The cash price being offered for dried prunes is from 4 cents to 5 cents. From the lowest estimate, 80,000 pounds, and at 4) cents per pound, the income from this orchard will be $3400, or a little more than $147 per acre. The cost of evaporating, at 1 cent per pound, will be about $35 per acre. Allowing $17 for spraying, cultivating, etc., leaves a net income of $100 per acre. Secretary Sargent considers this a conservative estimate.

M'GINN NOT WANTED.

Mr. McGinn is not wanted for judge. His appointment is not objected to on any personal, religious, or political grounds. He is simply not a fit man for judge, whatever else his friends may claim for him. He is not of a udicial temperament. He is impulsive, intemperate, passionate, abusiye, an extreme partisan. The little world he lives in rings with his likes and dislikes. He might disappoint the whole world and make a good judge. But the bench is a poor place to put a man to reform him. There are plenty of men in Portland bar who are good enough already to be judges without the restraining influence of judicial diguity to first make them observe the common decencies of public life.
