WAR ON THE SALOONS.

It now looks as though a saloon war is imminent in Salem. The fact, and it undoubtedly is a fact, that several saloons were open on Sunday last, will be made use of to precipitate the matter. A number of the gentlemen who petitioned the city council for the enforcement of the city's Sunday laws, volunteered to lead in the matter by swearing out warrants for the prosecution of the offenders for violation of the Sunday law. If this is not effective, the city's officers propose to call upon the prosecuting attorney to take the matter in hand in the absence of a city attorney upon whom the duty would properly devolve, and push the cases. This means a pretty thorough shaking up of the proposition, and may involve long drawn out litigation.

The saloon men, on the other hand claim that they will contest every step taken. They perfected a thorough organization on Saturday and have engaged the best legal talent to protect their interests. They will not reveal what their intentions are, but the undecorated talk on the streets would indicate that they propose to make a determined fight, as they call it, "for their rights."

The saloon men are bold to say that they are subjected to unfair competition by the Hillside Club, which pays the city no revenue, but takes the cream of the business. Some even included the drug stores in this class of competitors. They flatly state that they don't propose to pay $400 a year for privileges that others enjoy for nothing and have protection in, while they have none. Some of the saloon men say they will start "clubs" and thus evade the law as has been done in other places with more or less success.

One liquor dealer remarked when he paid in license Saturday that it was his last payment and stated that he expected to open a lunch counter and serve wines and beer with his meals as is being done at Portland, San Francisco and other points.

The saloon business at Salem is in an unsatisfactory and, some say unprofitable condition. Two have quit business the past six days.

THE G. A. R.

SHOULD BE AT PEACE WITH ALL OTHER ORGANIZATIONS.

THEY have done enough, and are still doing, and they ever will do patriotic service to their country and good deeds to their fellow men.

Their yearly Memorial, or commonly called Decoration Day, is commendable in itself. That they cherish the memory of their departed comrades is similar to the custom of the Hebrews that the anniversary of the death of one of their near relatives, they light a wax taper or light an oil lamp and continue it burning for twenty-four hours, and they abstain from pleasure and offer up prayers for the dead, for that time and mourn for their departed relatives.

Therefore the G. A. R. have taken their symbols from an old religious custom that has been in existence from time immemorial, yet their patriotic custom has not in any way injured the Hebrew custom and it therefore seems to me that the G. A. R. has set a good pattern and if any organization that is organized for good and moral purposes or for charitable institutions should adopt their custom and decorate the graves of their departed friends it can never cheapen the organization of the G. A. R., because their devotion to their country is well known and there is no good citizen but will respect their acts and deeds forever.

Let all follow their example who want to, even if the relative or friend of a dead convict should decorate his grave it will not hurt the heroes who have saved our country and are still doing it. And there may be good reasons why other benevolent institutions may take advantage of decoration day.

For instance a laborer or a clerk who belongs to some benevolent organization can't always leave his post or place of business, and on Decoration Day, the most of the manufacturers abstain from labor and many merchants close their place of business, that would give the clerks a chance that does not belong to the G. A. R. to pattern after them and other organizations on that day.

Respectfully submitted for the perusal of the Grand Army of the Republic and their friends by a rejected volunteer, or he would have been a G. A. R.

STREET CAR STRIKE.

State Arbitration Board to Try its Hand at Cleveland.

A Train Wrecked on the Rock Island Railroad--Result of a Kentucky Fuel.

By Associated Press to the Journal.

CLEVELAND, June 12.--Struggle between the consolidated street railway and its employees, was resumed today. The company started the first car guarded by deputies and manned by imported men.

The crowd jeered and missiles were thrown. The next two cars dashed from the barns across the railroad crossing without stopping, violating the city ordinance. The strikers secured warrants for the crews and both the new motor-cars were arrested.

When the third car was attempting the return trip east thousands of people and innumerable wagons blocked the thoroughfares. The trolley crew was cut several times and every few minutes someone would release the lever that controlled the fender and it would drop to the ground.

A number of rioters were arrested and many of the mob were clubbed by the police. The state arbitration commissioners met at 11 o'clock. The company has given out unofficially that it will not be represented before the committee.

The most serious disturbance occurred on the corner of Euclid avenue and Bend street. Three cars were held up and the trolley ropes cut. Stones fell on the cars in showers and the truncheon locked themselves in the cars.

A strong force of police arrived in a few minutes and the crowd gave way but not before the cars had been derailed.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. June 12.--Thomas Messer, a member of the Taylor faction in the Lee-Taylor feud, in Harlan county, has been killed by a member of the Lee clan. More trouble is likely to follow.
