

Old Time Methods of treating Colds and Coughs were based on the idea of suppression. We now know that "feeding a cold" is good doctrine.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil with hypophosphites, a rich fat-food, cures the most stubborn cough when ordinary medicines have failed. Pleasant to take; easy to digest.

LIVELY FIGHT WITH A SHARK.

Terrifying Experience With a Man Eaten by a Man Who Was Fishing.

William Muller, an attorney of Des Moines, Tex., had an experience with a shark on the coast of Mexico. "I hired a small sailboat," said Mr. Muller in relating his unpleasant experience, "and went out some distance from land when I baited my hook and cast it out. I used a new electrode 100 to 150 feet long for a cord, and the hook was quite large, probably six to seven inches long.

"In my fall I did not relax my hold on the line, and as soon as I realized my position I knew that my life depended on my ability to hold on to the cord. The struggle I know was not long, but to me it seemed like an age. The cord was fastened to a beam in the boat, and as soon as I appeared on the surface the boatman came to my assistance. The shark retained his grip on my leg until my body was entirely out of the water, and even then it did not let go until the boatman knocked it off with an oar. When I was safely on the inside, however, we pulled for the shore, and as my hook was securely fastened in the mouth of the shark no trouble was experienced in landing the fish. It was between 5 and 6 feet long."—Chicago Post.

JOHN BULL'S HUMOR.

It is of the Fat Witted Kind—What Americans Think of It.

Hawthorne, observing Englishmen in England, speaks of them as "heavy witted." Emerson alludes to their "saving stupidity." Howells has introduced to us some typical specimens of English respectability and rank buffed in their chase after American humor, but on the seat and arriving at the point of appreciation after considerable silent thought, sometimes lasting into the next day, and here is the testimony of Lowell from his recently published "Letters." In a letter written in 1839 from England to Professor Norton he thus explains the warm reception given to Buffalo Bill by London society:

WOMEN'S FACES—like flowers, fade and wither with time; the bloom of the rose is only known to the healthy woman's cheeks. The nervous strain caused by the ailments and pains peculiar to the sex, and the labor and worry of rearing a family, can often be traced by the lines in the woman's face. Dull eyes, the sallow or wrinkled face and those "feelings of weakness" have their rise in the derangements and irregularities peculiar to women. The functional derangements, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses of women, can be cured with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For the young girl just entering womanhood, for the mother and those about to become mothers, and later in "the change of life," the "Prescription" is just what they need; it aids nature in preparing the system for the change. It is a medicine prescribed for thirty years, in the diseases of women, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure the chronic inflammation of the lining membranes which cause such exhausting drains upon the system. It cures nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faintness, nervous debility and all disorders arising from derangement of the female organs and functions.

Mrs. JENNIE WILLIAMS, of Mohawk Lane Co., Oregon, writes: "I was sick for over three years with biliousness, spells, palpitation of the heart, pain in the back and head, and at times would have such a weak tired feeling when I first got up in the morning, and at times nervous and tremulous. The physicians differed as to what my disease was, but none of them did me any good. As soon as I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I began to get better; could sleep at night, and that bad, nervous feeling and pain in my back soon left me. I can walk several miles without getting tired, and I have used several bottles of 'Prescription' and two of 'Discovery'."

Orchard Grass For Pasture.

Owing to its habit of starting anew as soon as cut down, almost without regard to weather or season of the year, if the ground is not frozen, orchard grass makes an excellent pasture when thickly seeded, giving food both early and late in the season. It will bear continuous feeding better than almost anything but blue grass, but it has one fault: If not cut or fed down, the last late fall growth, when heavy, is liable to fall down upon the crown of the roots and smother itself out. Those who have it should look out that there is not much left standing on the field when winter comes in. It is also easily smothered by weeds when it first comes up, and if they are plenty they should be mown down until the grass gets above them.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

Short Breath, Palpitation.

Mr. G. W. McKinney, postmaster of Kokomo, Ind., and a brave ex-soldier, says: "I had been severely troubled with heart disease ever since leaving the army at the close of the late war. I was troubled with palpitation and shortness of breath. I could not sleep on my left side and had pain around my heart. I became so ill that I was much alarmed, and fortunately my attention was called to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

FORCED TO TAKE A TITLE.

Its Acquisition Forbidden by Law.

CONTRARY TO THE CONSTITUTION.

How It Has Been Fastened on a Newspaper.

The Constitution of the United States forbids the acquisition of titles.

In the far west not much respect is paid to titles. Neely every man is a "Colonel" or an "Honorable."

It is so little thought of that many men prefer to be called plain John Smith, Tilford, Jo Simon.

But titles are sometimes conferred by accident, and become a really good handle to catch hold of. In that case the people catch on and use the handle right freely and properly.

A CURIOUS CASE.

A stack of letters is received at this office in every mail and while many of them are printed in large letters "The One Cent Daily, Salem Oregon," a great many are written and there is a great variety of ways of writing it. Here are some of the forms:

"1 ct. D., Salem, Or."
"1ct. DAILY, Salem, Or."
"ONE CENT DAILY, Salem, Or."
"THE ONE CENT DAILY, Salem, Or."
"THE ONE CENT DAILY JOURNAL, Salem, Or."
"THE GREAT ONE CENT DAILY JOURNAL, Salem, Or."
"THE HONORABLE ONE CENT DAILY JOURNAL, Salem, Or."
That's a queer title for a newspaper to get isn't it! About the last on earth, anyone would think of!

"THE HONORABLE!"

Just think that over, what it means in connection with journalism.

Honorable with itself.
Honorable with the people.
Honorable with its readers.
Honorable in its politics.
Honorable with its contemporaries.
Honorable in all its dealings.
Honorable towards other communities.
Honorable towards every human being.

That's what a newspaper should be.

Perhaps?
Perhaps what?
Perhaps this is all a lie.
Maybe it is.

But the people keep on addressing their letters HON. ONE CENT DAILY, Salem, Or.

In every mail come orders with the money. It is true the amounts are small. But they aggregate enough to pay our paper bills, to pay Mrs. Jones her rent, to pay our employes, to pay the Water Company for power to run our press, to pay the Electric Light Co. for lights in the office, to pay for ink, to pay the cabbage head editor who worries the Statesman and Oregonian so. We don't know what would become of them if we had real live editors like they've got, instead of just a common dutch cabbage head.

But the orders keep coming for THE ONE CENT DAILY. 25 cents in silver for a month. 50 cents in silver for two months. $1.00 in silver for 121 days. (Do not send stamps.)

We can't stop them sending in the orders.

But we can and do stop THE ONE CENT DAILY when you time is out. No papers sent but what you pay for.
