ROCKY COMING HOME

Broken in Health, But Swollen in Wealth, But Whats the Use

New York, July 27.—The steamer Amerika is gradually nearing New York. Rockefeller, according to the wireless, grows plainly peevish. He has given up shuffleboard, and abandoned the companionship of his fellow passengers. The stewards say his appetite is poor. The voyage continues stormy. He been greatly annoyed by a cartoon in the ship's paper.

Army Movements in the West.

Kansas Falls, Kas., July 27.—After long and weary marches, in some cases of 250 miles, the troops of this department are concentrated in this vicinity, and for miles the tents of the various arms of field service extend along the camp grounds selected. The troops will start tomorrow for the department camp, where they will remain for about one month.

Austin, Tex., July 27.—

By this evening the militia and regular troops of this department will all be in the big camp established near this city. The troops will remain in camp until September 30th, and will go through extensive manoeuvres, drills and field exercises. A canteen has been established in the camp, but as the manoeuvre and camping grounds are under state jurisdiction, the federal authorities will not raise any objections. Many of the troops have marched long distances before they reached this city, in some instances the distance covered was more than 200 miles.

Northwestern Rowing Regatta.

Nelson, B. C., July 27.—The great rowing regatta of the Pacific Northwest Association of Amateur Oarsmen began here this forenoon, and will be finished tomorrow. The number of entries is unusually large and crack crews from Portland, Vancouver, Victoria and Nelson will compete for the Northwest championship. The races today began this forenoon, so as to enable the spectators to attend the race meet of the Riverside Driving Association this afternoon. The course of the rowing regatta is a mile and a half straightaway, from the upper end of Ross Island north to Madison bridge, where the finish line is. R. C. Hart and R. W. Wilbur are the judges. WONDER HOW OLD SHE WAS

Wants big Shoes, and a Lack of "Ladigo" Straps On Her Apparaho

Madison, Wis., July 27.—In a lecture at the State University today Miss Abby Mahew, dean of the women at the school, condemned the peek-a-boo waltz, tight lacing and petticoats. She spoke in favor of large shoes, low neck dresses and round garters, and said that in time, if the women want freedom, they would wear gymnasium-like costumes.

Senator Hipp's Slayer Hanged.

Montgomery, Ala., July 27.—John Williams of Cullman county, the murderer of State Senator Robert Hipp was executed by hanging today. The crime for which Williams paid the death penalty was the shooting of State Senator Hipp when the latter, accompanied by officers of the law, attempted to enforce a writ depriving Williams of his farm in Cullman county. Angered by the orders of the officers, Williams entered the bedroom of his house, picked up a rifle and opened fire. He wounded one of the officers accompanying Mr. Hipp, seriously, while another shot took effect in the back of the head of the Senator, as the latter was leaving the house.

'Frisco Wants Men.

San Francisco, July 27.—Scarcity of labor has reached an acute stage. Appeals are being sent out for skilled hands in all the building trades, and the coast is being scoured for unskilled laborers, who are offered $2.75 per day. But few workmen are coming in, and if the condition continues the city will be unable to erect dwellings for the hundreds of homeless now finding shelter in tents or tin and wooden shacks before the rains set in, two months hence.

Nevada Miners Next.

Tonopah, Nev., July 27.—The chances are strong that the miners will ballot this afternoon against the strike. The operators concede eight hours to ore sorters, engineers and firemen, but insist on nine hours for blacksmiths, machinists and carpenters, who are granted extra pay. The union, however, favors a rejection of this proposition and a strike.

After a Murderer.

Chicago, July 27.—Detective Shoo han, who went to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., after a man taken on suspicion of being Constantine, the slayer of Louis Gentry, wires that the prisoner is three inches shorter than the man believed to be the murderer. Flag Raising Day Celebrations.

San Diego, Cal., July 27.—

sixtieth anniversary of the raising of the United States flag in this city celebrated today by the entire population with great enthusiasm. In honor of the occasion the old Stockton was restored as near possible to its original appearance and there the exercises will be held this afternoon. The mayor of the city and a number of other prominent speakers will deliver patriotic addresses and veterans of the Civil War and other patriotic organizations will be present in full force. It is the intention to create the grounds of the old fort into a public park and to beautify it in an appropriate manner. A monument will probably be erected on the grounds in the near future.
