PERSONALS.

Miss Linnie Lewis left today for Union county.
 Prof. D. W. Yoder went to Portland this afternoon.
 Mrs. Jay C. Smith was a passenger for Portland today.
 Fred Hurst, of Hurst & Johnson, was in Portland today.
 Miss Lella Waters went to Portland on the afternoon train today.
 Wm. Armstrong returned today from a flying visit to Portland.
 Rev. Father Brousseau left this afternoon for his home at Mt. Tabor.
 Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Moores went to Portland this afternoon on a short visit.
 Judge and Mrs. C. E. Wolverton returned this morning from Portland.
 Jas. M. Kyle was a passenger for Portland on the overland this morning.
 J. H. Porter returned to his Aumville home today after serving on the jury.
 Supt. J. M. Martin, of the Salem Water Co., went to Portland this morning.
 J. Rubenstein was in Portland today on business, having gone down on the morning overland.
 Mrs. Scott and son Hubert returned from Portland last night to find their home destroyed by fire.
 Dr. W. H. Byrd and family returned this morning from an extended trip in the Puget sound country.
 Miss May Dorris, of Eugene, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. H. Thompson, went to Portland this afternoon.
 B. Wanner, a farmer from Howell, is in town this evening. He reports business good in his section, but says farmers are sighing for more rain.
 Jim Mills and Bert Rhodes went out into the reform school region this morning with guns and dog, intending to bring home any game that might show up.
 Charles B. Park of Portland, representing the Pacific Builder of San Francisco is in town. He found time to make the JOURNAL office a fraternal visit.
 Jay W. Blaine, of Albany, was in the city this week, and talks seriously of locating in Salem. Of course a keen business man looking for a place in Oregon would be sure to locate at Salem.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. Houser and daughter, of Heavily, North Dakota, arrived in the city today and will make their future home here with their several sons, one of whom preceded them a few days.
 Ghosts tonight. Reed's opera house.

THE LARGE NEW PUMP.

Salem's Water Supply Cannot Give Out Now.
 A pump that weighs just 45 tons is now being placed in the Salem water works on Commercial street. To describe the workings of this huge piece of mechanism, or to describe the work necessary to place in working order so large and bulky a piece of machinery would involve much useless time and labor.
 Engineer A. L. Brown of the water company is in charge of the construction and with a force of men is pushing the work to completion as rapidly as possible.
 The new pump when in running order will have a pumping capacity of 2,640,000 gallons every 24 hours and in connection with the one already in use the company will be able to supply the city with nearly 5,000,000 gallons of water daily.
 Said Mr. Brown yesterday: "We draw our supply of water from the channel of the river, just about opposite the Salem Flouring mill's wharf. 'Every drop of water we use is filtered. It may seem strange to you to think of filtering two million gallons of water every day, but that's what we do. Out in the middle of the river we have a large box forty feet square; and this box has sides ten feet thick, the sides being filled with gravel and charcoal, and in this way we manage to keep our water as pure as is possible for it to be kept. We take every precaution against any chances of the supply ever giving out, and thereby inconveniencing our customers. To guard against this, we have a large reservoir on the hills about a mile south of town, which is 175 feet above the level of the streets here. This is where we keep our reserve and as the reservoir holds two and a half million gallons, we are not very apt to run short. In case any accident should occur to our machinery, we have a steam plant of 125 horse power, in readiness to put to work immediately. Our power comes from above the electric light works and we transmit a distance of over 600 feet and the transmission requires over a mile of strong, heavy cable. Ordinarily the plant we have had all along would have been large enough for our use but the demand is growing continually. Even now in the winter season it requires over 1,300,000 gallons a day while in summer over 2,200,000 gallons are consumed. When our new Dow triplex pumps ready for use, Salem will have a water system of which she need not feel ashamed."
 An interesting spectacle may be seen any time this week or next at the works watching the gang of men erecting the machinery. Today they are placing the large "A" frames in position. Mr. Brown assisted by Wm. Bennett, Jack Roberson, J. S. Moyer, Jas. Martin and A. T. Moffatt, the house mover, with his gang of men are all engaged in lowering these heavy frames in the receptacle pit over 25 feet deep. The dead plates and pump cylinders have already been placed and when the A frames, which weigh nearly eight tons, are in position the larger part of the work will be completed. Everything will be in readiness for work in about one week from today, provided the special pipe casting ordered from Oswego arrives in time. The cost of the pump, as it will stand ready for work, will be $10,000.
ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.—This morning the back windows in E. F. Osburn's racket store and F. S. Dearborn's book store, showed evidences of having been tampered with. Some would-be burglar with an iron bar of some kind had tried to raise the lower sash, and at the Osburn store succeeded in getting it nearly four inches high. Had it not been spiked at the top he would no doubt have succeeded, but that fact caused it to bind so as to make all efforts futile. The sash in the Dearborn window had also been tampered with, but without success. Whoever made the attempt must have been scared away by the police, as it would have been but a short job to take out a pane of glass and thus gain entrance.
NOT A PROHIBITIONIST.—The morning Statesman says that W. T. Rignold is a candidate for alderman in the fourth ward and also that he is a prohibitionist, both of which statements are wrong, especially the latter. It will be remembered by all Republicans in Prospect precinct that Mr. Rignold not only took an active part in Republican primaries, but also did loyal work for the ticket up to the time of election. Republicans can hardly afford to have anyone read out of the party just now, especially in the fourth ward.
A HAPPY EVENT.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. John Minto celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their advent in Oregon. A family dinner was given and a happy time indeed was enjoyed by all who had the rare privilege of belonging to the family circle. Both Mr. and Mrs. Minto are enjoying the best of health, and what is still better, the greatest respect and good wishes of their large circle of neighbors and friends.

HORTICULTURIST ABROAD.

Meeting With the Fruit Men in Rogue River Valley.
 Ashland, Or., Oct. 18, 1894.
ED. JOURNAL.—This is a land of wonders to me and I hardly know how to begin this letter. The fruit men have come (and gone) from other parts of the state and carried away lots of new ideas and swapped opinions with the local fruit men in their mutual advantage. I thought I had seen some fine displays of fruit and horticultural products, but this caps it all. The Ashlanders take the whole bakery with the cake. Of course we of webfoot won't take a back seat on prunes, pears and big red apples but they can match us even in those, and in semi-tropical fruits and nuts we are not in it with them. If ever the time comes when the government shall operate the railroads and the death grip of the S. P. Co. is torn off this country they can send fruit and nuts out of here to supply a goodly slice of the world. As it is, the producer here gets about 1 cent for the pound of fruit that the transportation and other charges run up to 30 cents.
 Ashland is a place of about 2500 inhabitants, is situated in the shadow of the Siskiyou mountains about 10 miles from the California line. It is built on a rolling piece of ground that looks a great deal like the Portland Heights except the Heights of Portland is not in it for size. The soil is decomposed granite and looks like a sample of McAdam that had been broken a little too fine. There are dozens of mineral springs in the town among them sulphur of all degrees of ill smells, both hot and cold, and sometimes it blows hot and cold almost out of the same hole, at least only a foot or so away. Of course the viler the smell and taste the more "medicinal" qualities it has, and there are baths and baths, hot and cold, some free trade and others with a protective tariff thereon. But you must know that this is a mining country. I first saw the mines at Dry Diggings above Grants Pass and I thought of Josh Billings remark that "God showed what he thought of gold by the men he gave it to and the places he put it in." But here about Ashland they are getting out gold almost everywhere. Only the other day a couple of poor miners run in a tunnel into the bank of a railroad cut and got out four tons of quartz that netted them, after expenses to Frisco, about $1300 and they say they have thousands of tons in there that will go $400 per ton.
 The thunderous pounding of a five stamp quartz mill kept me awake for a long while last night and it pounds away day and night on ore taken out about 2 1/2 miles up the side of the mountain, about town.
 There is so much new to be seen here that I really have not time to set down and write about it. Have engaged to go out with a party this afternoon to look through the orchards and will report further on.
 I have met a good many here from "webfoot." Dr. Caldwell, who used to be with Swick in Salem, is now a resident here and has a fine orchard of fruit and nuts in the eastern part of town. I met our old friend Joe Purdum at Grants Pass where he is stationed at present. I will stop there as I go down.

INCORPORATIONS.—Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of secretary of state today by the Multnomah Fruit Growers' Union, of Portland. Capital stock $1,000. Chauncey Ball, Henry Freeborough and H. A. Kerns are the officers of the new company.
Chief Engineer Coss of the fire department is having twenty-five hydrants in different parts of the city "doctored." The trouble is largely a faulty construction, and it is doubtful if, after they have been thoroughly looked after, they will yield first-class service.
WELL DRESSED.—It is a matter of common remark that the best dressed men and boys seen on the streets, buy their clothing of G. W. Johnson & Son. They have confidence in them and therefore can rely upon what they say about their goods.
UNIVERSITY MEETING.—Tonight will be held a meeting of the trustees of the Willamette university to consider the matter for letting a contract for the proposed new gymnasium, and whatever else may come up.
STATIONERY.—J. L. Bennett's news stand has recently added a new department in the way of a stationery case. Here a great variety of paper, envelopes, pens, ink, pencils, stamps, etc., can always be had.
SLIGHT ACCIDENT.—As one of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s large teams was coming from the depot, this morning, a wheel gave out, which caused considerable trouble but no delay. No one was hurt.
TONIGHT.—If nothing else suits you, and you have no appetite for anything else on earth, just go around to the Congregational church chicken pie supper tonight. You will again think life is worth living.

VALLEY LOCAL NEWS.

MARION.
 The sick are improving.
 Mrs. Fisher went to Albany last Monday.
 Mr. Norton is building an addition to his barn.
 Marion warehouse handled about 30,000 bushels of grain this year.
 Obe Pickard went to Eugene last Wednesday.
 Miss Ella Pickett, of Salem, is visiting relatives here.
 Mrs. Gardner has been visiting her daughter in Portland for the past two weeks and returned home Tuesday.
 Last Monday Andrew and Lewis Fisher started for the mountains in Southern Oregon where they will search for the yellow dust.
 Forsythe says that the movers who camp near his place are very fond of young chickens.
 The members of the Friends church are talking of building a parsonage.
 W. J. Hadley has purchased some valuable lots of B. F. Hushaw and will build a residence in the near future.
 Our ferryman Mr. Cadwell has moved to Hubbard, and Mr. Liney will now carry you safely across the Santiam.
Martin Cook and wife, of Newburg, are visiting with his brother, Joseph, and other relatives in Marion.
Wedding at Jefferson.
 At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Winters near Jefferson last Wednesday evening, were assembled quite a concourse of relatives and friends to witness the wedding ceremony of their youngest daughter Allie to W. F. Shuller, a popular young business man of this city.
 The house was beautifully decorated with plants, flowers and evergreens. Promptly at 8 o'clock the wedding party entered in the following order, while Miss Ella Spangler rendered a beautiful wedding march. First came the bride and groom closely followed by the brides maid, Miss Anna Allen and the groom's best man, Mr. J. C. Selgmuud. The impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Spangler standing just in front of a beautifully decorated bay window cheerfully responded to the few queries which made them man and wife. The bride was attired in a rich cream colored silk gown, which made her look very beautiful. Soon after the ceremony, Clarence Winters, brother of the bride, who is an artist of some distinction, took a flash light picture of the parties after which they retired to the dining room where a bounteous supper had been prepared equal to the occasion.
 They were recipients of quite a number of elegant presents. The guests, after wishing them God speed in their journey through life, wended their way to their several homes.
Circuit Court.
 In department No. 2, divorces were granted in the cases of F. A. Parker vs. J. D. Parker, Addie E. Holman vs. Walter J. Holman, and George Koencke, vs. Dora Koencke, and in the case of Lena Grimm vs. Chas. Grimm was dismissed for want of prosecution on motion of the district attorney.
 Capital Lumber Co. vs. R. R. Ryan and H. E. Noble; demurrer argued.
 In the case of F. C. Baker vs. Emma Anderson; a decree was given defendant.
River News.
 The Eugene letter for Portland this morning, with a heavy cargo of flour.
 The steamer Modoc arrived last night with nearly forty tons of merchandise. She is loading with hops today, and starts tomorrow morning for Portland.
Chicken Pie Supper.
 Friday, Oct. 19th, at the Congregational church parlors, from 5 to 8 o'clock, will be served one of those famous chicken pie suppers, by the ladies of the society.
DEAD FISH.—On being asked squarely Doty & Bennett admitted that they sell no live fish, but say that they have extra choice fresh halibut, salmon, smelt, trout, sturgeon, etc., at Davidson's market.
A NEW CONCERN.—The Salem Produce Co. will open business in the D. F. Wagner building on Court street. Mr. Wagner and Henry Shoemaker will conduct it, buying and selling feed.
DIRECT QUESTIONS.—Do you enjoy a cup of superior tea? Do you prefer pure spices to adulterations? Then always go direct to J. A. Van Eaton and know that you get the best.
 "Jack—Don't forget to get that roast for tomorrow's dinner of E. C. Cross'. Remember you get the best and cheapest meat at his shop."
STUFFING.—Is that which fills a cavity. Those 15 cent meals you get at the New York Kitchen will fill a pretty large cavity.

Hop Quotations.

The Waterville, N. Y. Times, of October 12th, says: "Advises from England have reported a little advance and freer movement of stock, but the quotations from there are still below a parity with the prices current here, and exporters are getting very few orders. Nearly 500 tales have been shipped this week, and other considerable lots are being prepared for shipment, but these are mainly consigned lots and mostly from the Pacific coast, owners being inclined to try the foreign markets with a portion of their stock. Germany has improved a little, probably in sympathy with London, but there are still fewer offerings of stock to arrive from there at remarkably low figures. Regarding the situation in the interior of this state and on the Pacific coast there is not much change to note. A fair quantity of hops is changing hands in the best sections, and the prices paid are about the same as for some time past. In the local market the movement in spot goods is still very moderate; indeed the principal business so far this season has been on paper—dealers selling to brewers for future delivery. Of course most of these hops have yet to be bought, but the outlook is such that dealers are in no hurry to cover. Selling values here at present range from 10c for strictly choice state or Pacific coast down to 6c for inferior qualities.
 The Walte's Mediums, tonight Reed's.
 D. M. Smith of the Oregon Land company returned a day or so ago from a hunting and fishing trip on the Santiam. He was seen by a representative of this paper yesterday and asked to give some particulars of the trip. "Oh we had lots of fun, caught some fish, and you may not believe it but we saw a great big brown bear, running up hill." The scribe looked wise and moved off but to this moment he don't know which party was doing the running.

THE SWEETEST.—The question often arises as to what is the sweetest syrup. It is now conceded by all that the Sweet Clover Honey syrup at Joe. Clark's, 100 Court street takes the lead, and it is only 80 cents per can.
 Gen. Lew Wallace, the famous author, lectures in the opera house to-morrow evening. This rare opportunity of hearing Gen. Wallace should be inforced by all.
SURPRISED.—Everybody is surprised when they see those 15 cent meals to be had at the N. Y. Kitchen. They are good enough for a king.
CONSUMERS.—Of cigars, tobacco and confectionery, can always depend on one thing—the goods sold at the Army cigar store are all good.
J. F. Shoup is making especially low rates on feeding and boarding horses at the stables in the rear of the Willamette hotel.
 Going to see the spirits at Reed's tonight?
Caution.
 Imitations have been put upon the market so closely resembling Alcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Alcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that Alcock's are the genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever produced; when purchasing please do not only ask for but make sure that you get Alcock's. The Origin of China's Flag.
 The flag of China is one of the gayest among ensigns. The body of the flag is a pale yellow. In the upper left hand corner is a small red sun. Looking intently at the sun is a fierce Chinese dragon. The dragon's belly is a brilliant red and white. His green back is covered with stiff knobs. He is standing on his two hind paws and the left fore foot. The feet are five toed and slightly hooked. His long five forked tail stretches away in the rear. The dragon's neck is arched back. His mouth is wide open, and he looks as if he were about to try to swallow the red sun.
 The Japanese flag has a white body, and in the center is a large red sun, with rays radiating in all directions. About 1,000 years ago the Chinese made war on Japan and prepared a grand invasion. To symbolize their anticipated victory they adopted the flag of today.
 They took the sun of Japan and made it small and put it in front of the dragon's mouth to express the idea that the Chinese dragon would devour the Japanese.
 It happened, however, that the Chinese fleet, conveying an army of 100,000 men, was wrecked on its way to Japan by a great storm, and all but three of the 100,000 perished. Despite that unlucky beginning in the use of the flag the Chinese retained it.
English Wedding Cakes.
 "I wondered much how the enormous English wedding cakes, weighing into the hundreds of pounds, were baked," comments a woman, "and when I was in England I asked about it. They are baked in sections, it seems, each section weighing sometimes 40 or 50 pounds. These sections are perfect parts of the whole design and fit into their places as beautifully as pieces of cabinet work. Each section is cut open to see that it is properly baked, and the incisions are afterward covered with thick sugar and almond icing.—New York Times.
