Salem has an enterprising drygoods merchant in Jas. J. Dalrymple. At the woolen mill meeting last night he was the first man on the floor and showed a spirit and determination to help the subsidy that was highly commendable. He is a man who has a heart for the interest of the working people, and bound to do his part at keeping our industries alive. That is the right kind of stuff and any town is fortunate to have in its midst a man of Mr. Dalrymple's grit and public spirit.

The report of the Superintendent shows an increase in attendance for this month of 64 pupils. A request was read from the residents of Highland that a teacher be employed for a primary grade. The Friend's church has tendered the directors the use of a room free. The question was referred to directors Byrd and Bruce and Superintendent Peables, with power to act.

Good Fair to Draw to.

The people of Salem owe a debt of gratitude to two gentlemen who attended the woolen mill meeting last night and showed their faith by putting down their name for over $5,000 of the $25,000 stock, and in the language of the poet "they are a good pair to draw to." J. J. Dalrymple and J. M. Wallace showed themselves to be thoroughbreds in attending that meeting and subscribing as liberally as they did. But for them the meeting would have been a failure so far as raising the money is concerned. Their example at a critical time will inspire confidence in our city, and the raising of the entire $25,000 ought to be only a matter of a short time.

Slash!

The way to build up Salem is (trade in Salem.) Now in order to induce your readers who think they can do better by sending East for goods to keep their money home, I have resolved to make up a fine all wool sack suit for $15, cutaway suits from $17 to $25 and pants from $5 up. Call and leave your orders this week so that I can keep my help busy. This will do you more good than if you get your clothes made in the sweat shops back East. C. H. LANE, 211 Commercial street, Salem, Or.

"The Common People," As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of the medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill, assist digestion, cure headaches. 25c.

There are 535,255,000 ties used to cover this ground.

There are 10,000,000 ties used to bind these rails together, but no such amount, however, is required to bind the hearts of the traveling public to the fact that the Wisconsin Central lines furnish superior facilities on all their trains between St. Paul and Chicago which form close connection with all lines to the east and south.
