

SHERIFF MOVE OVER PRISONERS

Charles Ferrell Formerly of Salem Proves Himself Game

Sheriff Charles P. Ferrell, of Beno, Nev., who figures as the hero in an attempted lynching at that place recently, is a former Salem man, was raised in this city, and still has several brothers residing here.

The Carson City Appeal gives a vivid description of the affair which occurred, as follows:

A negro named Levi Webber broke into the home of J. E. Harper, a traveling man, one night during his absence, and assaulting Mrs. Harper, dragged her from her room to the woodshed, where, placing her upon the chopping block, beat her about the head with an axe. Her three small children gave the alarm, and soon had the neighborhood out searching for the wretch who, in the meantime, had gone out of the city a short way and assaulted another woman and was captured in a clump of willows nearby about 10 o'clock in the morning. When taken into custody by Sheriff Ferrell and locked up in the jail a mob soon gathered, and talk of lynching, or even burning the villain was talked of. Two other murderers were also confined in the jail, and soon the talk was of a triple lynching, and ropes and dynamite were secured for the purpose. Sheriff Ferrell, realizing the danger, quickly smuggled rifles and 500 rounds of ammunition into the jail and determined to make a stand. The crowd seeing his determination cooled down somewhat for a short time, but at the insistence of one man who was particularly violent, they were soon worked to a high pitch again, and it was necessary for the sheriff to place the violent one under arrest.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon a special train was sent for to convey the prisoners to Carson City, and the mob, thinking that they would not be taken until the regular train, were thrown off their guard. A bus was driven up to the jail, but not much attention was paid to it, the mob surmising that it was a ruse, but were undeceived when the prisoners were rushed from the jail and driven furiously about a mile out of town, where the train was waiting, leaving the furious crowd behind.

Admirals in Embryo.
Annapolis, Md., Jan. 30.—This was graduation day at the naval academy, and 107 embryo admirals set forth into the world to serve their country on the seas. The event was made notable by the attendance of President Roosevelt, Secretary Morton and a large party of congressmen and officials of the navy department.

Though made brilliant and impressive by the attendance of so many distinguished visitors, the graduation exercises were marked by extreme simplicity. The exercises were held in the chapel, which was filled with relatives and friends of the young midshipmen. President Roosevelt delivered a brief address, congratulating the midshipmen upon their graduation, and giving them good advice for the future. Secretary Morton then delivered the diplomas amid an enthusiastic demonstration on the part of the students.

The class leader was Midshipman Roy C. Smith, of Michigan, and the second man, Hugo Frankenger, of West Virginia.

A Pleasant Way to Travel.
The above is the usual verdict of the traveler using the Missouri Pacific railway between the Pacific coast and the east, and we believe that the service and accommodations given merit this statement. From Denver, Colorado Springs and Denver there are two through trains daily to Kansas City and St. Louis, carrying Pullman's latest standard electric-lighted sleeping cars, chair cars and up-to-date dining cars. The same excellent service is operated from Kansas City and St. Louis to Memphis, Little Rock and Hot Springs. If you are going east or south, write for particulars and full information.

THE BALANCE OF HEALTH

Is often very much against the wife. Her strength is undermined, she loses flesh and her energy and courage slowly leak away from her. Gradually the comradeship of husband and wife is broken up. At first he takes his solitary pleasures reluctantly, but later he hardly seems to remember the old days over which his wife in her weakness mourns daily.

Women who find their health failing, and womanly ailments fastening on them, should promptly begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It corrects irregularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness for about two years," writes Mrs. Emma Richardson, of Gosc, Wayne Co., Ky. "I could not do my work part of the time. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and felt as well as I ever did. I have also used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for ulceration of the throat with good results and half of one bottle cured my throat when I could scarcely swallow."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, free, on receipt of stamps for mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ENTERTAIN THEIR VICTORS

The Coleman Literary Society and Sorosis Do Honors

In celebration of their victory in the oratorical contest Friday night, the Coleman Literary Society and the Clara Coleman Sorosis met in their new halls Saturday night and tendered their winning orators an ovation.

Speeches, toasts, games and a "spread" constituted a lengthy and inspiring program.

These two societies were but recently organized, and they are naturally very jubilant to think that they took the first two places in their first encounter with their rivals. The next contest between the two societies will be a debate between the Clara Coleman Sorosis and the Philodorian, and between the Coleman and Philodorian.

A Diamond War.
The year 1904 began under very unfavorable conditions. The diamond strike, which began the 17th of February and lasted until June 17th, and caused a scarcity of goods, such as this market had never known, prospective buyers having been turned away empty-handed. It was generally thought that, once the strike was settled, all demands could be met, and conditions in general would right themselves. Such is not the case, however, for the difficulties which manufacturers experience today are greater than before the strike. The independence and scarcity of good workmen have brought about a greater increase of wages already than had been stipulated, and, in addition to this must be added the extra increase, which was allotted to the workmen January 10, 1905. This state of affairs was largely brought about by the extraordinary demand for diamonds, which comes not only from the United States, but from all European countries.

The importers from the United States, as well as those from other countries, must, in their turn adapt themselves to existing conditions, and order their goods ahead on the best terms obtainable, as it is no longer a question of paying an additional per cent, but to get the goods at any cost. The market is very bare of diamonds as a general rule, and they find ready sale long before they are finished.

How the problem will work out in the end can only be guessed now. The ever-growing demand for the raw material, and the fact that the DeBeers Company intends to bring about a consolidation of outside interests in mines like the premier, or at least a regulation of prices to conform with its own, can only have in view a further series of increased prices—the first of which has just been declared. It is an acknowledged fact that the DeBeers diamond mines do not yield the percentage of rough diamonds which they yielded in former years. While the aggregate of their entire output in former years was estimated at $24,332,500, and the output from outside mines at between $7,299,750 and $9,733,000, this year's output, in spite of the increase in price that has taken place during the last 12 months, will barely reach these figures, which in itself shows a decrease of production.

All our diamonds, except a very few, were bought during the fall of 1903, since which time there has been a 30 per cent increase in price, and those having in mind the purchase of a small or large diamond will make money by seeing me before I close out entirely in Salem. I prefer to turn the goods into money, rather than take them East, where there is an ever-ready market for diamonds. In order to move these goods quickly, as well as the other stock, I'll continue to sell them at first cost.

The Diamond Cure.
The latest news from Paris is that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee of Vanleor, Tenn. "I had a cough for 14 years. Nothing helped me until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief and effected a permanent cure." Unequaled quick cure for Throat and Lung Troubles. At J. C. Perry's drug store. Price 50c and $1, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

THE MAN WHO CARES FOR HIS FEET

Does his shoe buying at Vogt's. Broad statement, that; but it has just as good foundation as he will have if we furnish his footwear. This is the reason: We know the shoe trade literally "from the ground up," and we put our knowledge to good use for the benefit of every shoe buyer in Salem. As to shoe values, one single, solitary pair will tell a long tale of merit for the money.

Jacob Vogt.

Men may differ as to the precise nature of the literary media of the revelation, but they are coming together upon the basis of the fact and content of the revelation itself. Christ himself is the great spiritual fact, and say what we like, the literary media through which his personality and message flash is sufficiently trustworthy to convey his image, his ideas, his spirit to the soul of the beholder, as the lens and tube of the telescope make possible the image of the star upon the retina of the observer.—The Watchman.

Faith, hope and charity; without the faith there can neither be the charity nor the hope; without the charity the faith is not living; without the hope the charity is not crowned. The charity proves the faith and creates the hope—the greatest of these is charity. He who loves is therefore most surely a Christian.—Dr. John Watson (Ian MacLaren) in the Congregationalist.

Given the supremacy of the teachings of the Master in every land as the guiding rules in individual, social, commercial and national affairs, and peace follows as naturally as darkness disappears before the rising sun. Fatherhood, brotherhood, love, justice, sympathy, helpfulness—yes, there lies the way to universal peace, prosperity, happiness.—The Universalist Leader.

I believe in Jesus Christ as the supreme revelation of divine and human love, the perfect and eternal ideal and Lord for all who, through Him, learn to love.—Prof. C. P. Foghani, D. D., Union Theological Seminary, in the Independent.

Earnestness and faith, while at the mercy seat, are not enough; they must be supplemented by an honest effort to realize our supplications with the help of God.—D. J. Burrell in the Christian Intelligencer.
