Heard Petitions. Resolutions and Other Routine Business.

The situation of the Oregon legislature is not improved. The decision of the senate by a tie on a roll call and by taking no appeal from President Simon's ruling to not even allow the Benson house to be recognized on the senate, leaves the situation -chaotic so far as the house is concerned.

The Benson faction in the house claim to be the regularly organized permanent organization, and are going ahead with from 30 to 31 members to transact business. They introduce bills, adopt resolutions, employ officers and proceed as though they were a legitimate and recognized legislative body. It would take every vote they have to pass a bill. So far neither the senate, governor, secretary of state nor any other state official recognize the Benson faction as the house. The temporary organizotion under Speaker Davis continues to meet from day to day and
