Clergyman on the Stage.

The versatility of Creston Clarke has often been commented upon. In his stage career, which, although he is still a young man, has extended over a long period of years, Mr. Clarke has played more than three hundred different parts. Probably in no other two of all these is there such a dissimilarity as in the roles of the gay, young, frivolous "Monsieur Beaucaire" of last season and the grave, serious John Morton, the clergyman, in "The Ragged Messenger" of this season. In dress, in speech and in manner, these two roles are widely different. As "Monsieur Beaucaire," Mr. Clarke wore the picturesque costume of a French prince of two centuries ago—powdered hair, patches, lace, silk hose, silver buckles, and all the other habiliments of the dandy of that period. He then spoke with a broken accent, never once forgetting his delightful simulation of the French tongue. As John Morton, he is clothed in the sombre garb of a clergyman of the present day. He now delivers his lines in the purest English, with a clearness of enunciation that one who had heard him only as "Monsieur Beaucaire" would deem him capable of. Where last season he was volatile, bold and Quixotic, ever ready to dance, to fight, or to love, he is this season earnest, timid, unromantic. Only through his art can Creston Clarke as the Rev. John Morton of this season be recognized as "Monsieur Beaucaire" of last. The same rare gifts by which results were then obtained without straining for them are again manifest. A shrug of the shoulder, an arch of the brow, a whisper; each does its work effectively; often dramatically. For the entertainment and instruction as well as the good judgment and repute of local theatre-goers, it is to be hoped that a goodly attendance welcomes this accomplished actor to the Grand Opera House this evening when he presents "The Ragged Messenger."

Handsome Home of Salem Elks.

(From Portland Public Service.)
The new building erected by the Salem lodge of Elks in the Capital City, is one of which they may well be proud. The new structure cost more than $20,000, and is remarkable by reason of the completeness of its equipment for the dual purpose of a club house and of a lodge. The Salem lodge has a membership of about 400, composed principally of the representative business and professional men of the city. Its officers are as follows:
Chas. L. McNary, exalted ruler; Harry E. Albert, esteemed leading knight; B. O. Schucking, esteemed loyal knight; James Ramey, esteemed lecturing knight; Dr. H. H. Olinger, esquire; John Maurer, inner guard; A. Cornoyer, tyler; W. A. Irvin, chaplin; Arthur F. Benson, secretary; Ed. F. Baker, treasurer; D. F. Meredith, George E. Waters, Henry W. Meyers, trustees.
The entire first floor and basement have been leased to the Illihee Club, many members of which are also members of the lodge.
The complete electric equipment of the building was furnished and installed by the Salem branch of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company.

MILLS THURSDAY NIGHT

Walter Thomas Mills, A. M., will address the people of Salem at the Grand Opera House Thursday evening, March 14th, on the subject of "Economic Evolution." It will be remembered that Mr. Mills spoke in Salem about a month ago to a large and enthusiastic audience.
Mr. Mills does not talk at random. He presents his subject in a logical and forceful manner that is easy to understand.
Walter Mills was a farmer boy, born in a log cabin. He worked his way through college, and today has the degree of Master of Arts from both Oberlin college and Wooster University. He has been a lecturer and teacher all his life. He has spoken in 315 American colleges, and now has more dates for speaking than he can fill.
There will be an admission of 25 cents charged.

Appointments by Governor.

Governor Chamberlain has made the following appointments.
State Board of Health appointed are Dr. A. C. Smith, Portland; Dr. Alfred C. Kinney, Astoria, and Dr. C. J. Smith, Pendleton. Dr. A. C. Smith is a Republican, the other two are Democrats.
The governor appointed the following members of the State Fair Board: W. H. Downing, Shaw, Marion county, and W. A. Howe, Carlton, Yamhill county. Howe is a Republican.
State Board of Sheep Commissioners: W. H. Steusloff, Salem, for the first district; Thomas Boylan, Antelope, second district, and Dan P. Smythe, Pendleton, third district. The terms of office are one, two and three years, respectively.
Smythe was appointed to the long term, Steusloff two years, and Boylan one year. Each commissioner is allowed $1500 per annum for traveling expenses, but draws no salary. A president and secretary are to be elected, the secretary to receive $600 per year.
The legislature appropriated $12,000 to carry out the provisions of this law, which goes into effect at once.

Burglars Enter Store.

Burglars entered the J. N. Shantz's second-hand store on Court street some time Monday night, through a rear window, and succeeded in escaping with four watches and two revolvers.
The theft was not discovered until yesterday. The police were immediately notified, and are making every effort to locate the guilty parties, but as yet no clue has been obtained that would lead to their detection.

They Know It.

Thousands of people throughout the country know that the ordinary remedies for Piles—ointment, suppositories and local appliances—will not cure.
The best of them only bring passing relief.
Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally that removes the cause of Piles, hence the cure is permanent. Every package sold carries a guarantee with it.
It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate constitution. Sold at $1.00. Dr. Leonhardt Co., Niagara Falls, N. Y., Proprietors. Sold by S. C. Stone, Salem.

'Frisco Will Conform.

San Francisco, March 13.—A resolution in conformity with the agreement entered into between Roosevelt and the San Francisco board of education on the question of admitting Japanese children to the white schools was drawn up by the board this afternoon, and will be adopted at a meeting held this afternoon, according to present plans. This will close the incident over the exclusion of the Japanese from the public schools.

Support Good Plays.

Manager Meredith, of the Grand Opera House, says it is discouraging to bring the better class of plays on the larger theatre circuits to Salem, and have them so poorly supported. He says the outlook for a good sale of seats for the "Ragged Messenger" tonight is not what it should be, and that, while Salem people will clamor for the best plays on the road, they will not give them the support that they are entitled to when they come. Mr. Meredith has given this city a very superior class of plays this season, and there is truth in what he says. A new production by one of the most eminent of American actors is entitled to a full house.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

THE STOMACH.

agree with me. They heard people and tell me that for years they had been in the grave with Bright's disease, or trouble, or kidney complaint and other troubles he's liable to believe of things are the matter with him. were mistaken, it was nothing but stomachs. As a matter of fact when stomach gives out most everything is thrown out of order too.
When a person feels tired and despondent, is losing flesh and sleep well, has a poor memory, a taste in the mouth, a coated tongue, other troubles he's liable to believe of things are the matter with him. chances to one it's his stomach. seen Cooper's New Discovery brought health to too many people in the shape to believe anything else. This letter about it:
"I suffered for a long time not knowing just what was the matter with me. I seldom felt like eating. I was greatly in weight. My digestion was extremely poor and when I did eat I invariably suffered afterward. I was racking and frequently suffered from racking, violent headaches. What was of what the Cooper remedies was for others I resolved to try them."
"Relief came with the first bottle. My appetite and digestion improved. I am no longer constipated nor do I have those dreadful headaches. I am gaining and am gaining flesh." C. H. Powell, Harrison Addition, Duluth, Minn.
