

REGULAR COUNCIL MEETING

The Bicycle Question Comes up and an Agreement Reached

Ladies Want Marion Square [Protected] and the Electric Light Company get a Change in Contract

At the city council meeting Tuesday night Mayor C. P. Bishop, Recorder N. J. Judah, Councilmen Burrows, Catlin, Hubbard, Pohle, Sims, Stolz and Walker were present.

A committee from the Marion Square Improvement League, consisting of Mrs. Fry and Mrs. A. N. Moore, presented the following petition, signed by all the members of the league:

To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Salem:

Gentlemen: The undersigned, being desirous to complete the proposed improvements in Marion square, respectfully petition your honorable body to pass an ordinance prohibiting carpet cleaning, pasturing cows, driving teams and stock in and about and through Marion square. We also request that you do not allow the pavilion in Marion square, when completed, to be used for a voting place. It was not built, and is not convenient for that purpose. We trust you will lend encouragement to our effort.

The council referred the matter to the committee on ordinances.

Mrs. Moore then addressed the council, asking that the plans for the new walks be carried out, as the league wished to make arrangements to place the new fountain. She also asked the council to have some grading done around the new rotunda. Mrs. Fry also stated that Mr. Cramer had offered to plan the walks, if the city would have the park surveyed. After some discussion, the council decided to appoint a park board of three persons, as outlined by the new charter, and let the board confer with the ladies on the matter.

The committee on health and police, to whom was referred the matter of bicycle riding on the sidewalks, reported, making recommendations as follows:

To exclude all bicycles from the use of the sidewalks within the district bounded by the middle of Front street on the west, the middle of Center street on the north, the east side of High street on the east, and the south side of Trade street on the south; also from all sidewalks on both sides of Commercial street within the city limits; both sides of Chemeketa street from High to Fourteenth, and west side of Fourteenth from Chemeketa to Asylum Avenue, and the north side of Asylum Avenue to the city limits. The north side of Court street from High to the city limits. The south side of State from High to Twelfth, and the north side of State from Twelfth to the city limits. The west side of Twelfth from State to city limits on the south. The west side of Winter from the south line to the north line of the city limits. Also both sides of Church street from State to the city limits on the south.

The committee also recommended that the ordinance shall declare all sidewalks to be first for the pedestrian, and that no bicyclist shall ring a bell for the purpose of demanding the right of way, but shall be required to slow up on approaching pedestrians and get their permission to pass.

It is also recommended that the speed be limited to eight miles an hour; that no person shall be permitted to lean a bicycle against the front of any business house, nor to stand a bicycle in the entrance to any public building or business block, and that bicycle racks shall be so constructed as not to take up more than three feet from the curb. Motor-cycles are to be excluded from all walks within the city.

The committee recommended further that the street commissioner be instructed to construct a bicycle path on the east side of Twelfth street, from Trade to Oak; one on the east side of Winter street from State to Oak; one along the street car track on South Commercial street to the city limits on the south, and one on Commercial street from Center to North Mill creek.

The report of the committee was referred to the ordinance committee and instructions to frame an ordinance in accordance with the report.

A petition, signed by A. Bush and 59 others, praying for the council to pass an ordinance prohibiting bicycle

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Welter, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

riding on the sidewalks of the city was referred to the ordinance committee.

The application of Bach & Nadsneck and A. Schreiber, for renewals of their saloon licenses were referred to the committee on licenses.

Mr. McNary, attorney for the Salem Light, Power & Traction Company, addressed the council on the new contract for street lighting, asking that a clause be inserted in the new contract providing that if lights are put in more than 1200 feet from the present standing wires and poles the city pay the cost of construction for all over 1200 feet.

By motion the committee on ordinances was instructed to embody the new feature in the ordinance covering the new contract.

The matter of appointing a city treasurer to act during the absence of Treasurer Mohr, was continued to the next meeting of the council.

Upon the recommendation of W. W. Johnson, chief of the Salem fire department, William Iwan, Fred Kurtz, J. W. Galbraith and G. W. Widderholm were appointed hosemen to fill the vacancies caused by the resignation of Felix Hamilton, R. O. Cummins and Jesse Maulding and the discharge of George Burghard.

The city recorder's monthly report for the month of May was read and approved, the report being in substance as follows:

In the police court there were five cases from which $5 fines were collected, one case being dismissed, the balance being served out under commitment of 12 1/2 days.

Miscellaneous Receipts.

On hand May 1st $1661.00
Receipts 964.50

Total $2625.50
Cash to treasurer 1600.00

On hand June 1st $1025.50
Warrant indebtedness for the month of May 1841.53
Warrant indebtedness for the preceding four months 6023.36

Total $7864.88

It was moved and carried that the council hold an adjourned meeting on Tuesday evening, June 9th, to consider the matter of appointing a park commission and health board, as provided by the new charter.

The committee on accounts and current expenses reported favorably upon the following bills against the city, and the report was adopted:

Thos. H. Gilbert $40.00
A. M. Southwick 3.39
John Hughes Co. 1.53
N. J. Judah 21.65

Asks Protection.

Geo. H. Eilers, a resident of East Salem, called at The Journal office and asked that some attention be paid to old people who use the sidewalks, and cannot get out of the way of bicycles. He thinks they should be given some protection against careless riders, and thinks the wheelmen and dealers and city council will see the justice of this. He is not radical in his views, and wants every person to have their rights, but he is too old to ride, and can no longer move quickly enough to get out of the way of fast riders. He hopes that the ordinance may be so drawn as to make it reasonably safe for old people to walk through the city.

D. W. Yoder, formerly city superintendent of schools, now of Sumpter, is spending a few days in Salem.

A BIG CAMP MEETING

Seventh-day Adventists Camping in Greater Salem

Camp Laid Out in Blocks With Stores Restaurant and Every Convenience of a Small City

An army, 600 strong, of Seventh Day Adventists is encamped in Yew Park, near the railroad track. They come from all parts of the state, and represent the general meeting of the Western Oregon conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

Their camp is a model of neatness, the tents are arranged in streets, and near the center of the camp is the large tent for general worship. There are two smaller tents, one for the German worshippers, and one for the Scandinavians. These tents are also used for special services for the young people and children. There is a store tent, where a complete supply of health foods, fruits, and, in fact, everything in the line of groceries, are on sale, at very reasonable prices.

The Portland Sanatorium has an office tent on the grounds, and there is also a book store, handling all the needed literature.

The ministers have special study tents away from the camp some distance, where it is quiet, and they will not be disturbed.

Most of the campers cook their own meals, but for those who wish to board there is a large dining tent.

The sanitary conditions of the grounds are as perfect as possible, and one is surprised at the general neatness of the entire camp.

The Adventists differ in a great many ways from other religious sects, holding Saturday to be the day of rest, and asserting a second coming of Christ, but they do not set the time.

The sanatorium work of the sect has attracted wide-spread interest in the last few years, and their health foods have been generally introduced in almost every American home. While the Adventists do not advise the use of meat, they do not forbid it.

The sanatorium treatment was begun 37 years ago in Battle Creek, Mich., in a good-sized farm house. The principle of health reform grew until the demand for health foods is now so great that it requires 23 factories in Battle Creek to meet the demands, and representing an investment of several million dollars.

There are now 37 large sanatoriums in different parts of the world, one having just been completed in Portland, at a cost of $50,000.

These people are great students, and are firm believers in education, which they make a part of their creed.

The camp is perfectly orderly, and the surprise comes when one learns that there is no police to enforce order; the people all seem to be in harmony with the rules and regulations governing the camp.

The tents are all numbered, and a directory is on file at the book store, giving the name of the family in each of the 100 tents.

There is an air of refinement and culture among the people that speaks very highly for the sect.

Wm. Bagley Dead.

The news has been received by friends in Salem, where he resided for a time, that William Bagley died yesterday afternoon, at his home in University Park, from heart failure, after an illness of several months. His age was 72 years, 3 months. He was an early pioneer in the state, and will be remembered by many friends in different sections for his sterling qualities of mind and heart, and his active Christian life.

He leaves a widow, in very poor health; Mrs. Viola B. Collamore, of Sumner, Washington, and Mrs. Clara Conner, of Ballston, Ore., also one son, Rev. A. W. Bagley, of University Park, besides 14 grandchildren, of whom Mildred E. Bagley resides in Salem.

Two of his children preceded him to the better world, Wm. H. Bagley and Mrs. Mary E. Burke, both formerly well known in Salem. His remains will be interred in Rural cemetery, and will arrive on the 11 o'clock train Thursday morning, going immediately to the cemetery. Friends are invited to be present.

Gray Gets Contract.

The state board of building commissioners yesterday opened the bids and awarded the contract for the construction of an industrial building at the reform school, to replace the former structure, which was burned over a year ago to C. A. Gray, for a total sum of $16,405, including all material, work and architect.

TEDDY WITH THE SUCKERS

Passing Through Illinois, Stops at Bloomington

Made Several Speeches and Paid a Glowing Tribute to Illinois' Greatest Statesman

Freeport, Ill., June 3.—President Roosevelt began an exceedingly busy day with a half-hour visit in Freeport this morning. The special train arrived from Dubuque over the Illinois Central on schedule time. The president emerged from the canopy of flags at the station and entered the carriage, accompanied by Congressman Hitt and others, the crowd broke into cheers, which he promptly acknowledged. A dozen carriages swung into line, while an escort of police and militia formed a guard. All the business and residence streets were profusely decorated with flags and festoons. The streets were packed with people and the demonstration kept the president busy bowing his acknowledgements. The procession moved to the site of the new boulder monument erected in commemoration of the famous Lincoln-Douglas debate of 1859, where the president delivered an address as the principal feature of the dedicatory exercises. When the ceremonies were concluded the presidential party re-boarded the waiting train and departed from the city amid a storm of cheers.

Rockford, Ill., June 3.—An immense crowd was at the station to greet the president when he arrived over the Illinois Central today. Around the station a cordon of soldiers had been stationed and a police escort was also drawn up opposite the entrance. After the distinguished visitor had been formally greeted by Mayor Van Alstyne and the other members of the reception committee, the party entered carriages and, preceded by the Third Regiment band, regulars, Spanish War Veterans and members of the G. A. R., moved in procession to Memorial Hall, the dedication of which was the principal feature of the program. From a stand erected in front of the hall Mr. Roosevelt addressed a crowd of 20,000 people and was heartily cheered at the conclusion of his remarks.

Speaker Cannon and Representative Hill joined the Presidential party here, and will remain while Roosevelt is in the state.

Aurora, Ill., June 3.—President Roosevelt spent two hours in Aurora today en route to Bloomington where he is to attend the state encampment of the Spanish War Veterans. The train reached this city promptly at 11 o'clock, there having been but one stop that at Rochelle, between Rochelle and this place. The distinguished visitor found the city in gala mood in his honor and the streets were crowded as seldom before. At a station and all along the route of the procession the president was greeted most enthusiastically. After a brief speech and some hand shaking with friends and acquaintances the party proceeded to the home of Senator Hopkins, where luncheon was served.

Joliet, Ill., June 3.—Hundreds of people from all over this and neighboring counties congregated in Joliet this afternoon to see the president, who pleased them with one of his characteristic short speeches. After a short drive through the city to the president and party boarded the special train, which had been transferred to the Alton tracks, and the journey was resumed.

Bloomington, Ill., June 3.—It will probably prove to be the most notable demonstration by any inland city in honor of President Roosevelt during his present Western tour awaits him in this city when he arrives late this afternoon to attend the third annual encampment of the Spanish-American War Veterans, department of Illinois. The military will be drawn up as an escort when the presidential special arrives. The parade will be a short one. President Roosevelt accompanied by Governor Yates and staff. After reaching the Illinois hotel the escort will be dismissed and the visitor driven to the various points of interest. This evening a banquet will be given, and later the president will deliver an address in the Coliseum. The president will spend the night in Bloomington and review the military parade tomorrow morning.
