BRAINS VERSUS MUSCLE.

The approaching football season promises to be the most interesting and spectacular in the history of this sport in the Northwest.

To the casual observer, football doubtless presents merely the spectacle of vigorous physical exercise. But a deeper insight will discover the steady development of those other qualities which make the complete man—quick determination, instant obedience, self-reliance, physical bravery.

Those who are disposed to make a scientific study of the game will find that the popularity is not without a reasonable warrant.

THE ALLIGATOR'S JAWS.

They Will Open if You Stick Your Fingers in His Eyes.

"If ever you have the luck to be caught by an alligator put a finger in each eye," says an old Australian hunter. "That will have the effect of making him open his jaws, and then you can make the most of your opportunity. There are several known instances of the escape of natives by that means. Alligators prefer their food high, so the chances are if you are caught you will be deposited on the bottom somewhere. I heard of one native escaping even then. When crossing the rivers the natives carry stout sticks, so if encountered by an alligator they can ward him off by shoving the stick down his throat."

"That alligators have enormous strength I have evidence besides my own experience. At Port Essington a buffalo was drinking in a stream when an alligator nipped it by the head and drowned it. Soon afterward a horse was caught while drinking at the same spot. It dragged the alligator about forty yards before the brute let go. Mr. Robinson anchored the body of a horse a little distance out from a cliff close to his camp. In due time he had his chance and shot a 15-foot alligator."

Unfortunate for Spoonall. "Want to marry my daughter, do you?" said the financial magnate, wheeling around in his chair. "We who said so?" gasped the young man.

Dyspepsia

Don't think you can cure your dyspepsia in any other way than by strengthening and toning your stomach. That is weak and incapable of performing its functions, probably because you have imposed upon it in one way or another over and over again.

You should take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and tones the stomach, and permanently cures dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Accept no substitute.

Ayer's Hair Vigor. Hair turning gray? Why not have all the early, rich color restored? Ayer's Hair Vigor will do this every time. Not a single failure. Stops falling hair also.

"Are you not young Spoonall?" "No, sir; my name's Simpson. I've come to bring back a suit of clothes we ironed for you this morning." "Oh, I see. Put the bundle on that chair. Good afternoon." The magnate looked at his watch and turned to his desk. Presently the door opened again. "Well, what is it now?" he asked. "Do you want the pay for ironing those clothes?" "N-no, sir!" said an embarrassed voice behind him. "I'm Mr. Spoonall. I came here according to appoint—" "Five minutes late, young man. Good afternoon."—Chicago Tribune.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL. Few People Know How Useful It is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities—always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions or odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

X-RAYS

The trouble with that sewer is that it won't hold all the specifications.

Portland day at the fair. If you can't go, buy a ticket, the coin is the great goal.

Goode's address of welcome to himself on Portland day ought to be a lu lu with a chocolate top varnish.

The city council wrestled with a sewer ordinance last night. The sewer was 740 feet long, and the specifications hung over each end of it at least 20 feet.

A man supposed to be crazy went to Sagamore Hill yesterday to get the $48,000 given by the New York Life to the campaign fund. That he thought it would ever show up is evidence of hopeless insanity, and he also wanted to be secretary of agriculture. It might improve the office some to make the change.

ADVERTISE

$291,084.99

In a recent number of McClure's Magazine is a story in which the facts relating to the profits of a baking powder were brought out through litigation in the courts. It was shown that the company manufacturing the powder was capitalized at $160,000. The profits amounted to $17,647 in 1876, and they continued to grow until they reached the enormous aggregate in 1887 of $725,102, the income that year being four times the amount of the capital invested. The profits since 1887 have steadily increased, but the feature of particular interest in this connection is that the company spent $17,000 for advertising in 1876 and $201,084 in 1887.

The baking powder may or may not have been superior to others put on the market, but the business was made to pay the immense returns noted through liberal and judicious advertising. Another feature in this matter is that the company has advertised almost exclusively in the newspapers.

The men behind that baking powder realized the value of the newspaper press in reaching the public, and to it they owe the marvelous results—Newspaperdom.

If you want to increase your profits, advertise in this paper. No better medium to reach the buyers of this community.
