CURRENT EVENTS.

The international supreme lodge of Good Templars opened its convention at Toronto, Ont., today with delegates present from many parts of the United States and Canada. The outlook in the Eastern Hemisphere is reported brighter than in America. The order in Great Britain, especially Scotland, is growing constantly from among the best classes of its citizens. In Scandinavia and Germany the order is also making progress. While the temperance reform in the United States has been going backward instead of forward during recent years, Secretary Parker reports signs of improvement in many jurisdictions. In Nebraska gratifying progress has been made by the organizers of the order during the last twelve months. Iowa and Minnesota are also reported as showing signs of improvement. The total membership is now about 400,000 and the membership of the juvenile branch 150,000.

The delegates to the international convention, Knights of St. John's are assembled at a Cleveland, Ohio cathedral where there was celebrated a mass for dead members.

The case of Mrs. Addie Barrow, accused of complicity with her convicted husband, George Beauregard Barrow, in the kidnaping of Marion Clark, was called for trial today in the criminal term of the New York supreme court. Insanity will be made the plea of defense and Mrs. Barrow's counsel claims to have ample evidence that the woman has been mentally unbalanced since childhood.

In London, England, was being held the welcoming meeting in honor of the delegates to the quinquennial session of the International Council of Women, which begins its business sessions and continues through the week. More than a million women—more than half of them from the United States and Canada—were represented by the delegates who thronged the hall and received the greetings of the Countess of Aberdeen who presided over the initial assembly.

Since the first appearance of women in the field of politics and social reform, there has never been such a representative and imposing gathering. Dukes of the realm exchanged greetings with the representatives of the most humble workingwomen's societies, and delegates from New Zealand and New South Wales occupied seats between those from Italy, Denmark and other countries of Europe. What a rejoicing in the hearts of early pioneers of the movement for the advancement of women would result could they but see this great cosmopolitan gathering marking the close of the nineteenth century.

The magnitude of the international movement, which owes its origin to the modest beginnings of the movement has grown and spread in all directions until it embraces all parts of the civilized world and has the greatest variety of subjects. Some of the societies represented are advocates of equal suffrage.

Remember the lecture this evening at the M. E. church. Dr. McClish is a rare treat.

Am Fractured. Dr. J. D. Shaw drove out to Enger last evening to reduce a fracture in Mrs. Frank Wright's arm. Mrs. Wright had the misfortune to fall several days ago and at the time not thinking the matter serious enough to call a physician, but afterward her arm began to swell, when it was necessary to do something.

Beware of Imitations!

Consumers should beware of the cheap and inferior washing powders sold to be just as good as

They are not—there is nothing so good as the genuine GOLD DUST for all cleaning about the house. Ask for GOLD DUST and insist on getting it. Made only by while others oppose it. Every sort of enterprise in which women are interested is represented and to bring all of these diverse interests together in a practical international alliance is the great task mapped out for the big gathering which opened today.

While disentangling the many specialties and specialisms the International Council will discuss a list of topics that is extraordinary in its wide range. They have been divided into five sections—educational, professional, legislative and industrial, political, and social. International arbitration is to be discussed in its historical aspect and arguments for and against this method of settling international disputes will be heard. In the educational section papers will be read explaining advanced educational ideas in vogue in Stockholm, Boston, Chicago, Vienna and other cities. The effect upon domestic life of the admission of women to the professions is scheduled for exhaustive consideration. The status of medical women will be discussed and the work of women nurses, journalists, educators, lecturers and in other professional pursuits will be considered. In the political, legislative and industrial, and social sections there will be an equally wide range of topics discussed. The Countess of Aberdeen will preside over the various sessions open to the public, assisted by such well-known women as Lady Battersea, Susan B. Anthony, Mrs. Willoughby Cummings of Toronto, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, Baroness Alexandra Gripenberg of Finland, Mme. Marie Martin of Paris, Mme. Danduraud of Montreal, Lady Henry Somerset, Mrs. Alma Tadema and the Marchioness of Dufferin.

This evening Stafford House will be thrown open by the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland in honor of the visitors.

The Independent Telephone Association of the United States, which represents the opposition to the Bell Telephone company, opened its third annual convention at Chicago today with several hundred delegates present from many cities. The annual reports are expected to show a gratifying progress made by the anti-Bell people during the last year and plans will be exhaustively discussed for continuing the warfare.

John Collins and Mrs. Anne Ingersoll were placed on trial today at Chicago for kidnaping little Gerald Lapiner, whose abduction from his parents' home in Prairie avenue and subsequent recovery at Painesville, O., after an absence of more than a year created an international sensation. The alleged abductors were represented in court by distinguished counsel whose services were procured by the funds realized by the prisoners from their months' exhibition in a local dime museum after their arrest in Ohio. It is understood that insanity is to be made the ground of defense.

Drowsiness is dispelled by BERTON'S PILLS.

AROUND THE EVENING LAMP

Randomly and Co., Chicago, send us a copy of "The Launching of a Man" by Stanley Waterloo, the Chicago newspaper poet and "Westerner" in newspaper posts and "Westerner" in literature. It is the old story retold of the college graduate being gradually metamorphosed into a useful all-around well-developed manhood. College life is depicted from the standpoint of actual participation and then the hero's career is followed until he builds a rail road out West and marries the woman he loves. It is a good, healthy, vigorous American volume, just the particular thing to put in the hands of a young man who has come out of college to go to work for a living—many of them more seriously handicapped than before they went in. Mr. Waterloo's style is vitality and hopeful youthfulness and buoyancy happily commingled. It is a companion volume, but in another field, to Opie Read's "Yankee from the West" and has much of the same spirit of boundless exuberance and surging, health-giving common sense. Price $1.25.

"How to Plan the Home Grounds" by Samuel Parsons, Jr., is modelled after the great works on landscape gardening produced by Calvert Vaux and Gilbert Gillet, but is a neatly printed compressed volume of 250 pages in gray cloth bindings. It is richly illustrated and contains besides chapters of interesting and useful information, lists of all the plants and shrubs needed, as well as blank contracts to be made with those undertaking to make improvements. The proposition laid down to begin with is that it is just as easy and as difficult to plan a gentleman's home lot 25x100 in a town or city as to plan an estate of 100 acres. There is a great deal of practical information about deciduous and herbaceous plants and trees, a chapter devoted to aquatic plants, terraces, lawns, hardy vines and climbers, bedding plants, the use of rocks, and residential parks. The author is supt. of parks in New York City and has rendered a great service in putting out this complete handbook for beautifying the home grounds. It should be in all libraries, Doubleday & McClure Co., New York.

In our small way of life we have not seen much of the writings of Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson, who aspires to be a great-granddaughter of Lyman Beecher, a grand-niece of Henry Ward Beecher and Harriet Beecher Stowe, has written a volume of verses, a labor book and one on Women and Economics. There cannot be some good work in all this, and as Mrs. Stetson came to live in California in 1888 there is hope of real growth and greatness. We have read "The Yellow Wall Paper" and well pronounce it the product of a—well, what can we say and observe Mulvaney's advice—"Strike a Man and Praise a Woman." We read it twice and the last time only to go through and see how much could be left out and not mar the sense, and how much could be left out and make it pleasant reading, and well—there wasn't much left. Of course, there is always involved in an account of what takes place in an invalid's mind or chamber a question of taste. Should not a gentleman or lady, if they are not feeling well, keep out of print? A diseased imagination is as offensive to some as a diseased lung, and to hurt the expectation of either at the public is a breach of good manners, and the latter forbidden by ordinance in this good city. So we see no excuse for the Yellow Wall Paper. Pray we all, good Mrs. Stetson, give us no more in this line. Your brightness, your goodness, your genius, your industry shall delight us in other ways far more, and let the publishers consider this a bad venture. Small, Maynard & Co., Boston, 30 cents.

In celebration of its 20th anniversary, The Art Amateur gets out an exceedingly handsome number. The number begins with a retrospect of the magazine for the past twenty years, carrying us back to the time when the art movements were just beginning. The paper, it will be remembered, was founded by Montague Marks, of whom is given an interesting account, and also of his successor, John W. Van Oost, who is a descendant of the famous Flemish painter of the same name, some of whose works are shown in the magazine. The color plate, "The Artist's Daughter," is also by him, bears out his reputation. Among the other contributors are Montague Marks, who writes on "The Royal Academy Exhibition," W. B. Rogers on "The Artist and the Camera," Ernest Knauff on "Elementary Drawing" and "Drawing for Reproduction," Rhoda Holmes Nicholls on "Figure Painting" and "Animal Painting," David Malcolm on "Open Fireplaces," E. C. Dierhold on "Carpet and Rugs," Cecilia Bennett, E. C. Darby and Fanny Rowell Priestman on China Painting.

(Price, 35 cents. John W. Van Oost, publisher, 25 Union Square, New York.) The Atlantic Monthly for June has the following articles: To Have and to Hold, I-V, Mary Johnston; Japan and the Philippines, Arthur May Knapp; Politics and the Judiciary, Frank Gaylord Cook; The Teumama House Blight, Jacob A. Rice; Improvement in City Life, III, Charles Mulford Robinson; Notes on Glass Decoration, Annie Fields; Robert and Elizabeth Browning, Harriet Waters Preston; The Outback in Cuba, Herbert Pelham Williams.

Messrs. Small, Maynard & Company, Boston, have acquired the rights to the four books of verse by Mr. Bliss Carson, formerly published by Messrs.

Lamson, Wolfe & Company—"Low Tide on Grandpre," "Behind the Arras," "Ballads of Lost Haven," and "By the Aurelian Wall." These four volumes comprise the whole of Mr. Carson's published work—so far as it has been issued in book form—excepting his part in "Songs From Vagabondia" and "More Songs From Vagabondia," in which he collaborated with Mr. Richard Hovey.

"Low Tide on Grandpre" and "Behind the Arras" are at present out of print, but new editions are in preparation for immediate publication.

Astoria has not much use for water except to hold annual regatta on, which has come to be the great nautical event of the year for the northwest coast. Such men as Herman Wise, Charley Fulton and John Gratke can make anything.

The Bohemia Nugget says of a head of a college, who has left the state, that "he was a man spoiled by education. He had the education 'tis true, but conceit, arrogance and it is alleged, deceit had him. Here the bubble burst, and he can now start over again."

Why throw obstacles in the way of its defense? Its own means are superior to all the apparatus of scientific laboratories. Medicines, the results of which, taken collectively, have been harmful to mankind. Water, air and cleanliness are my chief medicines. At the time when Napoleon said this he was largely right. Physicians of those days dealt out obnoxious and drastic drugs that did violence to every fiber in the body. Since that date medical science has made wonderful strides. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine composed of native medicinal roots that do no violence to nature. Its action is gentle and natural. It simply promotes the natural processes of secretion and excretion. It restores the lost appetite, corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes the assimilation of the food perfect, invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood, builds new and healthy flesh tissue, tones the nerves and gives sweet and refreshing sleep. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent of all cases of all diseases of the air passages that lead up to consumption. It is a wonderful medicine for all diseases due to insufficient or improper nourishment of body or nerves. Do not deal with unscrupulous dealers who urge you to take worthless substitutes for the sake of a few pennies added profit. I have been using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets for the past three years and they have saved my life. I have written Mrs. Sophia Brown, 100 North Rockledge Co., Va. I now keep the Pellets in my home all the time and use them every time I feel the need of a laxative. My three-year-old son was troubled with liver complaint until I used your medicine. Now I am well. Every sick man or woman should send one-cent stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., to pay the cost of mailing you for a free copy of Dr. Pierce's great two-page Common Sense Medical Advice, or 31 stamps for a heavy cloth bound copy.

A LIFE SAVED.

Dr. J. F. Cook, the Botanical Specialist, Succeeds Where Others Fail.

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that Bertha P. Connor, of Mt. Angel precinct, Marion county, Oregon, has suffered from a cancerous growth in the left ear for about three years. The growth was cut out twice and burned out once by Albany Physicians, but the growth came back as bad as ever and pained her so badly that she had to be taken from school. After three weeks' treatment by Dr. J. F. Cook, of Salem, Oregon, the Botanical Specialist, the growth entirely disappeared, and at this date, four months since treatment was begun, the growth has not reappeared, and the ear has entirely healed leaving only the scars inflected by the Albany doctors.

I hereby certify that the above statement is absolutely true, and that Bertha P. Connor, the person mentioned in the affidavit, has resided in my family since early childhood, bearing the relationship to me of niece.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this eighth day of June, 1899. W. W. Hall, county clerk of Marion county, Oregon.
