RY TO DISSOLVE STANDARD

Government Brings Suit to put the Company Entirely Out of Business

Louis, Nov. 15.—The government today began the battle against Standard for which it has been marshaling its forces. It filed suits in the United States circuit court in this city by direction of Attorney-General Moody to have the trust dissolved. In support of the plea the government presented an array of violations of the man anti-trust law, including conspiracy, coercion, intimidation, and other vicious acts and practices. It is the intention of the government to make this the crowning achievement of the administration's "trust-busting" accomplishments. John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry M. Flagler, John Archibald, Oliver H. Payne and Charles M. Pratt, were made parties defendant. It is expected criminal prosecution will follow today's action. The bill filed today reviews the history of the Standard from 1870 to the present time. From that time, according to the bill, when it was a simple conspiracy to the formation as "a holding" company, under the laws of New Jersey, with a capital of over $150,000,000, controlling more than 90 per cent of the oil business in all its branches, including export, of the United States. It alleges violation of the laws since August of this year. It declares contracts were procured through threats, and independent dealers eliminated by force of its giant strength. It specifies that the designs of the Rockefellers, Rogers and others named, since 1870, has been to suppress competition and obtain a monopoly of oil production, transportation and the control of all branches, refining by-products, etc. It says the individual defendants during the seven years following 1892, when the supreme court of Ohio declared its operations illegal, and they pretended to liquidate the trust, but, as a matter of fact, continued to manage all the corporations, and exercise control over them.

Findlay, O., Nov. 15.—Prosecutor David this morning said: "If Rockefeller and the other defendants indicted yesterday fled to prevent arrest, then an effort will be made to locate and extradite them the same as any other fugitives charged with crime. Men seldom run away without reason."

Findlay, O., Nov. 15.—Prosecutor David this morning rejected the overtures of the Standard attorneys to permit their directors who are indicted to plead by their proxies. David said, "they must learn to re-

NORTHWEST TIGHTLY BOTTLED

Seattle and Sound Points Isolated and the Waters Prevail Everywhere

Portland, Or., Nov. 15.—The storm rages in the Northwest, and this morning nearly all the rivers in Washington, Oregon and Idaho are out of their banks. Many additional bridges have been carried away, and numerous new slides on the railroad are reported. All the low lands are now submerged, and people continue to flee. The loss of three lives is confirmed. The Clearwater and Snake rivers, in Idaho, are raging torrents, and much damage has been done. Last night the worst storm of the year visited Portland. Rain fell in torrents and the wind blew a gale. The Willamette river is rising rapidly, coming up over three feet in the past 24 hours. The Columbia is rising rapidly. The Cowlitz river is the highest in history. The drawbridge between Kelso and Cathlamet, Washington, went out this morning. The Northern Pacific Tule river bridge went out also. Loggers' losses exceed $100,000 from the booms of the Cowlitz river, which were carried out. All rivers to Seattle and Tacoma are down.

Work of the Storm.

Portland, Nov. 15.—Seattle is cut off from railroad communication with the outside world.

Avalanche of mud prevents Great Northern running trains.

More than a dozen small towns in the White, Stuck and Green river valleys are flooded.

Steel bridges on the Northern Pacific are carried out over the Green and Stuck rivers.

The town of Kent is the center of the White river, now two miles wide.

Immense damage has been done to crops, and farmers are driven from their homes.

Interurban electric line track between Seattle and Tacoma is flooded.

Loss to farmers is put at $250,000; Northern Pacific, $250,000; county, $100,000; electric roads, $75,000.

Puyallup streets are flooded and residents along the river banks leave their homes.

A heavy rain is still falling. Lewiston and Grangerville, Idaho, are in darkness.

The Clearwater river, at Lewiston, is carrying down great quantities of timber and shingle bolts; falsework on O. R. & N. bridge under construction is carried away.

The Yakima and Natchez out of banks and doing great damage.

Portland, Nov. 15.—Swollen by the continued heavy rains and the melting snows, the Willamette rose two inches in an hour yesterday, and continued to come up last night. Yesterday the river rose 2.4 feet at Portland, and it is expected that the stream will cover the lower docks along the water front before the flood subsides.

All the tributaries of the river are pouring in freshets which are causing flood conditions in the lower river. At all points above Portland, the river continues to rise rapidly. The danger point at Portland is considered 15 feet. It now stands at a fraction over 19 feet.

Last night's storm was the worst of the winter in Portland. The rain fell in a heavy downpour that was accompanied by a strong wind. The streets were running with water. Similar conditions reported up the valley indicate that last night's rainfall will materially add to the height of the river.

Floods in the river at Portland at this time of year are attended with much more danger to shipping and property along the water front than during the spring freshets, when back water from the Columbia prevents a swift current here.

Portland, Nov. 15.—The Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company has announced that it is forced by floods in Eastern Oregon to abandon all train service out of Portland.

Slide at Bonneville.

Portland, Nov. 15.—For the first time in the history of the railroads entering this city every main line is cut. The city is practically isolated. The only trains entering are from California. The party, on a special train, started for Panama, going slowly to view the canal. The main streets and shipping of Colon were decorated.
