Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, that imparts vigor to the whole body. Read this letter:

down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." Ex-Congressman Ben Wood tells character of a medicine of his first meeting with James Gordon Bennett, publisher.

Mr. Wood took an active part in politics before he was of age. One day he was transfixed, as he thought, by a newspaper reporter, and after the fashion of the day sought personal satisfaction by giving the reporter a physical examination. Mr. Bennett in The Herald took the matter up and roasted Mr. Wood accordingly.

The next day the latter went to the editorial office, firmly resolved to beat Mr. Bennett too. He found the editor at his desk, and thrusting a copy of the morning paper under his nose said:

"I want to know who wrote that article, sir."

Mr. Bennett laid down his pen, and looking up at him curiously and benignly asked:

"Are you Ben Wood?"

"Yes, sir. That is my name."

"Well, Wood, how old are you?"

"I am nearly 20."

"Indeed," rejoined Mr. Bennett, with the broad Scotch accent. "Well, Mr. Wood, don't you think it a great thing for a man as young as you are to be dignified and advertised by notice in the editorial pages of The Herald? My dear sir, I congratulate you."

Mr. Wood was taken aback with this new view of the thing. The two men had a friendly chat, and the man who came in angry went away in high good humor and with the editor's blessing.—New York Mail and Express.

A Fish Story.

Frank Vinton and others caught a 300 pound sturgeon at Astoria, Wash., and made the line fast to a young tree standing on the shore. Later, when they went to draw the big fish, they found it had escaped by pulling the tree up by the roots and taking over 80 feet of small rope along.

Dairy and Creamery.

Professor Dean of the Ontario Agricultural college, speaking of the difference between cheese and evaporated milk, says: "The difference between cheese and evaporated milk is chiefly this—the former contains but three or four of the original compounds of the milk—viz, water about 81 per cent; fat, 31 per cent; casein, 31 per cent, and about 7 per cent of lactic acid, ash, etc., while the evaporated milk has also the milk sugar, which in cheesemaking passes off in the whey, and a varying amount of water and in some cases cane sugar."

Scientific cheesemakers at the experiment station believe it of opinion that cheese can be made without rennet and that this will be done in course of time, though how they are not prepared to say.

The truth about aerating milk seems to be this: if you want it to get cream from butter making, do not aerate it, as this makes the cream hard to get out of the milk. Milk that is clean does not need aeration for butter making purposes. But if you sell the milk and want to get the best price for a pure, sweet article without any food flavors or cowy odors, then aerate it.

Dairy Instructor Ball advises all creameries to put in apparatus for pasteurizing or sterilizing the cream before they churn it. This is done in Danish creameries and constitutes one reason why Danish butter is considered the best that is made.

Mix together the bulky and concentrated foods in proper proportion.

The co-operative creamery system is entirely successful in Denmark. There are over 1,000 such creameries in that country at present, each with a membership ranging from 10 to 100.

Danish farmers start a creamery by forming themselves into an association and borrowing capital on the joint security of the members. Then they build a creamery and set it going. No member is allowed to leave the association until it is free from debt. An executive committee is appointed, consisting of chairman, secretary, treasurer, auditor and directors. A general manager is named, and he and the executive committee transact all the business and run the creamery without any meddling on the part of the stockholders.

Second crops of strawberries are in bloom in Coos county, and are promising, though they may be nipped.

Very often Nature needs only a little help to get over an obstruction. When a boom of logs is floating down a river, all goes well until one single log strikes something and sticks. Then there's a "jam"—and trouble. It is just so in the progress of food through the digestive organs. Everything goes well till something sticks. Then the process of digestion stops. That's indigestion. Unless the impediment is removed, poisonous putrid matter begins to accumulate. There's a "jam"—constipation, and trouble. Sick headache, biliousness, nervousness, vertigo, heartburn, loss of appetite—these are some of the symptoms. Just a little help at the appearance of the first one would end the trouble. Nature is a hard worker, but she needs assistance if too much be put upon her.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets offer the best and simplest method for furnishing this assistance. They are prompt and very effective in their action, but they are not strong nor severe. They cause no violent wrench of the system. They go right to the "log" that is fast and loosen it. Nature does the rest. By and by, with a little care in dieting, Nature will do it all. That's one great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets"—over the many strongly cathartic pills—you do not become a slave to their use. They really cure the trouble they are meant to cure. Even the worst kind of chronic constipation disappears with their use.

CAUTION.—Some designing dealers do not permit their customers to have Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets because inferior pills afford greater profits. Such dealers are short sighted. They overlook the fact that next time you will go where you are supplied with what you ask for.
