

The Question is Often Asked Why the The New York Racket

Has such a lively trade, while it appears dull in many places?
That question is easily answered, they buy their shoes from one of the most reliable cash shoe factories in St. Louis, paying cash for them, thereby getting their stock at the lowest price. Then selling for cash, they have no allowance to make for bad accounts. That explains why they sell shoes cheap. In other lines, such as Hats, White Shirts, Black Sateen, and light Dress Shirts, Pants, Overalls, Underwear of all kinds for ladies, and gents Hosiery, Laces, Embroideries, Lace Curtains, Ribbons, Gloves, Mitts, Table Linen, Linen Tablecloths, Napkins, Crash, Hammocks, Brushes and notions of all kinds which are all bought for cash in New York, and following that line, (cash) from factory to consumer, they can afford to sell at low prices. They ask an examination of their stock and prices.

QUEER, OUTLANDISH PEOPLE DANCE

The World's Fair Will be Open
Every Sunday.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The Russian exhibit in the Manufacturer's building was formally opened this morning. The ceremonies were according to the ritual of the Greek church. This is the anniversary of the battle of Bunker hill and is appropriately set apart by the management of the fair as Massachusetts day for the dedication of the Massachusetts building. All the sons of the old Bay state were received from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. by Governor Russell and ex-Governors Rice and Long. Among them was ex-President Harrison and Vice President Stevenson. It was a strange procession, probably unparalleled in history, which wound among the palaces of the great, white city today.

Representatives of the most untutored savages gathered from the four corners of the earth and islands of the sea, intermingled with representatives of the oldest civilizations, and other queer outlandish people. The denizens of that motley place, the midway pleasure, turned out in full force.

Open Sundays.
CHICAGO, June 17.—Chief Justice Fuller this morning overruled the decision of the federal circuit court, which issued an injunction restraining the directors of the world's fair from opening its gates on Sunday. The restraining order of the circuit court, preventing opening of the gates Sundays, must therefore be set aside and the case remanded. This decision settles the matter finally, as the only appeal is to the supreme court of the United States, which does not meet until October when the fair will be ended.

World's Fair Rates.
CHICAGO, June 17.—Chauncey M. Depew was seen in Chicago and expressed himself on the world's fair rates. He said:
"The present rates are unquestionably too high, and will come down. The truth of the matter is, the reports of the incomplete condition of the fair has caused railroad men to think that no occasion for lower rates existed, but now that the exposition is complete, the roads will do the fair thing and put in satisfactory rates."

A Sensitive Senator.
NEW YORK, June 17.—A close friend of Senator David B. Hill told a World reporter that the senator had abandoned his intention to go West as chairman of the sub-committee on immigration. The senator received letters and telegrams from all over the West, begging him to name dates on which he would be a guest at dinners. These had been so numerous that he concluded his acceptance would savor of "swinging around the circle." People would say he was hunting for a presidential nomination and proposed to show himself off. Rather than place himself in that attitude the senator decided not to go.

A Woman Outs Her Throat.
ASHLAND, Or., June 17.—Bertie Mayhew committed suicide by cutting her throat with a razor at 9:30 last night, at the Depot hotel. John Clark, a locomotive engineer on the Southern Pacific railway, says she asked him for money to pay her board bill. On his replying that he had none then but would let her have some in the morning, she asked for his pistol, and when refused grasped a razor and cut two gashes in her throat.

The Fruit Palace at the Strawberry and Rose Fair.
The object of general interest in the city for the past two days has been the fruit and flower fair. People of Salem, and from all parts of the globe have marveled at the wonderful exhibits, but the most attractive of all, was the pyramid of roses displayed in the beautiful imported decorated China and glass vases put in by M. T. Rinsman of the Fruit Palace.

A Bandit Killed.
DENVER, N. D., June 17.—The unknown cowboy, who emptied the Turtle Mountain bank and held up the cashier and robbed the bank of a thousand dollars and escaped to the mountains, returned and fatally shot James McKee, a clerk in a store, without provocation. Citizens gathered, and Mayor Blake, shot the bandit's horse. Citizens ran the robber down and killed him.

The Pacific University.
FOREST GROVE, June 17.—The citizens of this city held a meeting last night and subscribed $1360, the remainder of the $15,000 necessary to insure the erection of the new building of the Pacific university. The structure will cost $50,000. It will be known as Marsh Memorial hall, in honor of Dr. Marsh, the first president of the university, who died some years ago. The remainder of the $50,000 will be subscribed by the citizens, the alumni and eastern parties.

Many second-class brands of baking powder are urged upon consumers at the price of the high-cost, first-class Royal.

BRITISH BEHRRING SEA CONTENTION.

Enormous Decrease of Exports and Increase of Imports.

PARIS, June 17.—Sir Richard Webster, of counsel for Great Britain, continued his argument before the Behring sea court of arbitration. When his address was interrupted, by the rising of the tribunal, he was speaking upon the habits of seals and pelagic hunting, and he continued at some length of time upon the same line this morning. Sir Richard contended that the decrease in the seal herd is due to the scarcity of bull seals; the lessened number of males has been due to the excessive killing at the Pribyloff islands. The decrease, he said, in the herd began before the pelagic industry arose. Sir Richard quoted from the reports made by Henry W. Elliott and other reports made to the United States government to show that since 1882 the number of bull seals was not sufficient to properly reproduce the species. Argument on this point by Sir Richard is in refutation of the contention on the part of the United States that the killing of a portion of the surplus male seal life is beneficial to be in the case of other domestic and polygamous animals. Americans claim that a large portion of the young male seals can be killed without reducing or affecting the normal birth rate. This is held by the British to be erroneous, and the diminution of the herd is attributed by the British council to the killing of the killing of the bull seals at the islands, and not the captures made by pelagic hunters. The report was made by Elliott, who investigated the facts of seal life on the islands in 1872 to 1874, and in 1890 was sent to renew his investigation in pursuance of a special act of congress.

BERLIN, June 17.—The two features most conspicuous in the returns have been the continued reports of the social democratic gains and richer losses. The most news came from the city constituencies and the list of opposition deputies grew rapidly. This afternoon, however, dispatches from the agricultural districts revealed the other side of the page. From all that can be learned it is reasonably safe to conclude that the government has certainly lost nothing by the dissolution of parliament and probably won little.

At 10 o'clock Friday evening returns were summarized thus: In 180 districts from which reports have been received 85 deputies were elected and in the other 95 new ballots will be necessary. Of the deputies elected 35 will vote with the government and 49 against it. Parties working with the government lost 5 seats to the opposition. The parties working against the government ended matters by losing the same number of seats to friends of the army bill. Conservatives elected 17 deputies, social democrats 23, clericals 2, radical unionists 1, free conservatives 4, poles 5, democrats 5, antisemitic 3, independent 2, government clericals 1, national liberals 2.

The most interesting features reported are the gains of the social Democrats and the radical Unionists.

BERLIN, June 17.—At 2 o'clock this morning returns have been received from 220 out of 357 electoral districts. In 95 districts candidates were elected. In 123 second ballots will be necessary. The national liberals, conservatives and clericals are holding their own. High-er radicals remain very far behind. Of the 98 deputies already elected, 42 are counted for the army bill and 56 against it. The government has gained two more new seats and lost one old one since the last report.

IN BERLIN.
The elections so far as Berlin is concerned, can be considered an almost complete triumph for the socialists party. Not only have their votes enormously increased since the last election, but the proportion of votes between the radicals and social-Democrats is such, except in one ward, that the radicals practically have no chance in the second ballots. In Berlin it is estimated that nearly 80 per cent of the electors recorded their votes; out of a total of 374,000 registered, the socialists obtained 152,500, an increase of nearly one-fifth over the election of 1890. Although in the provinces the socialists are not so uniformly successful as in Berlin, yet the returns are eminently satisfactory to them, and the results of the second ballots will undoubtedly mean, as predicted, great accessions to the socialist strength in the Reichstag. The only unfair maneuver which might be described as a hit below the belt at the government, was the action of the Kreuz Zeitung, which in the morning published what it declared to be the terms of Russia's counter proposals for a treaty of commerce. These alleged proposals were calculated to create the greatest alarm in the country districts, embodying everything likely to prejudice the German agrarian interests, and the Kreuz Zeitung based on them a violent attack on the government, whose cowardice, it is said, had been taken advantage of by Russia to make these almost insulting proposals, which, if accepted, would mean nothing but ruin for German agriculturists. The official Reichsanzeiger and the semi-official Nord Deutsche Zeitung in the evening hastened to publish emphatic denials, but the mischief had been done and the Kreuz gained its object in having the fictitious proposals telegraphed throughout the country, where they undoubtedly had a material influence on the farmers' choice of candidates.

The Latest.
BERLIN, June 17.—Reports from 242 districts, 120 deputies are elected. Of those elected, 33 will vote for the army bill, 87 against it.

Water-spout.
CITY OF MEXICO, June 17.—The town of Uztamatlan was visited by a water-spout with great damage. It burst unexpectedly over the town at midnight. The flood covered the entire town, the water rising to a height of four feet inside of houses. The people are panic-stricken, many men, women and children are drowned. A great many families are homeless. The city council has issued an appeal asking for relief.

Oregon Christian Missionary Convention.

TURNER, Or., June 17.—The annual meeting of the Oregon Christian missionary convention convened here with its first meeting last night at 8 o'clock. The president of the association, O. A. Sahlbrede, has been upon the grounds for several days, getting things ready for the crowd that is expected to be present. Secretary Stephens and wife arrived on the evening train from Portland and is now assisting the president in arranging the preliminaries. The grounds have been much improved, and some much needed sanitary regulations have been adopted, which will add much to the comfort and happiness of all who attend. The indications are that this will be one of the largest attended meetings ever held at this place. Campers are already coming in, and prospects are that before Sunday the grove will be filled with tents.
