A LABISH VICTIM INSANE.
A Big Lawsuit in Which One of the Defendants Is in an Asylum.
The Philadelphia Ledger of recent date had quite an article about Dr. and Mrs. Hammell, victims of the Labish wreck, that occurred near Salem in Nov. 1890. It will be recalled that Mr. and Mrs. Hammell were at Salem for some time, until sufficiently recovered to proceed on their bridal tour, upon which they were engaged at the time of the disaster on the Southern Pacific Railway. Dr. Hammell who, as will be seen by the article below, is now insane, was examined at Salem by Drs. Richardson and Cusick, with special reference to his mental disturbances, if any, from the injuries received at the wreck, and both physicians intimated that he would probably lose his mind. It will be seen from the article in the Ledger of Philadelphia that their surmises were correct, which is quite a compliment to the science of the medical gentleman at Salem. Here is a good motto, and a free silver club on that basis would enlist hundreds of good men of all portions in our country. Silver clubs are forming all over the country. In several states the silver coinage issue has been strangled by common consent of both parties, and there is not sufficient confidence that the People's party will amount to much, so that earnest friends of silver are driven to the wall and denied any expression of their views. There is no way for them to have a voice in matters of finance unless there is a silver party formed. The Democrats in Illinois and the Republicans in Colorado have elected free silver delegations to their respective national conventions.

The main spring of our progress is high wages—wages at such a level that the workingmen can spare his wife to preside over a home, can command leisure, go to lectures, take a newspaper, and lift himself from the degrading level of mere toil. That dollar left after all the bills are paid on Saturday night means education, independence, self-respect, manhood; it increases the value of every acre near by, fills the town with dwellings, opens public libraries and crowds them, dots the continent with cities and cowboys it with railways. The one remaining dollar insures progress and guarantees millions to its owner, better than a score of statutes. It is worth more than a thousand colleges, and makes armies and police superfluous. —Wendell Phillips.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Light-house.
Mr. and Mrs. Loren Tresscott are keepers of the Gov. Light-house at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she has taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at Fry's drugstore, 225 Commercial street.

A GOOD CHANCE.—The wisest thing that Salem could do at the present time would be to get right and grade the penitentiary switch of the Southern Pacific railroad to an eastern connection with the Springfield branch. Then in all probability Stayton would connect with West Stayton and thus the care of this eastern branch would be pulling in and out of Salem every day. This course would no doubt secure for Salem the cross road she wants. It looks like now is the time to strike. —CITIZEN.

Catarh Can't Be Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarh. Send for testimonials free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Salem, Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, price 75 cents.

MRS. HAMMELL'S STORY OF THE CASE.
Mrs. Hammell was seen at the home of her husband's parents at Palmyra, N. J., yesterday. Her appearance certainly indicated extreme suffering, but she volunteered a description of her injuries and those of her husband, and their movements since the accident. "After the crash on the railroad we were taken to a hotel in Salem, Or., where we remained for many weeks," she said. "While there we employed attorneys and brought suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad company for $95,000. We then came East to secure expert advice and treatment in my husband's case, for since the accident he seemed slightly demented, gradually growing worse, until about ten days ago he was taken to Kirkbride's, where the physicians consider his case almost hopeless. My own injuries consist of what the doctors say is a permanent curvature of the spine and I am compelled to wear a metal jacket all times. Since the suit was brought agents and detectives of the railroad company have dogged our footsteps and this more than anything else has caused my husband to become violent, his constant ravings being about detectives and railroad men."

SILVER PARTY.
The indications are that a silver-coinage party will be formed. It is only the natural and just result of the reaction against the idea of making gold the only legal tender money. The single gold standard is not cheerfully received by the masses of American people, and rather than sacrifice their convictions upon the matter they will unite to form a silver party. Equal rights for gold and silver is Working His Own Head.

"Yes," said the old Georgia colonel, "I think that up to the age of fourteen the colored children learn quite as well as the white; better, perhaps, but there they seem to come to a halt.
"I recall a boy I owned before the war, who was as sharp as a steel trap and a great pet of myself and family. At the time of the incident I am about to relate he was about ten years of age, and so full of mischief that it bubbled out of him.
"Whenever he broke out of bounds and got unbearable I sent him with a note to the overseer, with instructions to flog him, always indicating the weight and number of stripes.
"Seeing the unfavorable consequences of carrying that bit of paper to the overseer, he said to me one day:
"'Massa, ken dat papah talk?'
"'It can,' I replied. 'It tells when you are idle and won't work.'
"'But you don't nebbeh work, ez I seeo,' he said.
"'Oh,' I replied, 'I work with my head and that is the hardest kind of work.'
"The next time I gave the boy a note to take to the overseer, he went off stroking his forehead.
"'I soon learned that he had destroyed the paper instead of delivering it. So I called him up and asked him why he had not obeyed me.
"'Wa'l, massa,' said the boy with a twinkle in his eyes, 'Ize done been doin some 'tinkin fo' mysef, an Ize allowed as how I'd start in an work wid my head too!' —New York Advertiser.

Pronunciation in Our Schools.
I would like to call attention to a matter of which I may be very ignorant. I refer to the education of our children in the public schools. Some of my children attend Public School No. 39, and I very often hear them pronounce very familiar words in an outlandish way, the queer thing about the matter being that, in speaking to people whose education was taught them at a later day than my own, they tell me that they were instructed to pronounce the words as I will try and illustrate, the funny point being that they now utter the words as I was taught thirty-six years ago in the public schools. Here are some of the words: For de they must say dang, for now, new; for doll, dol; neigh, nays; soft, saft; wrong, wring; long, lang; wrench, wrentze; fast, faast; Newfoundland, Neww Finland; New York, Neww York, etc.
Now, what's the benefit or use in teaching children pronunciations which they do not apply in after life? —F. Forster in New York Sun.

Backney Cabs in London.
The growth of hackney cabs in London has been of late years enormous. At the beginning of Charles I's reign there were only twenty on the street ranks, and a proclamation was issued for the suppression even of them. They continued, however, to be more and more hired from the jobmasters, and "the king's majesty" accordingly took into his consideration "the restraint of the excessive carriages" to the destruction of the highways, and also "to the great disturbance of the king, queen and nobility."
No coach was thenceforth permitted to be hired in London for any distance short of three miles out of town, "save by persons who shall constantly keep four sufficient able horses for his majesty's service whenever his majesty's occasion shall require them." The judges always rode on horseback to Westminster in all weathers. —Illustrated London News.

An Untruthful Boy's Work.
Pretty Teacher (severely)—Did your mother write this excuse?
Bad Boy—Yes'm.
Pretty Teacher—Humph! It looks very much like one of your scrawls.
Bad Boy—Mamma wrote it; but, please ma'm, she had sister Jennie in one arm, crying with a lumped head, and brother Willie in the other with a cut finger, and a lot of sewing on her lap, and she was rocking the cradle with her knees and she had to write with her toes.
Pretty Teacher (in the evening)—I am very sorry, Mr. Poorchapp, but I have changed my mind. I shall never marry.—Good News.

Rubber Shoes and Chest Protectors.
Rubber shoes and arctics during wet and snowy weather will serve to keep the feet dry and warm. The so-called chest protectors and all articles intended to cover only certain parts of the body with thick flannel are not desirable, as they render such an area very sensitive to cold.—Babyhood.
