

the obstruction was cleared. At the last moment the lieutenant and his men rushed below and put down the hatch. A instant later, the boat, running at a speed of nineteen knots struck the boom. The concussion was terrific and all the occupants of the craft were thrown so violently against the sides of the boat that they were partially bruised. It seemed for a second as though the expectations of Lieutenant Sturdee would be realized and the boat force its way through the boom. She jumped nearly clear, but before she got through the hawser caught her and pressed her against the big spike of the boom, which held her like a vice and tore her bottom badly. The boat on one leg began to make water. The seamen worked at her some time before she could be got free; then they started for the beach, but the boat foundered before reaching it, the crew being taken off by boats from shore. There was much excitement among the spectators, and though Lieutenant Sturdee's views have been disproved, his bravery and that of his companions was highly praised. The admiralty officials are greatly pleased with the proof of the efficiency of the boom.

THE CHILIAN OUTRAGES.

THE CHILIAN QUESTION, CHANCE FOR WAR, TO MUCH WINE, THEY BLEW OUT THE GAS, ALLIANCE SCHEME, THE SEARLES WILL CASE, FOREIGN AND STATE NEWS.

QUEEN VICTORIA IS ILL.
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—It is rumored here that Queen Victoria is ill and cannot live through the night.

THE RUMOR DENIED.
LONDON, Oct. 24.—A dispatch from Balmoral where the queen is now sojourning says: The queen walked out yesterday morning and in the afternoon took her usual drive. The health of her majesty is perfect as far as is known here.

THE CHILIAN OUTRAGE.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Secretary Tracy said this morning that further study of the epher dispatch received from Capt. Schley of the Baltimore on Thursday in regard to the recent assault on American sailors at Valparaiso showed in addition to killing of one man and seriously wounding six others, that thirty-five other American seamen were arrested and detained by Chilean authorities at the same time and they were afterwards examined and dismissed, there being no proof they had been guilty of any misbehavior. It appears that now up to date the Chilean authorities have taken no steps to arrest and punish the Chileans responsible for the affair. An official thoroughly familiar with all the facts in possession of the government in regard to the Valparaiso affair pointed out this morning that it was altogether different in its material features from the Italian affair at New Orleans, the men attacked were in the uniform of the United States government and were attacked simply because they were Americans. Secretary Tracy had an interview with the President this morning in regard to the matter but refused positively to say what plan of action has been agreed upon. It is known that the administration regards the situation as most serious. While no other vessel has been ordered to proceed to Chili to enforce the demand for reparation that will probably be made, it is likely the naval force in Chilean waters will be speedily reinforced unless this government receives proper assurance from the Chilean government that proper justice will be meted out to offenders. Minister Egan has been advised of the views of the Chilean government.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24.—The Herald's correspondent says he is informed on the highest authority that the government would take a strong and aggressive position on the Chilean question. President Harrison was said to be the most outspoken advocate of this course. It was in a tone of exceeding bitterness that he referred to Chili's continued hostility to the United States. He said the time had come when we must teach the Chilean people that our patience in dealing with them is exhausted. He instanced their treatment of Minister Egan. The conference lasted from 3:30 till 6 o'clock. It was decided that our national honor demanded that we should act promptly and with corresponding firmness. At the close of the conference a cable dispatch was sent to Minister Egan at Santiago, instructing him to communicate to the Chilean provision at government the indignation of the government at the assault upon the sailor of the Baltimore. It further instructed him to demand:

First—An indemnity in money, to be paid to the families of the sailors killed and to the families of the wounded as may die.

Second—The arrest and punishment of the participants in the assault and Third—Suitable apology to the United States.

The tone of the dispatch indicates that the administration will brook no delay in securing a settlement. Chili must do what she is asked to do, and do it speedily. The situation is regarded as one of extreme gravity.

CHANCE FOR WAR.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Interest in international difficulties are likely to ensue as a result of the recent cowardly attack on American men-of-war-men in the city of Valparaiso. Captain Schley, of the United States steamship Baltimore, has called the navy department the details of the affair, from which it appears that the attack was both cowardly and uncalculated. Secretary Tracy laid the report before the president, and it will be considered at the cabinet meeting. The opinion is prevalent that Minister Egan will be instructed to demand immediate reparation and indemnity from the Chilean government. A correspondent reports the president as having said: "I mean to have no more of this business from any nation, and the demand upon Chili must be immediate and prompt."

Captain Schley informed the secretary in his report that it has become impossible for American officers to go ashore without being in-sulted, and that hereafter they mean to go armed and to resist insults in the proper way. "We are losing our respect by permitting these things," says Schley, "and the younger officers are wild with rage, and can't be much longer restrained." "I do not want them to be further restrained," said Secretary Tracy to one of the commodores, "and I have told Schley so." Therefore, any day may bring news of a serious encounter between Americans and the Chilean mob, instigated and secretly encouraged, it is believed here, by persons high in authority there.

TWO MUCH WINE.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 24.—Louis S. Wilde, teller of the St. Paul Trust Company, was found by the officers of the company yesterday to be a defaulter in the sum of $7000. He is also largely in debt to merchants of the city. He is said to have been running with a fast set lately, and a large part of the money went for poker and wine. Wilde went on his regular vacation to the home of his parents at Lockport, N. Y., early in September, but has failed to return. The loss falls upon the American Surety Company, which was on Wilde's bond.

THEY BLEW OUT THE GAS.
TERRY HAUTE, Oct. 24.—Lucy Jewett and Sarah Prather of Paris, Ill., were both found dead in bed at a hotel this morning. They blew out the gas.

AN ALLIANCE SCHEME.
SALINA, Kan., Oct. 24.—Again yesterday the gigantic co-operative scheme was before the farmers' alliance convention here. The committee appointed to investigate and report upon the scheme reported unfavorably. The report, however, was not accepted in the convention, so it is probable it will go through all right. The secretary of the alliance exchange company, which does $5,000,000 worth of business a year in this state, says it will be an easy thing to throw all the business into the new organization. In addition to this, the alliance's position is to control absolutely the grain business of the state. In every county where the alliance will pledge support to a store manager will be appointed and goods supplied by the National Union company for a share of the profits. The National Union company is the outgrowth of the Ocala convention. The scheme was sprung then and approved by President Polk. Three months later a meeting of capitalists was held in New York City, a company formed, and $3,000,000 of capital stock subscribed. It is probable the work of appointing agents will begin immediately, and the first stores established the first of next January.

SALINA, Kan., Oct. 24.—At yesterday session of the farmer's alliance convention the National union co-operative scheme was adopted by an overwhelming vote. Insurance

THE ENGLISH FLOODS.
LONDON, Oct. 24.—A fire in Mark Brown's wharf, Tooley street, which broke out on Monday morning, Oct. 15th, has not yet been extinguished. This makes about the nineteenth day it has been burning. During that time 120 tons of debris have been removed from the interior of the burned warehouses. But a large mass of burning material still remains there. The loss incurred in consequence of this blaze is simply enormous. From all parts of the provinces come reports announcing the tremendous amount of damage done by floods. In many cases the water is still rising, and bids fair to continue for some time to come. In different parts of the country farms are submerged and the inhabitants have been compelled to seek refuge on the upper floor of their houses. The Thames continues to rise, and is now five feet above its normal high water mark. A portion of the royal gardens and the queen's drive at Windsor is flooded.

THE RUSSIAN FAMINE.
LONDON, Oct. 24.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Standard says the approach of frost has caused a renewal of the distress. The Novosti estimate that 2,000,000 people are without food, statistics prove conclusively in many places specters of starvation are abroad.

Remarkable Rescue.
Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption, and that no medicine could cure her. Her husband suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself cured and well, now does her own housework. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at Fry's drugstore, 225 Commercial street. ONE AND ONE.

The last red glimmer of the sun
Shines through the open door,
And lies in struggling bars upon
The wall worn school house floor.
Before the grave young master's chair
A weeping maiden stands,
With a fervent, panted air
"I do not want to go."
"It's no use," she said, "to try;
I cannot get it right."
"See here," the master said, and held
The figures to her down the slide
"This problem that has kept you here
Had long ago been done
Had you not said in adding, dear,
That one and one make one."
"But that's that!" she stopped confused;
Her blue eyes sought the floor.
A look was on the master's face
She had not seen before.
"Not quite, my dear," he gently said,
"That is, in some like this
But yet, I think, there are times when
Two will not be for amiss."

And then, but, what you undertake
And tell just what was said?
Full often has the tale been told
Since Eve and Adam fell.
The logic that the master used
To make the matter plain
Was used by man since earth began.
And seldom used in vain.

The swaying trees a tale of love
Seemed whispering to the brook,
As man and maid, adown the glade
Their homeward journey took.
Now, hand in hand, they pass life's
School.
The knottiest problem done,
They've solved it by the good old rule
Of "One and one make one."

The Horseshoe Superstition.
The custom of nailing a horseshoe over the door of a house or other building as a protection against evil spirits and as an assurance of good luck is widely spread over the United States and England. It also flourishes among the Teutonic and Scandinavian races, and has been recognized as far east as Hindoostan. The horseshoe unites within itself three lucky elements—it is crescent shaped, it has been, or is to be, in contact with a horse, and is made of iron.

Popular superstition has for ages endowed iron with protecting powers. The Romans are known to have driven nails into the doors and the walls of their houses as an antidote or as a preventive of the plague. The Arab who is overtaken by a simoon in the desert seeks to propitiate the Jinns by shrieking "Iron! Iron!"

Since time out of memory the Scandinavians have sought to exercise the river spirit, Neekaw, by sticking an open knife in the bottom of the boat, or driving a nail in the mast or oar. In the mythology of England the horseshoe has always been considered a "luck bringer."—St. Louis Republic.

Happy Hostess.

Deafness Can't be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and it is not until an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking F. J. CHENEY'S Cure.

"German Syrup"

A Cough For children a medicine should be absolutely reliable. A mother must be able to pin her faith to it as to her Bible. It must contain nothing violent, uncertain, or dangerous. It must be standard in material and manufacture. It must be plain and simple to administer; easy and pleasant to take. The child must like it. It must be prompt in action, giving immediate relief, as children's troubles come quick, grow fast, and end fatally or otherwise in a very short time. It must not only relieve quick but bring them around quick, as children chafe and fret and spoil their constitutions under long confinement. It must do its work in moderate doses. A large quantity of medicine in a child is not desirable. It must not interfere with the child's spirits, appetite or general health. These things suit old as well as young folks, and make Boschee's German Syrup the favorite family medicine.

OREGON PEACH BITTERS.
It takes according to directions, is unexcelled as a kidney and liver cure. A good laxative for the system. All orders promptly attended to. H. K. BROWN, (Salem and Astoria, Astoria, Ore.)

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.
PORTLAND, Oct. 24.—The trial of J. W. Scott, charged with manslaughter in the killing of Mrs. Christine Stromborg July 25, by a pistol shot fired across the canyon at the head of Jefferson street, was begun in Judge Sterns' court yesterday.

The jury in the case of J. W. Scott reported this morning it is unable to agree on a verdict.

The circumstances connected with this painful tragedy are: Mrs. Stromborg, an old lady 72 years of age, was sitting on the rear lawn of the house of her daughter, Mrs. Gas Piestra, on the side of the hill on the Canyon road, holding her little infant grandchild in her arms. It was about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when a pistol shot rang out, and the old lady, dropping the child to the ground, fell back in her chair with a cry of pain. William H. Sheldon, who was passing at the time, seeing the old lady fall, went to her assistance, and discovering blood on her clothing, gave the alarm and went to summon her son-in-law, Gas Piestra, from the expedition building.

From the effects of the wound the old lady died. J. W. Scott, who was said to be firing at a target from the opposite side of the canyon immediately gave himself up, and was held for the grand jury and indicted for manslaughter.

THE MIND LIKE ELECTRICITY.
In electricity we have an all pervading force of which we are ordinarily unconscious, violent and startling as are its occasional effects. So in the region of mind we may have effects rare and strange as are the slow moving frobbal, or the lightning flash from an unclouded sky. Under peculiar and rarely occurring conditions, as yet but imperfectly known, certain mental influences predominate, and mind perceptibly acts on mind.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Papa's Daughter.
Daughter—Oh, papa, I've just got the most lovely yachting costume you ever saw.
Papa (busily)—I'm glad you like it.
Daughter—It's just too sweet for anything. Now all we need is a yacht.

Bronzes, as a rule, reflect light only moderately well; when two parts copper combine with one part tin, specular metal, as it is called, is produced—an alloy of so high reflective power as to be used in the best telescopes.

Rescued from the Depths of Misery.
The misery endured by unfortunate women who carelessly give their bodies to unscrupulous men, is a terrible one. It is a life of suffering, of pain, of sorrow, of shame, of dishonor, of degradation, of loss of health, of loss of friends, of loss of home, of loss of all that is dear to us in this world. ONE AND ONE.

The last red glimmer of the sun
Shines through the open door,
And lies in struggling bars upon
The wall worn school house floor.
Before the grave young master's chair
A weeping maiden stands,
With a fervent, panted air
"I do not want to go."
"It's no use," she said, "to try;
I cannot get it right."
"See here," the master said, and held
The figures to her down the slide
"This problem that has kept you here
Had long ago been done
Had you not said in adding, dear,
That one and one make one."
"But that's that!" she stopped confused;
Her blue eyes sought the floor.
A look was on the master's face
She had not seen before.
"Not quite, my dear," he gently said,
"That is, in some like this
But yet, I think, there are times when
Two will not be for amiss."

And then, but, what you undertake
And tell just what was said?
Full often has the tale been told
Since Eve and Adam fell.
The logic that the master used
To make the matter plain
Was used by man since earth began.
And seldom used in vain.

The swaying trees a tale of love
Seemed whispering to the brook,
As man and maid, adown the glade
Their homeward journey took.
Now, hand in hand, they pass life's
School.
The knottiest problem done,
They've solved it by the good old rule
Of "One and one make one."

The Horseshoe Superstition.
The custom of nailing a horseshoe over the door of a house or other building as a protection against evil spirits and as an assurance of good luck is widely spread over the United States and England. It also flourishes among the Teutonic and Scandinavian races, and has been recognized as far east as Hindoostan. The horseshoe unites within itself three lucky elements—it is crescent shaped, it has been, or is to be, in contact with a horse, and is made of iron.

Popular superstition has for ages endowed iron with protecting powers. The Romans are known to have driven nails into the doors and the walls of their houses as an antidote or as a preventive of the plague. The Arab who is overtaken by a simoon in the desert seeks to propitiate the Jinns by shrieking "Iron! Iron!"

Since time out of memory the Scandinavians have sought to exercise the river spirit, Neekaw, by sticking an open knife in the bottom of the boat, or driving a nail in the mast or oar. In the mythology of England the horseshoe has always been considered a "luck bringer."—St. Louis Republic.

Happy Hostess.
Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that and feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best kidney and liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same place, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is ill run down and don't care what he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at Fry's drugstore, 225 Com'l St."
