BLOODY FIGHT WITH BANDITS

The Famous John Sontag is Mortally Wounded.

GOOD WORK BY A POSSE.

Chris Evans, Sontag's Partner, Escapes in the Mountains.

VISALIA Cal., June 12.—Deputy Sheriff Rapelle, of Fresno county, and Officer Fred Jackson, of Nevada, and others who are in the mountains near here, looking for Evans and Sontag, the noted Collins train robbers, came onto them Sunday night. A general fight ensued, in which Jackson was wounded in the leg and Evans was probably mortally wounded if not killed. Sontag escaped, apparently unhurt. The wounded officer was brought here, and the sheriff of Fresno was wired to send a posse to the scene.

Later.

VISALIA, Cal., June 12.—The posse arrived at 10:25 this morning from the scene of last night's encounter with the notorious train robbers, Chris Evans and John Sontag. At day break it was discovered that the man who had been shot by the officers last night was John Sontag instead of Chris Evans, as was at first reported. Sontag is mortally wounded having been shot in the abdomen. Sontag was brought here by the posse and Chris Evans escaped into the mountains.

THE FORD'S THEATRE INQUEST.

Exciting Scenes Among the Witnesses and Clerks.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The inquest over the bodies of the Ford's theatre accident began here today. Col. Ainsworth, chief of the record and pension division, against whom are implied accusations of responsibility for the accident is made, is present. The first witness, Benjamin Reiss, testified he had not seen the arena roped off as dangerous inside the building, particularly the rear part, which did not fall, as unsafe. Charles Troutman, a clerk, testified he had been warned by J. W. Webb in charge of the first floor not to approach the area or floor roped off while the excavation was going on.

No other warning of the building was given. Smith Thompson, a clerk, testified that the messengers of Colonel Ainsworth stationed on the stairway frequently notified clerks with bated breath, that it was the colonel's orders that employees should walk on tip toes up and down the stairway. Witness was an engineer and examined the building. There were no props where excavation was going on. He declared the feeling of the clerks towards Colonel Ainsworth one of abject fear.

At afternoon session there was an exciting scene. Charles Barnes, a brother of one of the men killed, walked forward and shook his fist in Colonel Ainsworth's face, shouting "You murdered my brother and shan't sit there intimidating those witnesses." Colonel Ainsworth started to speak, when the excited clerks began shouting for him to sit down, shut up; and the like, followed by cries of "Hang him!" "hang him," and men sprang forward as if to execute the mandate. They finally quieted, however, and the inquest adjourned.

A letter from Secretary Lamont was read at the inquest giving assurance that no clerk need fear dismissal on account of his testimony.

NEW PENSION RULING. Commissioner Lochran Renders a Very Important Decision.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Judge Lochran, commissioner of pensions, with the approval of Secretary Eoke Smith, has issued the following important order as to adjudication and fixing rates of pensions:

First—A claim for a pension under the second section of the act of June 27, 1890, can only be allowed upon proof of mental or physical disability of a permanent character, not the result of claimant's own vicious habits, incapacitating him from the performance of manual labor in such a degree as to render him unable to earn his support.

Second—No specific injury or disability can, as such, have a pensionable rating under that act, nor be considered otherwise than as it affects the incapacity of claimant to perform ordinary manual labor.

Third—Proof that the disability is not the result of claimant's vicious habits is requisite; therefore, the causes and circumstances of the origin of the disability should be shown by evidence furnished in support of the claim for a pension, so far as can be done, and by persons other than the claimant.

Fourth—To give the claimant a pensionable status under this act, the disability must be such as to incapacitate him from the performance of manual labor in such a degree as to render him unable to earn his support.
