AT THE STATE FAIR GROUNDS.

Work Begun on the Track For the Spring Races.

Horses and trainers have begun to arrive. Work on the tracks to put them in fine condition for the summer and fall races will begin early this week. Quite a crowd of people went out Sunday to visit the grounds. Supt. Savage, who has charge of the grounds and pavilion is, looking after every point of improvement with his usual industry and enterprise.

SOME OF THE HORSES.

Among the horses, already on the grounds are Sam Crowell's fine string of trotters and pacers. He has Pilot Lemont, record 2:11; Golden Wilkes, the Van Bokkelen horse, a pacing stallion; Mark S, a promising two-year-old, by Pilot Lemont; Katy R, a two-year-old trotter by same sire, owned by Dr. Reynolds. Black Altamont, owned by John Knight, Sam Crowell, manager. Jack Darr's famous racer, Jim Lotan, is at the grounds. He is 4 years old, bred by St. Paul, dam, Why Not. Jim Lotan is a full brother to Misty Morn. J. S. Phillips, trainer.

Oliver Goldsmith, owned by Ed. S. Lampert, a pacer 9 years old, bred by Goldsmith, dam by Swigert. Trainer J. M. Donnelly.

Robert D., a trotting gelding, property of F. N. Derby, Donnelly, trainer. Rosemont, pacing stallion, under Wm. Bright's instructions; also a two year old colt by Rosemont. There will be more arrivals of new horses this week which will be fully noticed in these columns.

LITTLE LOCALS.

This part of Oregon broke the record and the seventh Sunday was a perfect day. Easter bunnies, abundance of wild and garden flowers and immense crowds at the churches marked Easter Sunday at Salem. The bicycle gang is growing numerous at the first approach of good roads. James Card of Baker county has been brought to the state reform school. Dr. Hensel, of Jefferson, was in the city today. Dr. T. L. Golden went up to his Santiam farm this morning to push his ferry boat business. D. L. McLain, of Macleay, was in the city today. Contractor Hutchins went to Woodburn this afternoon. Jos. Woodford went to Portland this afternoon in the interest of the Perry & Co. stove works.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, March 26, '94.
R. J. Fleming et al, appellant, vs. Seth R. Hammer, administrator of the estate of Henry C. Sterling, deceased, respondent. Appeal from Marion county. Argued and submitted. S. T. Richardson, attorney for appellant. Bonham & Holmes, attorney for respondent.

A Good Man.

S. B. Gibson, of Polk county, will ask a re-nomination as member of the state board of equalization from this district, at the hands of the Republican state convention. He is a man who can stand by his record on that board and should be re-nominated. He labored judiciously and successfully to lower values in counties that were too high, and raise counties that were too low without increasing the sum total of taxes.

Disturbing the Peace.

There are a few foolish boys in every community who think it is smart to cut up and raise a disturbance at religious meetings. They generally keep at it until one or more are fined in a justice court. Warrants were sworn out in Judge Eides' court this morning for the arrest of three young men who have been annoying the African M. E. church of North Salem. As a rule that official deals very sharply with such offenders.

Police Court.

Four drunks and a hobo were before Recorder Eides this morning as a result of Sunday's vigilance on the part of the Salem police. Chas. Ramsey, of Silverton collided with Wm. Miller, who was riding a bike, and the result was an assault and battery case.

A Big Purse.

At the road convention to be held in Salem on the second Saturday in April the Salem committee, to raise a cash fund per mile towards the first macadamized road to be built into this city, will have a very fine purse to hang up for that purpose.

At Liberty.

A Republican rally will be held at Liberty school house tonight at 7:30. C. B. Moores and E. Hofer will speak.

Bishop Dillon went to Woodburn this afternoon to see Elder Barclay, who is quite ill.

Gov. Pennoyer went to the reform school farm this morning, to assist in locating a road across the state ground from the Turner road to the Macleay.

Miss Stella Sherman, one of Salem's most competent young lady stenographers, has taken a position in the CAPITAL JOURNAL business office forenoon.

T. T. Geer, of Macleay, was in the city today. He says he has quite a following in the state at large and some on the Marion delegation to back his candidacy for governor.

Wm. Sargeant was at Woodburn yesterday to visit Elder H. L. Barclay, one of the nominees for the legislature on the Marion county Republican ticket. He received word today that he rested well last night and is better.

Mrs. Alice Miner, a sister of F. A. Turner, who has been a teacher in the East Salem schools the past year, departed today for her old home in Iowa. A number of her pupils and friends escorted her as far as the station with hearty good wishes for her future success.

NOTES ON THE CONVENTION.

Mayor Gatch did not seem to want anything but to help his friends.

There was not a candidate nominated that was not fit to have been put on the ticket and would have been elected if put there.

The harmonious echoes of that convention have begun to reach the Cascade mountains and will soon be echoing back.

None of the offices went begging as in the Democrat and Populist conventions, not even the Molalla precinct committee.

Woodburn Independent; The Republican ticket nominated at Salem on Wednesday is composed of good, clean, honest, able men and will win the coming election, as it ought to. We shall give short sketches of the candidates, commencing next week.

A FARMERS' CONVENTION.

To hear the Populists and Governor Pennoyer talk one would think they had a monopoly of the farmer in politics. Their constant appeals are made to the farmer as against the banker and capitalist. Their platforms are written for the farmer. Their speeches are directed to the agriculturalist. They denounce the robber baron manufacturer and the corporation plutocrat and have been doing so since years and it is a wonder that there are any farmers left who are not Populists. If their utterances were sincere, or if the farmers who read and think for themselves believed their statements, there would not be a farmer left outside the Populist party.

But what are the facts? The biggest convention of farmers held at Salem in two years was the Marion county Republican convention last week. There were more farmers and the most successful farmers in the county in that convention. On a square test vote they outnumbered all other classes of citizens in that body. They chose a farmer for representative at large to the state convention of their party. Most of the delegates to the state convention are farmers. There were very few, if any, bankers, plutocrats and millionaires in that convention. The farmers wrote the platform and nominated their men on the ticket with one exception. Farmers came twenty to thirty miles over almost impossible roads to attend the Republican convention and when they returned to their homes felt proud of having done a great day's work for the farming interest of Marion county.

The Nurse's Delight.

Every experienced nurse knows the value of a remedy which, without being an anodyne will relieve soreness of the limbs or stiffness of the joints, and enable a patient to sleep quietly and naturally.

Just such a remedy are Alcock's Porous Plasters. Placed on the chest or on the back, if necessary cut into strips and placed over the muscles of the limbs they work marvels in the way of soothing and quieting restlessness. Being perfectly simple and harmless in their composition, they can be used freely, and many a sufferer has thanked them for a night of quiet rest, grateful both to him and those who care for him.

THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

Oregon Republicans will appreciate the action of the Marion county Republican convention in asking the abolition of the railroad commission.

If there is anything in Oregon that has gone into innocuous desuetude and for which the people of this state have no more use whatever, it is the present railroad commission.

The law requires this body of three men and a clerk to keep an office at the state capital. But the gentlemen in control of the destinies of that body are apparently very little governed by law or by any desire to serve the people who pay them twenty thousand dollars a term. They keep their office at Portland and all mail that first comes to Salem has to be forwarded there.

The business of the people is not of sufficient importance to these gentlemen to be expeditiously or respectfully dispatched. Hence the Marion county Republicans very sensibly concluded to dispatch the commission, and pledged their senators and representatives to do that thing. Some men cannot take a hint until it comes in the shape of a kick and about one kick from the G. O. P. elephant, ordinarily a patient and enduring beast, will prevent its being troubled with any more of the people's business whatever.

THE REPUBLICAN TARIFF POLICY.

The Republican tariff policy for the last fourteen years has consisted in reducing duties on food and raw materials, increasing them on manufactures which could be produced in this country and steadily adding to the burden borne by luxuries, spirits wine and tobacco.

The excess of revenue over expenditures and the rapid redemption of the public debt in 1890, the first year after the resumption of specie payment, made it clear that a revision of the tariff was inevitable. This revision began in 1883 and thoroughly perfected in 1890.

In 1890 the country was importing $199,165,967 of food and paying $52,305,551 in duty on it. This was a duty of 45.10 per cent. on the dutiable portions, or one-half of these imports, and 27 per cent. on the total food imports. In 1893 food imports were $269,277,229, an increase of 35 per cent.; but the duty collected on food had dropped to $12,873,338. On the dutiable portions, which had fallen to $41,319,862, or one-sixth of the whole, the duty collected was 31.13 and on all food the average duty was 5 per cent. In other words instead of paying duty on half the food it imported, the country was paying a duty on one-sixth, and the average duty paid on food had fallen from 27 to 5 per cent. In no country in the world, not even in England, do imports of food bear so light a duty as in this country after the legislation of the past fourteen years.

Raw materials were coming to this country in 1890 to the amount of $160,055,876. Over one-third of these, or $63,075,261, paid a duty of $20,050,123, an average rate on dutiable articles of 32.74 per cent. and on raw materials of 12.5 per cent. By 1893 the imports of raw material had risen to $218,310,959, or 36.4 per cent., but the share paying a duty had fallen to $42,080,120, a reduction of 33 per cent. These dutiable articles paid $14,185,008, or 33.72 per cent., and the duty paid by raw materials as a whole had fallen from 12.5 per cent. to 6.7 per cent., or one-half. The McKinley tariff reduced dutiable imports of raw materials from $89,000,000 to $40,000,000, and another bill on the same lines would have added free raw materials to free food imports.

On the other hand, partially manufactured articles were nearly all, or $62,657,777 out of $73,186,963, dutiable in 1880, and thirteen years later nearly the same proportion, or $71,837,671 out of $94,604,896, were dutiable in 1893, and the rate of duty had risen from 30.11 per cent. to 40.17 per cent. on the dutiable articles and on the category as a whole from 25 per cent. to 30 per cent. Manufactured articles had risen still more. Imports of $130,004,613 in 1880, of which $9,131,858 were free, had advanced to $153,813,883, of which only $13,454,188 were free. From 46.55 per cent. in 1880 the rate had risen to 59.18 in 1893. So with luxuries, the rate rose from 53.32 to 56.49 and the total amount from $56,141,826 to $108,447,065.

while the free portion was insignificant.

These figures are cited from the official report of Washington C. Ford by the Philadelphia Press with the following comment:

"Mark, then, what Republican legislation brought. First, free food. Less duty on that than in any other country. Second, raw materials steadily more free. In five or ten years, at the rate of progress, they would have all been free. These imports increased one-third faster than population, or at the rate of 35 per cent., while population grew but 23. Manufactured and partially manufactured articles were under a steadily heavier rate and grew only two-thirds as fast as population, or 19 per cent. Lastly, so rapid was the growth of prosperity that the consumption of luxuries rose 66.4 per cent., or 80 per cent. faster than population, though paying a steadily increasing tax.

"It is a policy like this carried on with these results which congress is now overthrowing." — Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

WHAT IS THE MATTER?

The Populists of Linn county were entirely ignored at the state convention at Oregon City, Mr. Ramp whom they desired to vote for for congressman was ruthlessly thrown aside to pick up a man far his inferior in point of ability and fitness for the office of congressman. Dr. Hill, who had been talked of for governor from Bully Creek on the east of Siuslaw on the west, and from Tualatin on the north to Goose Lake on the south, was laid upon the shelf to make room for a man still yet unknown to fame. Mr. Montague and Dr. Hendrix, who had been spoken of for places on the state ticket were quickly passed over for less deserving men. But such is politics.—Albany Democrat.

It would be interesting to ask why so many weak men were put on the Populist state ticket.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Local Correspondence from Towns in the Valley.

FROM TURNER.

The kind assistance of Mrs. M. Howe, Mrs. R. O. Thomas and Mr. Jack McCulloch is hereby acknowledged.

The liberal proceeds were devoted to purchasing apparatus for the school under whose auspices the affair was given.

Festivity and sociability ran at high ebbs for about an hour, during which time, all present were supplied with delicacies of the rarest sort.

After the literary and dramatic program, came the box supper in charge of the Misses Halle Thomas, Hattie Howe and Nettie Roel. Boxes were sold at the uniform price of 25 cts. and were all taken up by the gentlemen of the congregation.

The evening of the 23rd. inst. was the occasion of the box supper entertainment at Turner. An interesting program consisting of two petit dramas and a number of recitations, solos, etc., was represented to a packed house. The local favorite foot-lights acquitted themselves with credit, but especial notice is due to little Master Robertson, a five year old, whose solo, "The Bowers," was immense, and brought forth merited applause.

SUGGESTED COMMENT.

The farmers are represented in Marion county by one of the most successful of tillers of the soil and stock ranchers, David Craig, of Macleay.

All the Rogue river tribes of Indians are in mourning over the death of their 100 year old chief Chacha, who died recently. They have looked up to him for 40 years.

Hon. J. N. Dolph has our thanks for a copy of a speech made in the United States senate March 1st., on "The Prosperity of the Country in the Keeping of the Men Who Conspired to Destroy the Union."

There are some men among the Populists who are not flat money men, but they are a minority. All the leaders and orators nearly are flatists. If they are safe men to conduct the business of this state or county, we are very much mistaken.
