SOME TIME SINCE

Englishmen Celebrate the Battle of Shrewsbury

It was Fought 500 Years Ago Between Armies of Henry IV and Hotspur

London, July 18.—Many American tourists are preparing to visit the ancient town of Shrewsbury during the coming week on the occasion of the celebration of the 500th anniversary of its great battle, which occurred on July 21, 1403. The celebration will begin tomorrow with appropriate services in an old Abbey church. The next few days there will be performances of "Richard III.," "Henry IV.," "Henry V.," and "The Merry Wives of Windsor" by Benson's Shakespearean company.

The battle which the celebration is to commemorate is famous as one of the fiercest and most decisive contests ever fought on British soil, as well as by reason of being mentioned frequently by Shakespeare. The struggle was between the forces of Henry IV. and those of Hotspur, the warlike son of the Earl of Northumberland, and its effect was to make the former's position on the English throne—which he had usurped—stronger than it had been up to that time.

IRELAND GETTING READY

For the Reception of King Edward Tuesday

American Flags are Much in Evidence--Dublin Expects Half a Million Visitors

Dublin, July 18.—All Dublin, and in truth, all Ireland, is on the qui vive in anticipation of the king's coming. Visitors are already pouring in, and it is estimated that the normal population of Dublin, about 365,000, will by next Tuesday have swollen to 1,000,000. The star-spangled banner is very prominent among the flags covering the houses along the royal route.

Meanwhile there is much speculation as to the exact nature of the welcome that awaits the royal visitor. There can be no doubt that Edward VII. is personally popular in Ireland. Frank, open hearted, generous and invariably considerate, courteous and kind, he is of the type of man that appeals to the Irish. Whatever be the foundation for the impression, it is generally believed this side of the Irish sea that the king is friendly to Ireland, and that he would not object to a revision of the laws which would give the right to her people to govern themselves.

In other words, he is said to be a home ruler, and when, added to this, it is believed that the land bill now in parliament is largely, if not mainly, his inspiration, and that to him is due the release of P. A. McHugh, M. P. from Sligo prison, there seems to be no doubt that the welcome accorded him will be typical of the warm-hearted hospitality of the Irish people.

But it is as a man and not as a king Edward VII. will be received here. As a man he represents a standard that the Irish people appreciate and admire; as a king he represents the constitution established by the nefarious act of Union, which deprived Ireland of her independence and the right to make her own laws, and lowered her to the position of a mere nonentity in the council of the empire. In these circumstances the Nationalists civic bodies throughout Ireland will, as a rule, hold aloof from the presentation of fawning addresses, or of any address, for that matter.

John Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary party, has counseled the people to receive the king respectfully, but in no instance to compromise the tenets of Nationalism by the presentation of addresses which would be sure to be interpreted in England as proof that the Irish are a contented and happy people. Mr. Redmond's advice to the Nationalist Councils has been accepted as going as far as courtesy demands and honesty permits on the occasion. The chairman of the Irish policy in tendering that advice has invented no new policy. He has merely repeated the suggestions that Mr. Parnell gave the country for its guidance in 1885. No Nationalist council will reject that advice save one that views with secret hostility the revival of the national movement, and desires to wreck the work in which the Irish party is engaged by undermining its authority and influence. The suggestions give full play to the characteristic courtesy of the Irish people toward strangers, warmed as it may be here and there into something more than courtesy among those who believe, on whatever evidence, that the king's personal views are friendly to a conciliation of Irish National sentiment and opinion.

Otto Shultz and G. W. Humphreys, of Jefferson, are in the city. They will participate in Olive lodge installation tonight.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 327 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:
"As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly to learn its contents.
"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health.
"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J. MILLER.

"Builds up the System."

Hon. Joseph H. Ridgeway, Secretary of the American Anti-Treat Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all it claims. I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system.

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgeway.

"Feel Better Than for Five Years."

Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes:
"I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy my Meals as I Used to."

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes:
"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna.

"It has been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.
