INSULTED BY YALE, THE FARMERS OF EUROPE ENDORSE BRYAN.

Bryan Forced to Stop in a Speech.

BY YALE STUDENTS AND BAND

Unpleasant Interruption of His New England Tour.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 25.—Yale students, assisted by a band of the First regiment of the National Guard of Connecticut, broke up the address of W. J. Bryan at this place this afternoon.

Joseph B. Sargent, the Democratic nominee for governor, who was to introduce Bryan, tried to quiet the yelling mob in front, but he could not be heard 10 feet away. In vain did Bryan attempt to restore order, and it was many minutes before anything like quiet was obtained. Then the crowd began to surge again, and the police began to fight those in front. Women fainted, and several persons were taken from the crowd overpowered by the crush. The police used their clubs, and one of their number, mounted on a spirited horse, forced the animal in front of the stand, nearly creating a panic. Then again Bryan tried to speak, but he was interrupted by the yells of the students.

This lasted altogether for 25 minutes, and when at last the noise had subsided sufficiently for him to make himself heard by those immediately in front of him, Bryan started to speak. As he proceeded, the noise quieted, but every few minutes he would be interrupted by the frog chorus. Bryan said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen: I am glad that there are college students here. I want to say a word to the students. Your college has helped to add fame to your city, and those who are assembled here are supposed to come in order that they may better equip themselves for the duties of life. I am glad to talk to you students, because, my friends, we have a cause which appeals to students. If the syndicates and corporations rule this country, then no young man has a fair show unless he is a favorite of a corporation. [Applause and yells for McKinley by a portion of the students.]

"We desire to have all the avenues open, so the son of the humblest citizen may aspire to the highest position within the gift of the people. [Applause and yells repeatedly.] I am not speaking now to the sons who are sent to college on the proceeds of ill-gotten gains. [Enthusiastic applause.] I will wait until these sons have exhausted what their fathers have left them, and I will appeal to their children, who will have to commence life where their grandfathers commenced. [Great applause.]

"We appeal not only to the students; we appeal to business men who have been terrorized by financial—what may I call it? [applause]—who have been tyrannized by financial institutions. In some instances, it is more dangerous to raise your voice against the ruling powers than it is in an absolute monarchy to criticize the government. [Great applause.] If there is anybody who loves that sort of condition, then I shall offend him by speaking of it, but I shall not offend any man who loves liberty and the right of free speech in this country. [Great applause.] In all my travels, I have not found a crowd that needed talking to so much as this crowd does. [Cries of "That's right!"] I came to this city something more than a year ago and I learned something of the domination of your financial classes. I have seen it elsewhere, but my friends, the great mass of the people, even of this city, will be better off under bimetalism that permits the nation to grow than under a gold standard which starves everybody, except the money-changer and the money-owner. [Great applause.] No party ever declared in its platform that it was in favor of hard times, and yet the party that declares for a gold standard in substance declares for a continuation of hard times."

Here, a band of the First regiment, N. G. C. which had been playing on the east side of the common where the company had been on a dress parade during the meeting, marched nearer to the stand and started a lively patriotic air, completely drowning the voice of the nominee. Yale

The International Agricultural Congress at Buda Pesth Sends Him Greeting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The World has this from Buda Pesth, Hungary: The following cable message, signed by the delegates to the International Agricultural congress, called at Buda Pesth by the Hungarian minister of agriculture, has been sent to the Democratic candidate for president of the United States:

BUDA PESTH, Aug. 24.—To Mr. Wm. J. Bryan, Headquarters Democratic party, Chicago: "We, the undersigned, members of the International Agricultural congress, convened at Buda Pesth, wish you success in your struggle against the domination of the creditor class, which during the past 23 years, has secured, both in America and Europe, monetary legislation destructive of the prosperity of your farmers and others.

Should you be victorious in November we pledge ourselves to spare no effort to bring immediate pressure upon our respective governments to cooperate with the government of your great nation in restoring silver to the world's currency.

We believe that, failing such restoration, the gold premium throughout all Asia and South America will continue to rob the farmer, equally of America and Europe, of all rewards for his toil, and that your election may avert from Europe serious agrarian and social troubles now impending.

- COUNT ALEXANDER KAROLYI, President of the Hungarian Chamber of Commerce.
- D. BAUDIN, President of the Society of Agriculture in Holland.
- ALPHONSE ALLARD, Administrator of the Central Chamber of Agriculture in Belgium.
- VON KARDORF, Minister of the German Reichstag.
- GEORGE BOUTMY, Imperial Society of Agriculture of Russia.
- WILLIAM FIELD, Member of Parliament and President of the Irish Cattle Traders' Association.
- COUNT KOLOWRAT, Austria.
- OTTO ARNDT, Member of the Prussian Diet.
- VON FLOETZ DOLLINGEN, Member of the German Reichstag.
- MEYER ROTTMANNSDORF, Member of the German Reichstag.
- HENRY SEGNIER, France.
- VAN SYDOW DOBERPHAL, Prussia.
- EMIL ASCHENHORFF, Prussia.
- LEON RAFFALOVITCH, President of the Azoff Bank of Russia.
- F. RAEDER, Denmark.

MITCHELL AT ASHLAND.

His Speech Entirely Defensive of His Recent Flop.

ASHLAND, Sept. 23.—Yesterday was a gala day with the gold standard republicans, and they burnt a deal of powder, and brought a brass band from Grant's Pass with Mitchell. He labored hard for about two hours to first establish the fact that we rebelled against Great Britain, not on account of political oppression or tyranny—not on account of personal liberty or freedom—but on account of industrial oppression, so that we might set up a government where we could have protection from British oppression. That that same protection was now threatened and that therefore we must stand for protection as of equal importance with bimetalism.

That his record in congress and now on the stump was consistent, that he was no "dodger." That he meant it was as impossible for us to get internationalism under a democratic administration as to get railroad communication with the planet Mars. Yet by reference to his language in January last, it was as impossible to secure international bimetalism with Europe "now, or at any other time," as to get communication with the planet Mars. I do not think he changed a single vote from Bryan.

RALLY AT DALLAS.

Joint Debate Between J. J. Whitney and C. B. Moores.

DALLAS, Or., Sept. 25.—In order to get out a crowd to hear Hon. C. B. Moores of Salem, Senator B. F. Mulkey and others circulated the report that there would be a joint debate last night. Hon. J. J. Whitney, of Albany, happened into town and a debate was arranged. When it was over the McKinley managers were very sorry they ever allowed it to take place, because the Bryan men had the best of it throughout.

Judge Whitney is an old farmer but he handles himself like a gladiator in the ring and the cause of bimetalism will be ably upheld wherever he speaks in this campaign, and he is able to meet any man in Oregon in debate.

INSANE.—David H. Harris, of Sweet Home, Linn County, and Frank Ramsdell, of Marion, Marion county, were committed to the asylum today.

Uncle Jesse Cox, on his farm near Goshen, has a tomato vine that measures 144 ft across. Who can beat this for size.

According to the Florence West the political clubs at that place have the following membership: Bryan club 127; McKinley club 106.

The Harrisburg Review says that a poll was recently taken of all voters at the Davis hop yard. Out of a total of 61 votes 11 were for McKinley and 50 for Bryan.

C. H. Hills, of Jasper, Or., is an old pioneer of Oregon, 79 years of age, and had never in his life taken a ride on railroad train, until the other day, when he went to visit his son, near Astoria.

The Springfield match hunt will not take place until next Tuesday, September 29. It was postponed one week on account of a number of the members being employed in the hop fields.

Fire, set out to burn a brush pile on the farm of Mr. Watkins, near Philomath, Friday, got beyond control and burned over a fifty acre pasture and destroyed over a half a mile of fence. The damage was considerable.

Out of 1100 votes in Morrow county in the June election there are now 300 enrolled in Heppner for Bryan. The fact that at least one third of the sheepmen of Morrow county are for Bryan is significant. The wool has not grown over their eyes.

Assessor Burton, of Lane county, has secured $45,000 in assessments on notes that were not given in by their owners when the assessor made his rounds. The notes were traced up by their owners by going through the mortgage records on file at the court house.

The Oregon annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is in session at Roseburg. The district embraces all the territory in Oregon west of the Cascade mountains. Bishop Cranston of Portland is the presiding officer.

The little girl who was lost for a week in the woods over in Union county recently found a piece of quartz which contained $75 worth of gold. Her father separated the gold and has deposited it to her credit where it will remain till she becomes of age, when principal and interest will be paid her.

James Nanny was working on his farm a few miles from Albany, burning brush, when he accidentally fell through some brush into a hole five feet deep striking on his right elbow. He was brought to his home and Drs. Ellis and Beers called, setting the bone. On account of the nature of the break it is probable the arm will be stiff for life.

A LIVELY SCRAP.—Ross McCornack and Alex Shepard, had a sharp encounter this forenoon, in a Salem saloon. Both men are well known amateur scrappers, and the fight was fierce and hot while it lasted, the proprietor only stopping it by sending for the police. McCornack was knocked down promptly and trampled upon hard. McCornack had been drinking and was very abusive, but he got the worst of it from the start. The men were separated before serious damage was done.

Sentenced to Be Hanged.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 25.—Harvey Allender, convicted last Friday, of the murder of Miss Walburga Fielner, on August 9, was this morning sentenced to be hanged December 11.

Why the Farmer Has Been Studying the Money Question.

BRYAN'S SPEECH AT DOVER, DELAWARE.

If times are good, then there is no reason why we should make any change in legislation. If our present condition is satisfactory, then we ought to leave it alone and not make a change. No one can advocate any kind of remedial legislation, except on the theory that there is something that needs remedying. Our opponents confess the condition, and I tell you that you cannot remedy the present condition except by financial legislation. Our opponents tell us the trouble is in the tariff question, and that if we could just have more tariff, then times would get good again. I want to read you an extract from a speech made last Saturday by the Republican candidate for president, at Canton. He said: "Under the Republican protective policy we enjoyed, for more than 30 years, the most marvelous prosperity that has ever been given to any nation of the world. We not only had individual prosperity, but we had national prosperity." Now there is a statement made within a week by the presidential candidate on the Republican ticket, pointing back for 30 years, from 1860 to 1890, and telling the people that during that period we enjoyed the most marvelous prosperity of any nation in the world, and that we had both individual and national prosperity. I want to show you how distance lends enchantment to the view.

I want to show, by this same witness, his testimony, given six years ago, that after 30 years of this kind of policy, the farmers of this country were not prosperous. If you will take the report filed with the McKinley bill on the 14th of April, 1890, you will find the words which I wish to quote: "That there is widespread depression in this industry today cannot be doubted," speaking of agriculture. That is what the present candidate said when he deliberately wrote the report. [Great applause.] Again, in that same report, he said: "One of the chief complaints now prevalent among our farmers is that they cannot get prices for their crops at all commensurate with the labor and capital invested in their production." That is what he said after 30 years of the kind of policy which the candidate of the Republican party says will bring you prosperity. Let me read again: "We have not believed that our people, already suffering from low prices, can or will be satisfied with
