

A Sentient Sensible Souvenir

WITH Salem rejoicing in the presence of so many visitors, drawn hither by the magnetism of all the important things that are going on around the Capital, the Barr Store just wishes to say its little say regarding souvenirs. No souvenir has quite the all-around appropriateness of a Souvenir Spoon. No other, we think, is quite as much prized in after years. And we respectfully ask you if you will not take pains to inspect our showing in this line—a magnificent array of Souvenir Spoons, variously shaped, finished and priced; engraved with handsome reproductions of the Capitol building, taken from various points of view. Are you not interested?

FELLOW SERVANTS BILL

Hearing on Hausbrough's Important Measure

Foremost Attorneys Argue For and Against Bill

An interesting discussion of the fellow servant law, was held at the meeting of the committees on railroads last night, the railroad men asking an amendment.

The bill provides that any corporation operating a railroad in this state shall be liable in damages for any and all injury sustained by an employe of such corporation, when such injury results from neglect or default of an agent or officer of such corporation, or from the act of any co-employe. Knowledge by an employe injured of the defective and unsafe character or condition of any machinery or structures of such corporation, shall not of itself act as a bar to the recovery for any injury or death caused thereby. When death results from an injury to any such employe, the personal representative of such employe shall have a right of action against the corporation and may recover damages therefrom.

Judge A. C. Bennett of The Dalles, represented the railroad men, also C. C. Lauks, a brakeman. W. D. Fenton spoke for the Southern Pacific; W. W. Cotton, for the O. R. & N.; W. D. McCamant, for the Columbia Southern; Supt. J. P. O'Brien, of the O. R. & N., and Supt. Richard Koehler, of the Southern Pacific, were also present. The strongest objection from the railroad representatives was that the law should apply exclusively to railroads, and desired the recommendation of an amendment including all corporations.

The irrigation committees will meet tonight with the delegation appointed by the State Irrigation Congress. There are several bills pending on this matter, and in Eastern Oregon especially, the matter is most important.

FAKE INSURANCE MEN

Salem People Should Be on Their Guard

This city at the present time is infested with a few so-called insurance agents, representing to give the prospective buyer an inside proposition with the company. This is the old board system, which was in vogue many years ago, the plan being to secure 200 persons in the state to take out $5000 on their lives, and they are to receive the profits on those who insure thereafter.

If parties would consult local agents for some of the standard companies before placing their confidence in some agent whom they will never see again, and on whom they have no recourse, they would be better satisfied with the outcome. It

Will Spend Millions

New York, Feb. 3.—Preparations are being pushed by the Pennsylvania railroad for the early beginning of the construction work on the New York tunnel terminal. Real estate has been purchased along the line which will cross the East river by a bridge over Ward's and Randall's islands. Between Long Island City and Woodside much land has been secured. This will be owned jointly by the Pennsylvania and the New York, New Haven & Hartford road through the New York connecting railway, which was organized for the purpose. Freight as well as passenger, trains will be run over this route. While the latter will be run through the New York tunnel terminal system, freight is to be carried over the Long Island road to Bay Ridge, where it will be transferred by lighter across the bay to the New ocean docks to be built at Greenville.

TERRIBLE SCALDING ACCIDENT

Little Eugene Boy Fell Into a Tub

Three-Fourths of His Body is Covered With Scalds

Eugene Guard Feb. 2d.

Little Gustav Ream this afternoon, about 2 o'clock, fell backward into a tub of boiling water, and now lies dying at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Ream, at 314 West Seventh street.

The first the parents of the little one knew of the accident was the screams which came to them from the kitchen. On reaching the scene, Mrs. Ream found the body of Gustav, aged three years, in the boiling water. He was snatched from the tub, but too late to be of much good. Three-fourths of the little body was covered with terrible burns of the fiery water.

Drs. F. M. Day and F. E. Selover were summoned and worked rapidly with the case, bathing and bandaging the body almost from head to foot.

When asked as to the likelihood of recovery, Dr. Day said: "The little fellow has not once chance in a hundred. He will most certainly die."

WARE HOUSE BONDS

May Be Required in the Future

The bill compelling warehousemen to furnish bonds in the sum of $1000 to $5,000, passed the house unanimously yesterday, although it was fully argued before being voted upon. This bill was the measure of Mr. Shelly of Lane, and received no opposition from anyone in the house. The cases of shortages in warehouses in the Willamette valley were recalled, and some of the members had lost wheat in this way. Mr. Davey took the position as the representative of the "farmers of Marion county," and declared it was time the warehouse business was hedged about, so that farmers could be secure in storing their grain. Mr. Edwards of Lane, put the question in a business like way and compared the situation to any deal where a person would deposit a large amount of money with a person or corporation and receive no security for it. Mr. Hayden was in favor of the minimum bond being placed at $1000 instead of $5000 as it was in the original bill, in the interest of the small warehousemen. The measure was considered a necessary one, and Mr. Shelly said that its passage marked one of the happiest moments of his life.
