

THE CAPITAL JOURNAL

(DAILY AND WEEKLY) BY HOPER BROTHERS.

SATURDAY, JAN. 4, 1896.

Can we stand on the Cleveland gold standard and prosper?

Live within your means if you have to take a cent daily to do it.

Senator Sherman continues to be considerable of a Republican bimetalist.

The Statesman should not ruin Judge Hubbard's chances by supporting him.

Carlisle expects no surplus revenue until 1897, when he knows the Republicans will be in power.

The telegraphic reports show about even quantities of perfect tranquility and Armenian massacres in Turkey.

The greenback which was good enough to pay the soldiers in, is not good enough to satisfy the modern financier.

Carlisle and Cleveland seem bent on destroying the greenbacks. It would be safe to bet 10 to 1 the greenbacks destroy them.

England and Armenia—Salisbury goes in—massacres begin—an end of the sentimental politics of Gladstone and Roseberry.

The great powers spend a billion on preserving their defenses in Europe—but cannot defend the Armenians from plunder and massacre.

Judge Hubbard was getting along swimmingly until the Statesman turned around and supported him. Now his friends will have to rustle.

In France the postoffice savings banks according to the last annual report had 2,280,061 depositors, and total deposits of 690,000,000 francs, or about $175,000,000.

The government, spent, last year, $433,178,420. When they are talking about higher tariffs and issues of bonds, it never occurs to anyone that all official salaries could be reduced 10 to 25 per cent, and still officials would live well.

England has investments in this country of $3,193,500,000. At six per cent there is an interest bill each year to pay of $191,610,000 in gold. We produced gold for the mint last year of $43,000,000. It will take a balance of trade in our favor of $148,000,000 to keep square with England.

Seventeen years ago Armenia was about to get protection from Russia but at the treaty of Berlin England secured the island of Cyprus and guaranteed Turkey should give good government to Armenia. "Peace with Honor" preserved, but a Christian race exterminated. Oh, for a touch of Monroe doctrine.

Lane county politics is growing red-hot quite early. Hon. C. H. Baker's friends want him elected senator to succeed Hon. B. F. Alley. The Dolph contingent of politicians are pushing Hon. S. L. Moorhead, of Junction City, the only Dolph man from Lane county in the last legislature. Moorhead is said to have Junction solid and the railroad influence. Mayor Friendly, of Eugene, is also spoken of as a candidate. The friends of Senator Mitchell in Lane county will try to unite on a delegation favorable to him. If that is what the people of Lane county want they should take no chances. It is said the devil takes no chances and in selecting representatives the people cannot be less wise than the arch-enemy of mankind.

The Discovery Saved His Life. Mr. G. Callonnie Duggins, Beaverville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but on an oval seal was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began to use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was cured about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep using our home without it." Got a free trial at Fred A. Logg's Drug Store.

A WOMAN'S LETTER

Impinent Danger of the Departure of the Masculine Contingent of our Population for China.

Japanese women never discuss their servants. To do so would be contrary to Japanese etiquette. They may talk of dress, the theatre and the rest.

Well, well, well! Who would have thought the woman lived who could resist the temptation to talk about her servants? It seems too good to be true. It must be an advertising dodge to cause the tide of emigration to flow toward the shores of Japan.

And if it is, it undoubtedly will have the desired effect, for there is no man but who has had dinner into his ears distressing tales of the depravity of the servants, until he has been tempted to fall in business so that his wife would be compelled to do the work herself. The women themselves have been made the target for countless arrows of sarcasm and ridicule, and sneers of anger and disgust.

MUST WE?

The woman who is annoyed by the lack of attention shown her in the shop should take her cue from the actresses. They mention casually that they wish such and such a thing to "wear on the stage."

Will it ever be necessary for us to adopt such measures? Surely not. It is difficult to believe that the general body of the army of wage-earning women who are employed as saleswomen lower the dignity of their calling by a willful neglect and disregard of shoppers.

It does seem that a woman who would stoop to such subterfuge as is suggested above, would be one of those who would make her shopping expedition anything but a pleasant experience to the poor being so unfortunate as to be obliged to wait upon her.

The main portion of the girls, who occupy such a position, are of respectable parentage, fairly educated, and because of a courtesy inherent in a woman's nature, are obliging and kind. There is really no necessity for adopting any such measures for securing their attention.

Why, you don't want to attempt to pass yourself off for one of them, surely? Wouldn't you rather miss your ear, and await the convenience or pleasure of the woman behind the counter? You think the theatrical people harshly spoken of? Why, no, not in the least.

Let us just be content to await our turn, and when it arrives, conduct ourselves in a manner to command respectful attention, and we will receive it. UNFAIR.

Miss Ella Ewing, of Price, Mo., is said to be eight feet and two inches in height, and weighs 200 pounds. She takes up the collection every Sunday in one of the churches of Price, and attracts more attention than the minister.

It seems like taking an unfair advantage of the public to send so large a person to collect the nickels and dimes. One would feel almost compelled to double the amount he had originally intended to contribute.

UNIVERSITY NOTES. Taylor Burcham, an old student of Willamette but now attending the Leland Stanford university, was a welcome visitor Thursday. Orr Royal, Ralph Riggs and Miss Lucia Cochran visited chapel Thursday morning.

HARVEY SCOTT HOWLS.

(Oregonian, Jan. 3.) The sessions of the teachers' institute at Portland, held under the direction of the state superintendent, suggests another subject for remark.

A whole cluster of extravagance and abuses has grown up around this office of state superintendent of public instruction. It is very costly, and adds nothing whatever to the efficiency of the schools.

It makes bills of almost every kind at the expense of the state, yet is really useless: for such superintendency as public school affairs might require from the state could be had, as formerly, through the governor's office.

The things mentioned herein are but incidents and examples. All departments find it easy and agreeable to spend money. No wonder the taxes are burdensome.
