The Defeat of All Sectarian School Appropriations.

LINTON LEADS THE FIGHT

And the Lines Are Closely Drawn on Church Matters.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The house yesterday in committee of the whole after a very interesting debate, by a vote of 93 to 64, decided that none of the appropriations in the Indian appropriation bill for Indian schools should go to the sectarian schools. The only sectarian schools to which money now goes are Roman Catholic in denomination, and the fight today was led by Linton, a Michigan Republican, who is the most pronounced and openly avowed A. P. A. member on the floor.

In last year's bill the appropriation was cut down 28 per cent, with the understanding that it should be reduced 20 per cent each year until it ceased, at the end of five years. The committee on Indian affairs this year resolved that this appropriation be reduced 20 per cent, but Linton moved an amendment that no portion of this appropriation should go to sectarian schools. In his speech in support of it, he attributed the defeat of many members two years ago to their refusal to abolish sectarian schools, and predicted disaster to those who still stood out against their abolition. He also referred indignantly to a statue of Pere Marquette, robed in the gown of a Jesuit priest and decorated with the paraphernalia of his church, which soon is to be erected in statutory hall, in the presence of the high dignitaries of the Catholic church.

In the debate which followed, Cooper (Republican, of Wisconsin), Watson (Republican, of Ohio), Halner (Republican, of Nebraska), McLachlan (Republican, of California), and Grosvernor (Republican, of Ohio) supported the amendment, while Eddy (Republican, of Minnesota), Gamble (Republican, of South Dakota), Walsh (Democrat, of New York) and Sherman (of Ohio), argued in favor of carrying out the policy of reducing the appropriations by 20 per cent per year. The latter recalled that General Grant had proposed the system, and that for 25 years congress had encouraged the churches to carry on their educational work among the Indians.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The House today passed the Indian appropriation bill.

AS DEAD AS CAESAR.

That's What Frye Says of the Tariff Bill.

MASSACRE IS REPORTED

At Malatia and Seven Other Points in Armenia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Morrill, chairman of the finance committee moved in the senate today that the tariff bill be taken up. He spoke briefly, urging the needs of the treasury, and that business demanded action. On roll call Morrill's motion was defeated, yeas 22, nays 33. After the vote had been announced a sensational colloquy occurred between Morrill, Teller and Sherman. Morrill said that the tariff bill was dead, and he added that it was not shown that there was not a Republican majority in the senate. Teller responded with intense feeling. He declared that he and his silver Republican associates could not be read out of the Republican party.

Sherman followed with a severe arraignment on the inaction of congress, saying it was a crime against the country and against civilization. He declared that he would continue to urge action on the tariff bill. Frye of Maine took the floor to declare that the tariff bill was as dead as Julius Caesar. Business interests demand that the statement be emphatically made that the bill was dead. He hoped it would never be heard from again and let the responsibility rest where it belonged. At 2:10 Morgan resumed his speech on the Cuban revolution.

AGAINST SILVER.
