DIED.
DENHAM.—At the family home in this city corner of Church and Center streets, Sunday evening June 20, 1897, Gracie Lois, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Denham.
The little sufferer was taken sick on Thursday evening, but the very contagious disease was beyond the physician's skill. The house has been quarantined and all precaution taken to keep it from spreading.
The funeral took place at 10 a. m., today, services being conducted by Rev. G. W. Grannis, at the grave, and only the members of the family, who had been exposed, were allowed to attend.
Gracie was a faithful member of the Presbyterian Sunday school. Being of an amiable disposition she was loved by all.
She was to have taken part in the Children's Day exercises, Sunday morning, but the loving Father, who knows best, took her from her little class mates, to dwell with Him.
Children's Day.
Sunday was generally observed by the Salem Sunday schools as children's day. In the morning the First Presbyterian Sunday school entertained a large audience with a highly interesting program, a special feature of which was some singing and other exercises by Chinese boys. A class of little folks of the primary department came up for promotion into junior department. The exercises were much enjoyed.
In the evening the Sunday school of the First Methodist church presented an appropriate program, of recitations, solos, duets and choruses. The church was comfortably filled and the exercises passed off very creditably. The platform was very beautifully decorated for the occasion.

INQUEST Held on Sunday Afternoon. Jury Determines the Remains to Be Those of Kriens.

At 2 p. m. Sunday, Coroner A. M. Clough proceeded to conduct an inquest over the remains of the unknown man, who was found in the Willamette river, about three miles north of Salem, Friday morning. The jury consisted of Fred Wickstrom, H. F. Jory, James Batchelor, W. W. Hepburn, J. S. Walker and E. Huff, the latter being selected as foreman.
C. N. Tanner, who resides about two and one-half miles east of Salem, was the first witness: Was at wharf, with wife, on the morning of February 22, and while on upper deck heard a man fall overboard. He came to the surface twice and called for help. A life preserver and a bench were thrown to him by the boat crew, but he was unable to save himself. Did not see the man distinctly enough to recognize his features.
A. W. Graham and A. J. Spong, present pursuer and captain respectively of the Ramona were next called. Neither were on the Ramona on the morning of the accident but recognized the clothing found with the body as that worn by the steamboat cook. The witnesses stated the cook to be of good habits and temperate.
Engineer Walter Kaiser, was next called. Saw the man come up last time, everything done to save him. The witness also identified the clothing found with the body as exactly like that worn by the deceased steamboat cook.
The next witness called was Wm. Hughes, who with a companion discovered the body in the river Friday morning. His story was in accordance with the facts published in THE JOURNAL Friday evening.
M. P. Baldwin, local agent for the O. C. T. Co., told of the drowning of the man. Identified the remains and clothing as those of Kriens.
Dr. C. H. Robertson: Body has appearance of being in water from four to six months; is badly decomposed, his features are unrecognizable. He was about six feet in height.
C. E. Thibodeau, who with Mr. Hughes found the body, was next called and corroborated the statements of Mr. Hughes.
T. M. Eckhart—Saw man in water. He disappeared within a very few minutes. Heard him call for help.
Mrs. Anna Krien, of Portland—Mr. Krien was an American. Would have been 33 in August. Identified the clothing found with the body as that worn by her deceased husband.
This concluded the taking of testimony and after a few moments deliberation the jury returned the following verdict:
"That deceased was Wm. Kriens, was a native of the United States, was about 33 years old; that he came to his death on the 22nd day of February, 1897, by accidentally falling off of the Steamer Ramona at Salem, Marion county, Oregon, on the 22nd day of February, 1897, by being then and there drowned, and that the officers and crew are exonerated from any blame whatever."

REMAINS INTERRED.
The remains of the deceased steamboat cook were shipped to Philomath via Steamer Albany, Sunday afternoon where they were given interment this morning.

SUMMER MUSIC SCHOOL.

Prof. Winkler Will Conduct Classes for Three Weeks.
Emil L. Winkler, at his studio over the First National bank, will conduct a three week's summer school for music teachers and students. The course is calculated and arranged to be of special benefit to those teachers and students who cannot spare the time or have not the opportunity of applying themselves to the study of music during the regular school year. The instructions will be as follows, and each line of study can be arranged for separately:
Pianoforte Playing—Lipzig conservatory method, private lessons, from two to five lessons per week.
Voice Culture—Taught by Prof. Boyer, of Portland from two to five lessons per week.
Musical Composition—From two to five lessons per week.
Harmony—Including the theories of Oscar Paul, Reinecke, and Gustave Schreyer. Class lessons every week day.
Piano Pedagogy—Lecture every day in the art of teaching, principles of touch and technique and memory. Complete course of studies and compositions graded and analyzed for teaching.
Piano Reading Classes—For the more advanced students only. The four and eight hand arrangements of orchestral masterpieces by Haydn, Beethoven and Brahms will be studied. Classes will meet five times a week. No charge for students taking private lessons.
Lecture Recitals—will take place every Saturday at 11 a. m. For students only. No charge.
Practice Rooms—With piano will be at the disposal of students at small expense. All arrangements must be made by July 1, as all classes should be formed early. For full particulars, terms, etc., address

SALEM DEFEATS ST. PAUL. It Was a Very Exciting Game—Chemawa Beats M. A. A. C.

On a slow field and after a very exciting and closely contested game, the Salem Baseball nine defeated the St Paul team on the Gervais diamond Saturday afternoon. The score was 11 to 10 in favor of the Salem team. The Salem nine and about twenty enthusiasts went to Gervais on the 2 o'clock local returning on the 8:30 overland.
The game was called at 3:30 p. m. with St Paul at the bat. Charles Craven, of this city, umpired the game with his usual impartiality for which he was complimented at the close of the game.
About 250 persons witnessed the game, among whom were numbered the fair sex of Gervais, the belles of St Paul and a number of attractive young residents of Woodburn.
The home team is quite jubilant over its victory since it is the first successful game in which they have participated this season. In previous games the Salem team has returned with its banner trailing in the dust but on this occasion it was unfurled to the breeze and Harry Olinger returned with an olive branch.
The victory achieved Saturday may be attributed to the fact that it was the first game in which the entire team participated. The assignment of places on the team to Murphy and Coleman greatly strengthened the nine. The boys are very much encouraged over the game and will begin regular practice and arrange for a number of games during the summer. To make individual mention of the performances of the home players would be unjust, for each played a perfect game, only five errors being made. Max Miller made an excellent catcher and J. Evans pitched exceptionally well, being only the second game with him. The infield of the Salem team is especially good, and is only equalled by the outfield.
The feature of the game was a double play from the right field by Olinger, Coleman and Murphy. The St. Paul team played a good game, but they can't defeat Salem.
The substitutes for the Salem team were, A. Southwick, Ed. Baker, Townsend and Jay McCormick.
The scores by innings was as follows: The Salem team not playing its ninth inning:
St. Paul.....0 0 1 0 0 2 1 2 4—10
Salem.....2 0 2 0 3 0 3 1 x—11
The names and positions of the players on the two teams were as follows:
St. Paul Position Salem
Ryan.....c.....Miller
Vivette.....p.....J. Evans
Parrot.....s.....R. Coleman
Davidson.....1b.....Stutesman
Coleman.....2b.....Brown
Lambert.....3b.....Murphy
Pelland.....rf.....W. Evans
Crete.....cf.....D. Minto
La Fontaine.....lf.....H. Olinger
M. A. A. C. SUPPERS DEFEAT.
The Chemawa Indian training school baseball nine won new laurels Saturday. They began a match game with the Multnomah team but were obliged to discontinue the game at the close of the fifth inning owing to a drenching rain when the score stood 7 to 2 in favor of the Chemawa team. The Portland team was outclassed at every point. The Chemawa team was quite jubilant on its return from Portland, and was given a warm reception by the entire school upon arriving at Chemawa.

SALEM VS. CHEMAWA.

Arrangements have about been completed for a match game of ball between the Salem and Chemawa nines at Dallas on Thursday afternoon next at which time there will be a picnic at that point. Should the game be played a very interesting one is anticipated.
Kearney Lecture.
The following program for the meeting at the Presbyterian church has been prepared:
Hymns by the congregation led by Mrs. B. J. Sharp.
Scripture lesson—Mrs. J. M. Martin.
Prayer—Mrs. W. C. Kantner.
Vocal solo—Mrs. G. W. Grannis.
Address—Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi, National Organizer W. C. T. U.
PIANO RECITALS.—Tomorrow at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. pupils of E. L. Winkler will give a piano recital at Reed's opera house. Everybody is cordially invited. There will be no charge for admission. The pianos are kindly furnished by Messrs. Geo. Will and Chas. Whale.
A GREAT RUN.—Has been enjoyed by Sonnemann the grocer, on his fine designs in tableware, but notwithstanding this he now has another lot of new patterns that simply please everybody.
WIDELY KNOWN.—It was rather strange, but nevertheless true, but everybody called for the popular 10 cent La Corona cigar yesterday. Its fame and popularity as a superior cigar is not confined to local circle by any means.

THOUSANDS Visited Capital City Sunday. Forty Car-loads of Picnicers Were Here.

Threatened rain early Sunday morning possibly prevented many from attending the conductors picnic at Salem yesterday. The rain that appeared so unavoidable in the morning, fell in copious showers throughout the afternoon, greatly marring the pleasure of those wishing to view the city, besides interfering a great deal with the games and other amusements that had been provided for the occasion at the fairgrounds. The attendance at Sunday's picnic was scarcely half that of last year the entire number of visitors being variously estimated at from 2,000 to 3,000. While the threatening weather no doubt may partly account for the small attendance, yet in one visit to Salem all places of interest can be visited and there being no additional attraction, the majority of outsiders did not care for a third trip. It is possible the picnic may be held at some other point next year. A Salem business man was heard to say today that in case the picnic was held at some other point next year, fully 500 people would go from this city.
Having experienced so much difficulty last year in finding enough to eat, the majority of the visitors brought luncheon with them this year. However the restaurants and lunch counters did a big business.
A majority of the visitors spent the entire day at the fair grounds, not visiting the business portion of the city at all.
Hundreds visited the state house, insane asylum and penitentiary during the day and the courtesy of the officials in charge of the institutions was very favorably commented upon.
The first excursion train to reach the city was one of ten coaches bringing the Cottage Grove, Junction City, Eugene, Albany and Corvallis contingents, numbering in all about 750. It arrived at 10:15 a. m. and was followed about 30 minutes later by the Portland train numbering 15 coaches all heavily loaded and containing probably 1200 people. The last train to arrive brought the West side excursionists, from McMinnville, Whiteson and Sheridan via Portland, to the number of about 1100. This train did not reach Salem until 11:50 a. m.
Music was furnished by four bands, from Eugene, Silverton, Portland and the Salem H. A. C. In the afternoon several bicycle and foot races were called off, the interest in which was materially dampened by the prevailing showers. A running race during the afternoon, distance three-eighths of a mile, was won by "Tanner," Wm. Kay's horse; "Pansy," Dick Kay's horse, second, and "Steamboat Bill," owned by Smith, of Gervais, third. Time 38 seconds.
At 2:30 o'clock a baseball game was called between the Monograms, of Portland, and the Vancouver soldiers. The game was quite interesting, some very good playing being done. The Monograms were out-classed and much to the regret of the immense crowd the game had to be discontinued at the close of the fifth inning, owing to a heavy shower, when the score stood 5 to 9 in favor of the "boys in blue." In the game the Vancouver soldiers showed that they possessed not a little knowledge of baseball, as well as in military tactics.
The trains began to depart with the visitors at 5 p. m. and at 6 o'clock Salem had again resumed its normal condition and the streets were once more deserted.
No accidents of a serious nature happened throughout the day. One of the little cars ran into a carriage, breaking a number of the spokes in one of the wheels besides breaking the tongue. A lady, one of the visitors, in attempting to jump onto the Eugene train at the fair grounds, when the train was in motion, narrowly escaped a horrible death. Owing to the crowded condition of the steps, she missed her footing and was dragged for several feet. Had it not been for the timely assistance of friends who rescued her from her perilous condition, she would certainly have lost her life.
A number of the Portland excursionists missed their train last night but their excursion tickets were honored this morning and they were allowed to return home on the morning overland.
The street cars did a very good business yesterday, but report the entire receipts to have been scarcely one-half what they were last year. The large crowds were very satisfactorily handled without an accident.
Among the excursionists coming from points south, were 300 from Cottage Grove alone. This is a remarkable good showing for a place with no greater population than has Cottage Grove. That section of the valley was no doubt much better represented than any other part of the
