Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

Mrs. Chester Curry

Mrs. Chas. F. Brown

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly. The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the ovaries, and especially between the shoulders; bearing down pains; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is so monumental for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women testify to this fact.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

It is semi-officially announced that the Southern Indiana road will be completed into Chicago by January 1. It then will be an active competitor in the coal-carrying trade to the Chicago market of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois and the Big Four, as well as all the roads which participate, although to a less extent, in this line of traffic.

It is stated on good authority that the Texas-St. Louis line of the Frisco is to be extended south from Paris, Texas, to Mexico, a distance of 175 miles. At Mexico the line will connect with the Trinity and Brazos Valley, which is owned by the Yoakum-Hawley syndicate, and is now being extended south to Galveston and Houston.

Plans are being discussed for building a line of railroad from Basin, a point about forty miles south of Helena, Mont., to Kalspell, in the northern portion of the same state. The new road is to be about 290 miles in length and will open up a valuable timber and mineral section.

No Piano Complete Without the Pianola

Instead of having an instrument in the home which only a musician can play, why not have every member of the family making music, even the little tot who cannot talk plain.

Every class of music is available to the possessor of the pianola, sacred music, classic compositions, operas, dance music, popular airs, you may become familiar with them all, and play them as well as any musician, even if you do not know a note of music. The Metrostyle, which is now a feature of all pianolas, indicates for you every shade of expression. All you have to do is to follow with the pointer the red line marked upon the music roll.

Prices of Metrostyle Pianolas $250 and $300. Purchase may be made by moderate monthly installments. Sold in the Northwest only by Eilers Piano House

GRAFT AT THE FAIR

Charges Made That Officials Have Been "Working" Exhibitors

Portland, Sept. 25.—The "passing the hat" incident when exhibitors at the Lewis and Clark fair were called together by Col. Doseh, director of exhibits, and asked to contribute toward the fund for the benefit of his assistant, H. E. Hardt, has led to sensational charges of graft being fled against Mr. Hardt with the state commission by an exhibitor.

The charges are contained in an affidavit submitted to President Meyers, which relates the manner in which the exhibitors have been forced into paying large sums for favors in the way of exhibit space. It also tells of a proposition Mr. Hardt is said to have made for the purpose of wringing money from the exhibitors who failed to receive awards at the hands of the jury.

The affidavit begins with a statement in which the affiant asserts that he received a letter from Hardt making a proposition to him to join him in St. Louis, and together secure a number of exhibit places for reassignment at the St. Louis exposition, the proposition being to secure the stalls in advance and then sell them to genuine exhibitors who wish desirable locations. As he did not enter into the scheme with Hardt, the matter was dropped.

On May 15, 1905, Hardt came to the affiant and got him to show space to an exhibitor which Hardt said was already disposed of, but which the party holding would dispose of for $50. Another space was also shown which could be had for $100. The latter space was taken, but Hardt refused a check in payment, demanding the money in cash. Hardt sometime afterwards told the affiant the $100 received was the first money that he Hardt, had made out of the exposition.

On July 30th, Hardt requested the affiant to act as attorney for exhibitors telling him that in all probability a number of exhibitors would be dissatisfied with the award which they might receive, and that a letter could be fixed up stating; in effect, that for a retaining fee of $50 the affiant would bring the matter before the superior jury of awards, and get the recognition which they were justly entitled to receive.

Other exhibitors charge that Mr. Hardt forced them to pay $2.50 per foot in addition to the 70 cents they were charged by the exposition for the construction of facades.
