy for farmers to oppose good roads.

From the discussion we glean that the grange is opposed to the whole militia law and organization. And farmers whose sons are militia men, will be glad when their time of enlistment expires. It is a waste of time and throwing away of money to maintain it. The rights of the laborers are in jeopardy, when great corporations get their favorites into power with the militia to enforce so-called law and order—when corporations are called on to pay their debts.

The grange proposes to let the real estate dealers and those who are legitimate shakers, and railroads, which want business, do their own advertising; That the building of roads on which the farmer could draw one ton of grain at any time of the year would be of more benefit to the farmers of Marion county than the railroads are. But few of the speakers were willing to let Salem control the road making. The improvement should commence at our end of the line. Many are afraid that their sections would never be blessed with gravel roads since it would cost so much. Others thought that the five cents on each bushel of grain, that would be saved on storage, would soon pay back all the tax invested in the improvement. Farmers are compelled to store grain in the summer, since hauling is out of the question in winter.
