DEBATING SOCIETY.
 Organized by the Students of the Law School.

The students of the University College of Law have organized a debating society and will hold meetings every Saturday night at the office of Justice of the Peace H. A. Johnson, where they have space in the justice court room to expand their budding oratorical powers.

Organization was effected Saturday night and the following officers were elected: G. McMinimy, president; B. F. West, vice-president; H. H. Turner, secretary; Grant Corby, treasurer; P. L. Frazier, critic.

After organization the students tried their hands at the question "Resolved that capital punishment should be abolished. There being no machinery in order for making the decision, it was a drawn battle.

There are twenty-eight students of the school of law, at present, their names being:

A. C. Loucks, I. H. Van Winkle, H. H. Turner, B. O. Walker, G. O. McMinimy, Francis Richardson, J. G. Hammond, Mark Savage, John Williams, Grant Corby, Harry Young, P. L. Frazier, Harry Olinger, Joseph Evans, H. A. Johnson, Jr., W. Evans, T. T. Parker, A. A. Jesup, Frank Forward, E. C. Holt, J. L. Murray, Geo. G. Brown, C. R. Bishop, T. M. Fleming, E. C. Judd, B. F. West, G. W. Bushnell and C. M. Inman.

They are divided into two classes and each class recites every week-day evening to Dean S. G. Richardson, who therefore has his hands full.

The Saturday night debate will lend a spice of variety to the dry work of the law school, and will give the young men valuable practice for the work in their chosen profession.

SALEM-CORVALLIS.

The Methodists Out-classed By the Farmers in Team Work.

Opinions and Criticisms of the Home Team and Notes on future Programs and Games.

The practice game at Corvallis resulted in showing what good stuff has entered into the composition of the home team, and that they were out-matched by the Farmers in team work. Score 10 to 0. The first half took 25 minutes, the second half took 20 minutes. Salem had the kick off, Corvallis took the ball and Salem's defensive work was weak.

By a series of plunges and tackles they got the ball down to the ten yard line. Salem made a good stand and forced ball back twenty yards by plunges and lost it on a fumble. Corvallis by repeating previous tactics took it to within a foot of the goal.

Salem again made a fine stand carrying the ball fifteen yards, when they were held for downs and forced to try a kick. A bad pass from Salem's center lost the ball and lost the ball and Corvallis bucked it to touch down.

The second half was a repetition of the first half. Corvallis' superior condition today and they were able to make slightly better gains over Salem's defenses than they were on the first half.

In 15 minutes Corvallis made second touchdown. Then on to the end of the game Corvallis put up better defenses than Salem. The Salem team played very even, and good ball for the work they have had and the opportunities for making plays. Olinger, as left end, made the most brilliant defensive plays and won considerable applause. The Salems made excellent individual plays but as they have had practically no coach could not put up the team work. Physically the Salem team was a match for the farmers. All they lack is discipline and coaching, and that they will have before the season is over. Indications are that the home team will this season excel any Salem team of the past.

Next Saturday Pacific University team meet the Salem team. It will be the first game of the intercollegiate series to be played at Salem. The Methodists will now "buckle in" and take advantage of their practice experience with the Corvallis team and by hard work may be able to defeat their Puritan antagonists.

POLK COUNTY HOP GROWERS.

Temporary Organization Effected—Will Meet Again by Call of President.

Between 30 and 40 hop growers met in the city hall at Independence Saturday, for the purpose of organizing a Hop Growers' Association. The attendance was not large owing to the inclemency of the weather.

Secretary Iler, of the Willamette Valley Hop Growers' Association, was present and upon invitation stated the objects of the association, and cordially welcomed the growers of Polk county to join with the Willamette Valley Association, both if they organized an association of their own, to co-operate with the Woodburn Association, or, on the other hand, take advantage of the opportunities offered by it singly.

Mr. Iler was listened to attentively and did not fail to impress the growers with the need of united effort on the part of the growers. He said the hops of this coast were a great deal better quality than the buyers were willing to give them credit for, and that the eastern and foreign hop was very much poorer than ordinary and that the growers must consequently do something so as to be able to dispose of their own hops or quit the business entirely. He showed that the consumer was paying a fair price for hops but the grower was being milked of his just profit by the broker.

J. Holmes next spoke and said he was a grower and wanted to see something done. He came over to help organize and was willing to do his share in the work and he therefore moved that temporary organization be begun.

Mr. Wells spoke to the point that as mostly all the growers present were small growers and thought that more of the large growers should be represented and was therefore in favor of waiting till they could be got together.

On motion Mr. M. Merwin was elected president and Mr. James Hanna secretary.

The meeting adjourned to meet again in the near future upon call by the president.

NOTES.
 Mr. Merwin, the President of the Polk county growers has 450 bales of choice hops and is one of the most successful growers.

There are now about 2,500 bales in the Southern Pacific warehouse at Independence, and about 500 bales in J. M. Stark's house at the steamboat landing.

Baker Brothers at Independence had an offer of 9 1/2 cents per pound for their hops and they were not received by the buyer.

The Willamette Valley Hop growers Association have now a membership of nearly 250 hop growers, who have pledged their hops to the association to handle and the above members own something over 25,000 bales and enough more members will have joined by the close of their meeting which is to be held at Woodburn on next Saturday to swell that amount to at least 30,000 bales.
