DEDICATED.

There dwells in this cry s : far, A bright eyed angel of light, She's crowned with a wreath of adburn hais, And her ways are winning and bright.

She always will gladden your sight; In sorrow or joy, or gladness or pain, the brightens life's dreary night.

She lives in a cottage so cozy,
With a wind mill just back of the door;
And her face, her smile, her lips so rosy, Drive worry away evermore.

I ben hail to this maiden so sweet, May her life forever be g ad; May the brambles of life never wound her shy Nor her journey lead where it is sad,

IN MEMORIAM.

In loying remembrance of Shirley Mobley the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Mobley of Morning-side, died Nov. 24, 1896.

Through a prolonged sickness of typhoid fever, little Shirely showed the greatest patience and bore all his suffering with fortitude. Shirley was affectionate and kind and studious in school, and beloved by all who knew him. During his illness the children in his room manifested more than usual interest in his condition and hope of his recovery. When his death was announced a shadow fell upon the whole school, all well knowing that the bright, happy face of this loving affectionate companion, they would see no more in this life. His school mates respected him, his tachers loved him and all felt that in his death a lovely light had gone cut. With the bereaved parents we sincerely sympathize, well knowing the wish nearest the parents heart was to have their boy grow up to manhood and till some place of honor, to have him as their pride and comfort in their declining days. Thus it is a Flour. In wholesale lots, 4.20 bitter grief and disappointment to 4.20; bran, bulk 13.00; sacked, have a lovely bright boy, a boy of developing powers and affectionate regard for parents, to be taken away, at Pour gard for parents, to be taken away, at so early an age. But no one can criticise God's dispensation. He plucks many a lovely flower to take it to his bosom while leaving others to grow on in beauty and perfection.

It seems all for the best when God ylucks the whole flower or bud at once and takes it as an ornament for Paradise. This child never lingered to be gradually with-ered on the tree of life, God took him fresh in the bloom of life and placed him amongst the choicest flowers of the Father's Home.

A precious one from us has gone; A voice we loved is stilled: A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled.

God, in his wisdom, has recalled The boon his love had given; And though his body moulders here, The soul is safe in Heaven.
